HALF OF PUPILS SENT HOME

Vaccination Order Catches Large Percentage Unprepared.

MANY OF THEM VACCINATED YESTERDAY

Will Be Allowed to Return to School on Presentation of Proper Certificate from Physician to that Effect.

As the result of putting into effect the order of the Board of Education relative to vaccination, Superintendent Clifford last night estimated that about one-half of the children attending public schools were sent home yesterday morning. Mr. Clifford, not having given any instruction to the principals of the several schools to report the number sent home, was unable to give any definite figures last evening.

Many of the pupils who were sent home were those whose certificates were improperly made out and in a number of cases these were rectified and the children returned during the morning. But few complaints, it is said, were received from parents and Mr. Clifford is of the opinion that with but a few exceptions the order of the Board of Health will be complied with before the end of the week. City Physician Tinley and other physicians were kept busy yesterday vaccinating children. While the schools will be somewhat disorganized this week, Superintendent Clifford expressed the opinion that everything will be in regular working order again next week

At the high school 166 pupils were ordered home, but these included quite a number whose certificates were improperly made out. A crowd of the high school students, after being ordered home, left carrying an old broom. The crowd boarded a car for Omaha with the avowed intention of visiting the high school there. Principal Ensign, it is said, sent word by telephone to Principal Waterhouse of the Omaha High school not to admit them.

Owing to the fact that the schools closed yesterdsy noon out of respect to Miss Van Order, the former high school teacher who died Saturday, many pupils, it is said, VARIGOCELE and HYDROGELE played "hookey" and did not put in an appearance at all, or else went out with those sent home for nonvaccination. As there seemed to be some misunderstanding in the matter, Mayor Macrae, president of the Board of Health, stated that any pupil could at once return to school on being vaccinated and bearing a slip from the physician to this effect. Several hundred children were vaccinated esterday and more, it is said, will be today. One physician reported last night that he had vaccinated over sixty children yesterday.

John N. Baldwin Concludes Case for Doyle.

Congressman Smith finished the closing Burns suit yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, when court adjourned for the day. He will be followed this morning by Mr. $2,000. Baldwin, who will make the closing argument for the plaintiff, and who is expected to talk the best part of two days. insisted that Doyle's suit against Burns noted by hatred and the home of both parties to it, he said that records. Doyle must have thought that his wit-Portland company sued certain directors winter. because they had sold claims to the company in excess of their value, was directed against Stratton, and contended that when this demand was made by Doyle it was directed against Burns, but now Dovle. realizing that it would appear ludicrous to a jury that he should be complaining because too much had been received for claims which he now asserted he had a large interest in, it became necessary for Doyle in his testimony in the present suit to assert that the resolution was directed against Stratton and not against Burns. Why, if directed against Stratton, was Stratton placed on the committee that was instructed to bring suit against these directors?" asked Mr. Smith.

Doyle's letter to O'Driscoll, in which he said he was working night and day to and material to fight his enemy, Burns, the fact that he had bought interests in O'Driscoll's and O'Haire's suits against Burns, in which he had been a witness for Burns, his letters to Meahan, all indicated, Mr. Smith contended, his implacable hatred of Burns and furnished a reason for bringing this sult 600 miles away from

He pointed out that Burns had been cureful to settle fairly with all of his old associates and that Doyle had Burns to thank for the magnificent fortune that he realized from the Portland, because it was undisputed that Doyle left the camp in August, 1892, for good and but for the fact that Burns stayed by the Portland until gold was discovered, Doyle would probably never have been heard of in that region again. Mr. Smith closed with the claim that the only demand for the stock for which he sues the jury could possibly find was ever made by Doyle was the written de-mand of February, 1898, five days before the suit was brought; that Doyle's testimony on former days and former suits in Colorado bore every evidence of truth and that his story of today is false and only bears evidence of his hatred and enmity to Burns.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

