Suits that Are Pending.

Among the important suits is that May Lovely, who sues for $10,000. Miss Lovely was thrown from a buggy last fall while driving along South Twenty-fourth street. A number of sults have been filed on account of the slippery condition of walks. John Culkin wants $5,000 on necount of a fall. Fanny Wolf desires the city to pay her $5,000 for being injured a runaway accident. Lena and Carl Eckstrom sue for $7,000 on account of injuries alleged to have been sustained by Mrs. Eckstrom by falling on a slippery aidewalk. John Woodward claims $5,000 for injuries to his right leg alleged to have been received by reason of a defective sidewalk

One of the heaviest claims pending is that of John Burke, who asks for $25,000. He alleges that he fell off a bank on L street last fall. At the time of the accident Burke was working with the street department force and slipped while assisting in unloading a wagon filled with Mary O'Prion puts in a claim for on account of injuries alleged to have been sustained by a defective walk on Q street. Any number of smaller dalms for personal injuries have been filed and soits started. Then there are a number of damage claims on account of the charging of grades on streets. number of tax cases are also on the docket.

In each of the personal injury cases an agent of the legal department made thotough investigation and frequently photographs were taken of alleged defective sidewalks. City Attorney Lambert inclines to the opinion that he can win most of the personal injury cases. Should the district court award judgment against the city in these personal damage claims Mr. Lambert states that he will take an appeal to the supreme court, in order that the rights of the city may be protected and to prevent a general raid on the city tree sury.

OUIET EASTER IN RUSSIA

the Czar's Empire.

New Grant of Tolerance an Historic Event of the Highest Significance in March Toward Liberty.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 1 .- 2:50 a. m .-Easter Sunday, which is the occasion in Russia of a general interchange of visits, both official and personal, and of generous hospitality, passed off with entire quiet in St. Petersburg and no disturbances in the provinces have been reported. In the factory quarters of St. Petersburg pelice and Cossacks were in evidence, manifesting their presence by constant patrolling, but there was no occasion for their services, and it is thought the situation is well in hand for today, when disorders have been apprehended. The situation has none of the ominousness of the eve of January 22. In Poland, however, serious trouble today is feared. There was rioting on a small scale on Saturday in one or two Polish centers. As a precaution and to avoid possible complications with foreign powers the governor general of Warsaw has sent a circular to the consuls there requesting that they warn those of their particular nationality of the danger of enturing into the streets in case disurbances should occur. From Kichinef, where attempts to stir up he Jew hating sentiment have caused the been reported.

Religious Freedom for All. Religious freedom conferred upon his subects by Emperor Nicholas as an Easter gift is an historic event of the highest significance, in comparison with which the emission of millions of dollars of taxes to the peasantry, a long list of decorations and six pages of promotions of bureaucratic officials are hardly worth comment Liberty of conscience has been repeatedly proclaimed and Procurator Bobedonostzeff in his famous reply to the petition of 1888 he contended that it existed in the empire The fact is that as a trysting place all religions have been tolerated in Russia, but none has been allowed to trespass on the Orthodox faith as ennuclated from the Mosque that faces the church on the Nevsky prospect in St. Petersburg. People were free to remain true to the religion of their fathers, but were forbidden to make proselytes. Everybody might enter, but none might leave the Orthodox church without forfeiting all civil rights, including the right to .nherit crown property; and in the train of that policy persecutions of every conceivable character were directed against the "Raskolniki" or dissent sects, especially the old believers. Among the Raskolniki are numbered a thousand and illumination of untrammeled man and queer and rustic beresies bred of the great schism caused by reform of the ancient liturgy and augmented by the suppression April stamp sales at the postoffice amounted to $5,987, an increase of $782 as compared with April, 1994.

This dramatization of the Alice Hegan Rice story has proved one of the most popular plays of late years. It see it, and its return for a single performance ought to bring out a full house again. It is being offered by exactly the same company, headed by Madge Carr Cooke, that presented it first, with the exception that Mabel Taliaferro is no longer playing Lovey Mary, having gone higher up. The delightful tale of life in the slums of Louisville is most realistically presented, and wins the hearts of all. It will be seen at the Boyd on Thursday night.

The Omaha Opera company, under the able guidance of its musical director, Edward Norman Kent, will repeat the opera of "Pinafore" at Boyd's theater Thursday evening. May 11. The opera will be given for charity and the reciplents will be the Home of the Good Shepherd and St. James Orphanage. It should be understood that the proceeds will be divided equally between these two most worthy causes. The opera company, which is composed of the picked singers of Omaha gives its serrices without cost. The benefit will be managed by the Knights of Columbus. Sir Joseph Porter, his cousins and his aunts, will be on deck to give the public genuine sailor's welcome. The opera has been brought up to date and Mr. Kent has interpolated several specialties, augmented chorus, special scenery and enlarged orchestra will tend to make this the very best amateur performance ever given in Omaha. The company have held nightly nearsals and are fully prepared to do justice to the tuneful music and funny situations of this famous old opera. The sale of tickets is progressing very favorably and the opera company expect to be able to replenish the exchequer of the above named charities to a very substantial amount.

