Tells of Formesan Harbor. LONDON, April 14 .- A British naval officer who knows the China sea well says that Makung harbor, in Pescadore islands, between Formosa and the Chinese mainland, which the Japanese have chosen as one of their naval bases for operation against the Russian squadren commanded by Admiral Rojestvensky, is an ideal base for torpedo operation. The harbor has been located in the southwest part of the largest of the Pescadores and has a safe anchorage which runs back three miles, so that it is quite sheltered even from typhoons. He thinks that the fact that the Japanese have now revealed this position indicates that they are satisfied that there is no longer any possibility to Rojestvensky hearing of ance of a person who was in conference it before he arrives in the straits of For- with District Attorney Morrison, resulted mosa, the southern entrance of which he must now be nearing.

Promises Reforms to Workingmen. In receiving a delegation of workmen from Moscow today, Finance Minister Ko kovsoff gave notice to the workmen of Russia, that a government commission is now formulating legislation to remedy greater part of their grievances, including state insurance against sickness, accident and age, and for shortening the hours of labor, abolishing the prohibition of unions and criminal punishment for strikes, and for the establishment of an industrial court in which employers and employed shall be represented. The minister pointed out to the delegation the impossibility of elaborating in a moment reforms of such weighty and far-reaching character. He declared that the energy with which the commis aion is working gave it the right to demand sufficient time for the preparation and consideration of proposed laws and said that industrial disturbances such as

There he received a delegation from the Chamber of Comnerce at Denver and accepted an invitation to visit that city on returning from his hunt. An hour was spent in making preparations for his departure for Glenwood Springs, and then the president returned to his special train. Promptly at 9:30 the train pulled out of the station, the president standing bareheaded on the rear platform, waving his handkerchief to the crowd. > BOSTON, April 14.-The gift of $100,000 to the American Board of Commissioners for foreign missions from John D. Rockefeller solicited by representatives of the prudential committee, according to a statement sent to the press from the headquarters of the board. This is entirely a different version of the matter than that given in an interview with Secretary James L. Barton on March 2 and made public brough the board.

In the earlier statement Dr. Barton is made to say that the gift was voluntary and unsolicited. The statement sent by the board to the Associated Press tonight says Secretary James L. Barton, D. D., sent to the corporate members of the American board today a complete statement with the correspondence showing the steps which led to the gift from Mr. Rockefeller of $100,000.

"This statement." the secretary says, "is made in the interest of an accurate understanding and to correct a faise impression created in some quarters by a brief published interview with himself, referring to the beginning of negotiations, which was reached some two weeks ago and had been widely misquoted."

The conference with Mr. Polytonia

The conference with Mr. Rockefeller, ir. and the meeting of the secretaries at Mt. Clair, N. J., are described as in the earlier Announcement, the statement concluding:

More than a year later, in December of last year. Secretary Barton wrote Mr. Gates (Mr. Rockefeller's private secretary) in regard to the educational institutions of the board, sending him a new booklet upon this work just issued, and asking if there would be an opportunity of bringing these institutions to the attention of John D. Rockefeller with a view to securing funds for their endowment in whole or in part. Mr. Gates at once replied that Mr. Rockefeller had declined hitherto to endow institutions in foreign countries, but had sometimes made gifts for the erection of necessary buildings and current expenses.

Secretary Barton presented later in December a statement of special pressing needs then existing, calling for $163,000. A conference was called by Mr. Gates upon the subject of this letter. For six of the ten objects presented, Mr. Rockefeller promised, through his agent, Mr. Gates, to give $100,000. This letter announcing the gift was received February 13, 1906, and was presented to the prudential committee at its regular meeting the next day, when the gift was accepted.

Secretary Barton says: announcement, the statement concluding:

Secretary Barton says; I never had any question whatever regarding the propriety and even duty of soliciting help for the needy institutions and work of the board from Mr. Rockefelier as from other people of means who are members in good and regular standing of Christian churches. * * In soliciting and accepting this gift neither the prudential committee, the officers and members of the American board nor the pastors and members of our congregational church ners of the American board, nor the pastors and members of our congregational church assumed may ob gation whatever to advocate the course of or defend any individual corporation, nor is any one by this gift to be restrained from absolute freedom of speech according to the dictates of his untrammeled conscience.

Employers Insist that Teamsters Return to Work Before Garment Workers' Case is Con-

CHICAGO, April 14.-After a day and a large part of the night spent in conferences with both sides in the Montgomery Ward & Co. strike, Mayor Dunne late tonight announced that he had made no progress toward a settlement of the trouble, and he did not seem hopeful that an adjustment will come in the near future. Further conferences will be held tomorrow, but it is not thought tonight by either the employers or the strikers that any arrangement will be reached. Point in Dispute.

The great obstacle to the settlement is that the teamsters insist that the strike of the garment workers, now four months old, be arbitrated before the teamsters return to work, and the employers insist that the teamsters return to work before anything is done concerning the garment workers.

Mayor Dunne endeavored tonight to bring about a joint conference, but neither side would consent to meet the other. The firm of Montgomery Ward & Co. succeeded in sending more goods to the freight depots today than at any time since the commencement of the strike. All of the wagons were under police protection, but there was less violence than on any of the Investigating Bribery Story.

Mayor Dunns declined tonight to discuss the charges brought to his attention that a bribe had been offered for the settlement of the strike

"My informant is well intentioned," he said, "but does not know whether his information is well founded. I cannot give the details of the charges until I have investigated the matter and have found it based upon fact. A man's character can not be assailed upon mere information. Attorneys for Playwright Will Examine Certain Items in Books of Klaw & Erlanger.

NEW YORK, April 14.-The suit of David Belasco, the playwright, against Klaw & Tuesday at the age of 75 years. The funeral was under the auspices of the Grand Army week past in the supreme court, and which of the Republic. has had many sensational features, assumed a new phase today. Up to this time the only record which had made its appearance in the case was a contract between Klaw & Erlanger and several others concerning the control of many theaters throughout the United States, Today, how ever, Samuel Untermeyer, counsel for Beasco, asked that the Gerendants produce their books to show exactly what dealings the copartnership had had with Belasco and others who had been mentioned during the progress of the trial.

"If the court will permit me," said Lawer Untermeyer in making the request, "I will show that Klaw & Erlanger have the most remarkable set of books which ever has been produced here."

He claimed that changes have been made in the books since the Belasco litigation began. This request met with the strongest opposition from the defendants and the session resolved itself practically into a legal battle between Untermeyer and Klaw & Erlanger's counsel. At times the exchanges between the attorneys became so sharp that the court was compelled to rap repeatedly for order. The trouble began during the examination of Meyer W. Livingston, auditor for Klaw & Erlanger. He had produced copies of ertain statements covering certain dealings between his firm and Belasco. In the cross-examination Mr. Untermeyer drew an admission from the witness that some of the copies were not complete and he then asked leave to examine the books from which the copies were made. He said he wanted to show that Klaw & Erlanger were paid about $13,000 by Belasco from the profits of the Warfield venture during the months of March, April and May, 1902. said he could show by the books that the noncy was paid direct to Klaw & Eranger and not to Brooks. The statements were ruled out by the court upon Mr. Un! ermeyer's objection and counsel for the plaintiff was given permission to look at certain items in the books.