DES MOINES, la., April 17.-(Special.)-For the first time since the law was enacted soon after the state of Iowa was organized, the office of the state auditor has taken advantage of section 1.465 of the code and is sending to the counties warrants for the amount due the counties In excess of the amounts due the state. Old accounts of twenty years' standing and over are being settled up. A balance of 23 cents, which has been due to Jefferson county for sixteen years, was paid today. In remitting to the state for the care of the patients in state institutions oftentimes the counties remit too much money. Many of the county auditors keep no ledger, not being required to do so by law, and hence they sometimes even pay bills twice. The law is mandatory and states that as soon as there shall be a balance due the county the state auditor shall draw a warrant for the balance and send it to the county. This was done to day for the first time since the law was enacted. Countles are as hable to not remit enough money or fall to pay a bill as they are to remit too much or pay twice, and more so. RAISES NEW POINT IN CHURCH LAW Matter Finally Referred to Authorities to Formulate Law.

LAMONI, Ia., April 17.-(Special Telegram.)-The business of the Latter Day Saints' annual conference was resumed this afternoon with President Joseph Smith in the chair.

The high council of the church has been holding prolonged sittings upon a case of peculiar complications. A member of the Lamoni branch was tried by a court of elders in Kirtland, O., according to com-plaints made at that place. This man was found guilty and by action of the Kirtland district was excommunicated. The Lamoni branch protested and claims no other branch has jurisdiction over its members insofar as executing the sentence is concerned and insists that its findings should have been returned to the branch wherein the party has membership, there to have been endorsed and sentence executed. The high council today brought in a report on the case, sustaining the decision of the Kirtland branch, which report produced much debate, from which it is gathered that procedures in similar cases have not been uniform hitherto, hence no precedent has been established as law. As this high council is the highest court in the church, there can be no appeal from its decision, except to the general assembly, to a committee composed of the presidency, the twelve and the quorums of seventy. The subject was referred for purposes of investigating and framing a law which shall govern the church in future in matters of original jurisdiction, this committee to report to the next general conference. The report of the high council was referred back to that body for re-investigation and they empowered also to sit in judgment upon the merits of the original case concerning which the protest against jurisdiction had been made.

The report from the bishops' meeting indicated that an organization of bishops, bishops' counsellors and agents had been the building in a body, headed by a student effected and resolutions passed requiring all members of that organization to file the paying of surplus and consecrations. Elder Frank A. Russell of Illinois was

Central Park Improvers.

At last night's meeting of the Central Park Improvement club at Forty-second and Saratoga streets, the street railway committee reported having made good progress in its efforts to secure improvements in the interests of that part of the city. The committee reported that Councilman Evans had gromised that that section will secure some of the arc lights that will be put up under the new charter. The sidewalk committee reported that the street commissioners would soon lay crossings. A committee of five was appointed to endeavor to organize a stock company to build a hall for the club. The volunteer fire department reported that after meeting the fire and police committee of the city the promise was secured that 1.000 feet of hose would furnish a cart.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS TO CONTINUE

Railroad Avenue, South Twenty-Fourth and West Q in the List Provided for and Some Others Are Coming.

Two ordinances of considerable interest were passed by the city council last night One was the ordinance levying a special tax for the paving, grading and curbing of South Twenty-fourth street and Railroad avenue. Another ordinance passed was one declaring the necessity for paving Q street from Thirty-third west to the city limits. The ordinance preventing expectorating on the sidewalks was read the second time, as was also an ordinance for the laying of a permanent sidewalk on the south side of S street from Thirtyninth to Forty-second streets and on both sides of S street from Forty-second to Forty-fourth streets.

G. R. McGill was appointed poundmaster, the appointment to take effect at once. At the motion of Adkins the city attor ney was instructed to draft an ordinance for the laying of a five-foot permanent sidewalk on both sides of Eighteenth street from J to M streets.

Connellman Kiewit secured the passage of a motion regarding the fees of the building and plumbing inspector. According to Mr. Klewit, the fees should be reduced and some rules regarding the office of this inspector be promulgated. No bids for the paving of Missouri ave-

Matters of routine interest only occupied the attention of the Board of Fire and Police commissioners at the regular meeting last evening. A communication from E. S.