It's a play of the west of that bygone day when "10,000 cattle straying" would find plenty of room; when one could ride from the Rio Grande to the Little Missourl and not encounter a wire fence; when men were men simply for the sake of being manly, and when life on the range meant a rich full tide of red blood, a clear eye, and a steady nerve, with a conscience that was never bothered by the ethical niceties of civilization, but always knew a duty and the difference between clergy to exhort their congregations to meum et tuum. And in those days when preserve order, no demonstrations have a man made a war talk, he was expected to follow it up. For that reason most of

Like the great majority of heroes, he's just a little bit too good to be true. but he has the essential qualities of a real man as well. Nebrasky, Honey Wiggin, Baldy, Dollar Bill, even Trampas, nearer to the real thing than the Virginian. Steve is but a representative of many who have set their feet unwiftingly on the downward path, and ended just as Steve did. And all the rest are taken from life without idealization, so that many of us meet old friends and neighbors in the ranch owners who take part in the episodes surrounding the affairs of the hero and the gallant little representative of Grandmother Stark, who eventually struck her colors, her Vermont narrowness expanding under the glorious sunshine of Wyoming. It has been called a man's play, probably because the men are the chief actors, and the women folks introduced are subsidiary to the story. But it is more than a man's play, for, while its theme is elementary and its expressions are rudimentary, it is also a genuine therefore worthy of the attention of all who are earnestly interested in the affairs of humanity, no matter from what standpoint. It is a play that should be seen by the old-timers, for the memories it will awaken, and by the newcomers, as giving them a faithful picture of what has passed 40,000,000 belonging to allen faiths, such from the life of the west. Each of the several acts is a good one, capable of standing alone, and the whole provides an almost ideal program for entertainment of the nature La Jolie Titcomb is given the place of honor on the bill. She is a strikingly handsome woman, with a strong and sweet soprano voice, used after the coloratura method, and listened to with dewas shown in Omaha last season, and was Nichols sisters are too well known in Omaha to need comment beyond the statement that they are as clever and as entertaining as ever. The Wilson trio sings well and delivers a lot of nonsense in German dialect, so that the time taken up by them is almost a continuous roar of laughter and applause. Polk and Collins easily establish their claim to be "the masters supreme of the banjo." They are artists on this difficult instrument, and deserve the warm reception they got. Lavine and Leonard make a lot of fun with their automobile and do some elever comedy juggling. Warren and Gardner are just as they are described on the bill, a comedian and a singer, both worthy of the profession. The Peschkoff troupe of Russian dancers offers a man and four graceful girls, doing Russian national dances in such a way as to evoke much enthusiastic applause. Altogether the bill is well balanced and should prove popular.

'An Aristocratic Tramp" at the Krug. This tramp play has the advantage over the others of its ilk in being the first to offer an automobile race and explosion in full view of the audience. Other episodes are a murder, a railroad train in full motion and a few similarly exciting events. The comedy ir supplied by the tramp and his assistants, and the customary heart interest is afforded by the usual story of wrong-doing, treachery and its eventual disclosure and the triumph of the good. Two large audiences were more than delighted with the show at the Krug yesterday. The play will stay until after Wednesday evening, with a matinee on

BIG ROW AND FIVE ARRESTS

Fight on South Mueteenth Street Calls Out a Riot Alarm for Police. A riot call from 1119 South Nineteenth treet at 10 o'clock tast night resulted in a flying trip of the natrel wagon with Officers Fahey and Sardstrom. A Mrs. Walters runs a boarding house at that umber. Some of the boarders have had onsiderable trouble with a number of men ving in the neighborhood and last night the outsiders led, the police say, man named Edward Mason, called at the boarding house to even up the scores with William Corby. Words led to blows and those who were not engaged in beating each other vented their wrath by breaking the windows of the house with base ball

While the rumpus was at its height the riot call was sent in. When the police arrived the row was over, and after giving ome men who were pointed out as having been engaged in the fight a lively run, they all escaped except Corby, and he was taken to the station and locked up. Mason was arrested Saturday night on a charge of drunkenness and was released on a $5 bond, to appear on Monday morning. It is not expected that he will appear. The police were given the names of the men who were engaged in the fight and window breaking and more arrests will be made today.
