BANKERS , MEET FOR DISCUSSION

Umaha Man Speaks on Signs of the Times in Optimistic Tones-New Officers Are Elected.

FREMONT, Neb., April 22-(Special.)-Group three of the Nebraska Bankers' association closed its annual session here this afternoon. The attendance has been the largest in its history, being over 100 out of a total membership of 125. The spening session was held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. In the absence of President Stevens of Blair and Vice President Perkey of Wahoo, Thomas Finnell of Arlington was chosen to preside. The annual report of the president was dispensed with. The report of the treasurer, William E. Smails, showed a satisfactory balance on hand. L. Folda of Clarkson read a pa per on "Simple Bank Bookkeeping," which was discussed by several members, and some routine business transacted. At 7 o clock a hangust was served in the hanquet room of the Masonic hall, at which 100 plates were laid. Thomas Wolf of David City acted as tonstmaster. H. T. Arnold of Osceola responded to the toast, "Observation." Bank Examiner J. A. Cline, who was to have spoken on "What Way Danger Lies," was unavoidably absent. L. M. Talmage of Omaha read his paper, which was a strong arraignment of loose banking methods and of negligence in looking after securities. T. C. Koch of Fullerton gave some salutary and practical advice to young bankers, and Henry W. Yates of Omaha spoke entertainingly of early reminiscences in the banking busitiess. Impromptu responses were given by Mesara Trenery of Pawnee City, Davis of Omaha, Engler of West Point, Mailley of Stromsburg, L. D. Richards of Fremont and others.

Is Supervision Adequate?

The principal business of the session was transacted today. The opening session was held this morning. Secretary Royse of the State Banking board read a paper on the subject. "Is Federal and State Bank Supervision Adequate?" which was followed by an interesting discussion on the subject in general and the liability of bank xaminers for negligence in their duties; the failure of the State bank at O'Neill and the suits against Examiner Whittemore being a text for much of the talk. This was one of the most interesting topics before the association. C. F. McGrew of Omaha spoke on "Legitimate Competition," from which it appeared that the strife of business and the methods of obtaining it are as strenuous in the banking as in other business. The last paper was by G. W. Wattles of Omaha on "The Signs of the l'imes." Mr. Wattles said:

Fears Too Much Optimism.

As Constable Kenworthy had made affidavit that he had written in the name and it had been erased, Judge Vinsonhaler called him in and questioned him as to his remembrance of the circumstances. The constable insisted that the name had been written in, according to his affidavit.

Attorney DeBord, having confidence in the integrity of his client, Mr. Iddings, and having also the prestige of a quashed commons, is on record as determined to appeal to the county attorney and the board of commissioners to have constable Kenworthy disciplined or dismissed from Servant Girl Pursues Sneak and Comoffice.

Big Shoulder Blade and Plenty Scalp, two chiefs of the Crow Indian tribe, were in Omaha Friday from their reservation in Montana. They were on the way to dake hands with the Great Father at Wassington and to see the Big Water Where the Sun Rises. Shoulder Blade, had never been in a city of more than 2,000 inhabitants before, and Plenty Scalp had never ridden behind the steam horse until he started on the present journey.

The two chiefs were entertained by Gould Dietz, who took them for a ride in his automobile. They grunted in utter disgust when asked to climb into a wagon without horses, but looked at each other with wondering apprehension when the machine started. All through the ride they were so frightened that they could not talk. Mr. Dietz drove out into the suburbs and let the machine out to its best speed. Shoulder Blade and Plenty Scalp clung to the seat with desperate embrace, their dusky faces drawn with terror. When the auto rounded a corner they looked as though resigned to instant death. After the trip was over Plenty Scalp drew a deep breath of relief and suid:

"Ugh. Heap ride, heap fast ride. Go all same like swift deer.

Much interest was shown by the warriors in the Big Muddy, whose fame they knew from dozens of their people who had crossed it. They were dazed by thes tupendousness of civilization and asked if there were more people and houses by the side of the Big Water than here. They continued their eastward journey Friday night.
