ADVANCE IN PRICE OF MEAT

Local Dealers Follow Others in Pushing Up the Prices.

DUE TO CONDITIONS OF THE MARKET

Retailers Explain that Increase in Meat is Result of Effect of Season on the Packing Business.

Omaha is not a bit behind the other cities in getting its advance in meat, but the beefing of the average citizen has not grown so loud as to reach the ears of the trust. The price of beef carcasses to the retail butchers is now from 2 to 3 1/2 cents a pound, which means an advance of about 3 cents since last summer. June 30 last carcasses went to the retailer at from 5 1/2 to 6 cents for grass cattle, with corned steers at a slightly higher figure. The greater part of this advance has come within the last three weeks. Last Monday an advance of 2 cents a pound was made in pork.

Insular as the beef is concerned the retailers are inclined to admit that the advance is almost legitimate. This is the time of the year when cattle are rather scarce, as a rule. The corned cattle have been worked off and are not coming in enough quantity to supply the market. The grassfed animal is not yet on deck, as the grass is not yet very nutritious, so that just at this time the beef market annually meets a smaller or greater advance. The price will continue as it is through the spring, but when the grass cattle begin to come in liberally, the market, so the retailers believe, will drop back to almost the figure of last summer. The advance in pork is made arbitrarily by the packing houses. When the beef is higher from natural causes, the pork is in greater demand and can be sold at an advance.

Retailer Loses Money.
"This is the time of the year when the retail meat man expects to make nothing more than running expenses," said William Faber of the J. Lesser market in Bennett's. "The price of meat being higher, the public does not eat so much, and there is also less profit on that which is sold. The meat man makes his fortune during the summer and fall. Part of the beef we sell now is at an actual loss, which we make up on other cuts. The present advance particularly affects the porterhouse steaks and rib roasts. The porterhouse now sells for 22 cents, while it was about 18 cents last summer. The rib roasts run now from 11 1/2 cents a pound to 17 cents, against 12 1/2 cents to 15 cents last summer. The sirloin and round steaks now go at 12 1/2 cents a pound, which is not an advance. The shoulder steak retails in Omaha markets at 9 cents, the chuck roast at from 8 to 9 cents. When the whole beef costs the markets between 7 and 8 1/2 cents, you can see there is no profit in the chuck roasts and the bolting pieces, and that sort of meat goes at below actual cost."

Mr. Ware's promotion comes in the line of civil service and is a recognition of his long and valuable service during his incumbency as assistant to Mr. Deuel.

GOOD THING FOR LAWYERS

Omaha Litigation Affords Fat Fees for Unofficial Attorneys.

FIVE YEARS' RECORD OF SPECIAL COUNSEL

City Council and School Board Employ Attorneys to Look After Suits and Allow Large Sums for Legal Departments.

Members of the water board decline absolutely to tell how much is to be paid Attorneys John L. Webster and Carl C. Wright for their work in connection with the case against the board wherein the water company seeks to enjoin the reduction of rates. They give it out cold that it makes no difference to them if it is the people's money they are spending, they don't propose to let the people know what the bill is until it comes in and is paid. Member Congdon, who arranged for the special counsel, says he thinks it is his duty to tell the board first what the lawyers are to cost, and rather than strain a point of ethics will not mention the figure in advance of his official communication.
Inquiry develops the fact that in the last five years the city and school district have paid out $5,100 for fees for special attorneys, although each is equipped with a regularly retained attorney, who, in the case of the city, has several assistants. The school board's expenditures in this respect in the time mentioned are $1,100. The sum of $300 went to Duffie, Gaines & Kelly in 1903 for investigation of alleged hooding by members; $300 to Wright & Stout for the same purpose; $200 to John P. Breen for defending the McDonald damage suit, in which a verdict for about $12,000 against the district resulted, and $150 to Elmer E. Thomas for work on another McDonald suit, which was compromised.

What the City Has Paid.
The city contracted with Attorneys Breen and Howard Budge in 1903 to defend the railway taxation cases for $5,000, with a large contingent fee if the cases were won. The cases have not yet been tried. In 1904 $1,000 was paid to Mr. Breen and $1,000 to Mr. Budge, leaving $3,000 unpaid. As Mr. Breen is now city attorney at $2,500 a year it is doubtful if he can collect the remaining half. If either attorney attempts to do so resistance is promised from taxpayers. Woolworth & McHugh will receive $1,000 for their services in the case of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company against W. J. Connell, which involved the city tax department to the amount of about $20,000. As Mr. Connell was city attorney when the case was first heard it was thought proper to have the city's interests looked after by other lawyers. The assistant city attorney employed Woolworth & McHugh. The claim has not been paid, but has been favorably passed upon by the council. Last year $1,000 was paid to the estate of the late W. G. Ives for expert accounting and other services performed in connection with the Bohn case. Incidentally, the city legal department costs about $14,000 a year. That of the school district comes only to $500 a year.

DOG CATCHERS START SATURDAY

The city dog catchers will start business for the season Saturday and they prey will include about 1,000 of the annually tagged and licensed dogs. Only about an equal number of licenses have been procured from the city clerk's office. A rush is expected Saturday. The impounded dogs this year will have a back yard to play in, owing to the efforts of Alfred Millard of the Humane society.

Connell Ready to Start Again.

Attorney W. J. Connell, chief counsel for former Mayor Bemis, says that the case will go to trial again early in May term of the district court. "So far as I am concerned," said Mr. Connell, "I am quite ready to start right in with the new trial at once, but we cannot hope to do that before the May term."

DRIFUSS ROBBERS IN DENVER

Men Who Held Up Farnam Street Grocer Believed to Be in Custody.

Judging from a letter received by Chief of Police Donahue from Chief Delaney of Denver, the two men who held up Julius Drifuss on the night of March 15 in his store at 200 Farnam street are in custody in the Colorado capital. Chief Delaney says he believes that Charles Smith, also known as "Riney" and "Ray," and a partner are the men who did the job. Smith is under arrest on two charges of highway robbery and his partner, whose name the LETTER DOES NOT GIVE, HAS BEEN SENTENCED TO SERVE TEN YEARS IN THE COLORADO PENITENTIARY FOR HOLDUPS COMMITTED LATELY IN DENVER.

It is also probable that Smith is one of the men who held up Mr. Drifuss. Chief Delaney forwarded a photograph of him to the police department here and Mr. Drifuss has identified it as the picture of the man who pushed the revolver in his face. At the time of Smith's arrest he had in his pocket a clipping from an Omaha paper describing in detail the robbery of the Drifuss store. It is said that he has admitted that he was in Omaha on the date of the crime. He probably will not be brought back, as Chief Delaney says he has two counts against him and is certain of conviction in both cases. Smith was arrested in Kansas City and the Omaha detectives were on the point of going after him, but the Denver authorities anticipated their action and got to Kansas City first.

KIABUNDE FOUND GUILTY.

August Klabunde was found guilty by a jury in Judge Day's court of having stolen eight cows, of the value of $150, from the pasture of a farm owned by Colonel James H. Pratt. The verdict of guilty leaves Mr. Klabunde liable to a sentence of from one to ten years in the penitentiary. Defendant has heretofore served a term for the same offense and for stealing cattle from the same man.
