No Grain Market at St. Louis. ST. Louis, April 21.-No grain or produce markets today

NEW TOMATOES COME TO TOWN

Plenty of Nice Fresh Things Are Offered for the Table by Omaha Dealers.

Some tomatoes, as large and beautiful and loud-colored as a Turner sunset, came to town yesterday from Ojus, in the south, and will be wholesaied at $6 a crate, which is equal to $1 a basket, for the crates contain six of these. They are the first really fat, old-fashioned, ripe tomatoes to come to town so far this year, and are a sight well worth the price of admission. The tomatoes so far received have been little prematurely ripe things, which were not at all the sort one could admire unlimitedly. The price will be a little less within a short time, as other states will come into the market. The paraley continues to be about the brightest and crispest thing in sight. The jobbing price is now down to 60 cents, and it is only a question of time when the parsley will sell so cheaply it cannot afford to keep ice in its barrel. Illinois is sending in some very nice spinach now, which is arriving in very fresh condition and is a credit to the bolled dinner. There are now wax beans from Florida and green string beans from Corpus Christi, which is probably in Texas. The beans are really not bad at all. The cucumbers are getting fairly cheap now and are coming in by regular shipments. The Cuban pineapples continue to monopolize the fruit market outside of the citrous clusters, There are, however, a few cranberries left, and it must be admitted that for so late in the season they are very good looking cranberries, too. Some one has been able to rake up more of the sweet potatoes.

At one time it was said that the mildew was on the sweet so badly that none could be obtained during this month for the Omaha market, but this statement has proved untrue, for a few of the almond-eyed spuds continue to circulate in the neighborhood.

ST. PETERSBURG. April 22.-12:50 a. r. -May day demonstrations on a grand scale throughout the empire is the program of the socialist wing of the reform party as announced at the Pan-Russian congress protracted and stormy session.

The congress illustrated the lack of unity 2.3 in reform circles, the program as finally adopted falling to touch many burning questions of the hour on account of the impossibility of harmonizing the views of divergent elements. At the conclusion neither side was satisfied with the program The moderate faction, which was in the majority, eliminated a number of recommendations in deference to the wishes of the social democrats, while the represents tives of the socialist press characterized the platform generally, and especially the plank regarding tactics as wishy-washy and announced that the plan of organized meetings and parades in every city and industrial center of Russia of May 14, to which they were unable to gain the concurrence of other elements, will be carried out regardless of the congress.

Definace to the Police. The social democrats disclaimed any in-tention of rioting, but declared that if the police attempted to break up the dem onstrations the government would be swernble:

The chief accomplishment of the congress was its determination to organize an association which will participate in the general work of the Reform league of all 17.4 professional classes, in which the lawyers took the first steps at their recent con-

Practically all the liberal papers of Russia were represented in the journalists congress, among the delegates being Polish. Finnish, Armenian, Georgian, Esthonian Lettish. Lithuanian and Little Russian journalists. Among the speakers were M. Milukoff, who recently made a lecturing tour of America, and the poet, Koroenko The police did not interfere.

Demands of Resolution.

The program adopted comprises vague resolutions in favor of the nationalization of land, some form of liberation of the laboring classes from the industrial yoke, and the right of various nationalists to self-development, as far as consistent with the existence of the empire. A long discussion of tactics resulted in a declaragreatest possible agitation in favor of a legislative assembly by both legal and extra legal publications. In view of alleged attempts of the authorities to incite the proletariat against the educated classes, the ongress demanded the right of the people to arm themselves and form local militia for self-defense.

Among the planks excised from the platform was a declaration for an eight-hour work day, which was carried by a majority so narrow that it was finally decided to not include it.
