Rourke said that snow was responsible for the small attendance at Colorado Springs, but that they had a banner crowd at Denver last Sunday. When informed that over 309 feet of his ball park fence had blown down, Bill never batted an eye, as he bethought himself of the cyclone insurance which he has been carrying for the last three years and which will fully cover the loss. ### BIG RACE DEAD HEAT IN Sysonby and Race King Finish Even in Metropolitan Handicap.

OWNERS AGREE TO DIVIDE THE PURSE

Keene Colt Was Favorite in the Final Betting at Two to One-Even Dozen Horses Go to the Post.

NEW YORK, May 4.-One of the greatest crowds that ever gathered to see a thoroughbred race in America was at Belmont park today to witness the sensational running of the Metropolitan handicap, in which James R. Keene's 3-year-old, Sysonby, and O. L. Richard's hardy 4-year-old, Race King, finished so close together the judges were unable to separate them. Both owners announced their satisfaction with the result as it stood and the purse, amounting to more than $14,000, was divided. Sysonby was the favorite in the betting, his stable mate Delhi having been withdrawn. Not often has the spectacle furnished by the struggle in the Metropolitan handicap today been equalled on an American race course. An even dozen thoroughbreds went to the post, Delhi, Roseben, Leonidas, Pasadena. Tanya and Siglight having been with After the scratching of Delhi Sysonby was made the favorite at odds of 2 to 1; Beldame was heavily played at 4 to 1. These two carried the bulk of the wagers.

Delay at the Post. After a rather tiresome delay at the post the horses were sent away. Santa Catalina had the rail and showed for an instant in front, but Sysonby was at her side and before the quarter pole had been reached the Keene colors flashed to the fore. Beldame's friend shed a ray of hope for a moment, as the mare drew out of the struggling mass and shot into third place.

Sysonby seemed to have a clean lead of two or three lengths on the far turn, but Shaw eased up his mount as a stiff wind struck him in the face, allowing the field to close on him. Colonial Girl and Race King displaced Beldame and Santa Catalina, who dropped back hopelessly beaten. First Mason, stable companion of Colonial Girl, his side was Race King.

To even the most hardened racegoer, the struggle between these two was such as to send a lump into the throat. There was an instant's silence as the thoroughbreds dashed along the rail. First one brown muzzle showed in front and then the other as the horses strained every fiber to gain. as the horses strained every fiber to gain an inch.

Finish is Exciting. Shaw and Smith were driving like mad, but to no purpose, and their charges fin ished so closely together that the judges were unable to separate them.

The shouting multitude which had been stilled for an instant by the royal struggle broke out into cheers, as the ciphers went up, denoting a dead heat, for the crowd had witnessed something seldom seen in the even if not successful in backing the win-

Behind Sysonby and Race King, but or the inside rail, was Colonial Girl, winner of the World's Fair handlcap at St. Louis. Both she and her stable mate, First Mason, ran a good race. The others were beaten off. The time was 1:41%.

James R. Keene and O. L. Richards. owners of Sysonby and Race King, quickly settled the question of the dead heat by dividing the proceeds.

CINCINNATI, May 4—Presidents Pulliam and Johnson of the National and American leagues met here today with Chairman Herrmann of the National commission, the three constituting that body, and acted on a number of matters that had been appealed to the commission. A new rule was announced to the effect that when a minor league club has purchased or drafted a player and such player does not report to the minor league club, the player shall not be subject to draft by a major league club until after the minor league club drafting or purchasing has had his service for at least half a season. Player W. J. Campbell, who was purchased from Louisville by the St. Louis Nationals and released again to Louisville, is declared to be entitled to ten days' pay at the rate called for by his St. Louis contract, and any difference between his St. Louis and Louisville rate is to be paid by St. Louis.

An additional rule is announced regarding the playing of games with clubs not under the national agreement. National agreement players are to be permitted to play only with clubs having contracts for

CASE COMES TO ABRUPT END

Suit Stops Short Because Juror Has Claim Against City.

> the Court Made Known.

Suddenly, after the calling of court Thursday afternoon, the jury in the case of John Dailey against the city and General Charles F. Manderson, a personal injury suit, was discharged. This was done by consent of counsel on both sides, without any explanation being made in open court. Everybody looked and acted mysteriously and no one was willing to talk.

Soon a rumor began to race up and down the courthouse corridors, a little above the heads of the frequenters therein, that there was a very terrifying negro under some one's woodpile. A little delving brought out the fact that on the jury there had been accepted a man who has a claim pending against the city. At the time when the jurors were being chosen this man had owned up to having the claim pending, but he had not been challenged and the court

"You did not come to headquarters." So the matter passed off and the juror was accepted among the chosen twelve.

Thursday during the noon recess this man is reported to have gone to City Attorney Breen's office and said: "Well, am I at headquarters?" or words to that effect. Mr. Breen was so astonished, it is said, that he almost fell out of his chair. He told the man he could not possibly talk to him under the circumstances existing and as soon as he got over to the courthouse he called a consultation with Judge Kennedy and the other attorneys. The result was an agreement to have the jury discharged at once and this was done. The trial had consumed all of Tuesday, Wednesday and half of Thursday.

Kennedy Declines to Talk. When the rumor of the cause of the discharge of the jury had got abroad Judge Kennedy was seen. He was very loath to say anything at all about the matter, and refused to be quoted concerning it. Asked if any action would be taken by the court against the ill-advised action of the juror Judge Kennedy said that must be a matter for consideration, but if he did anything it would be after consultation with the other law judges.

It is only about three weeks since a juror named Wood, serving on a case in the same courtroom, went to Attorney Ralph Breckenridge, representing one of the parties to the suit, and tried to borrow $1. He said he had borrowed from a gentleman who had a suit pending in another court and thought Mr. Breckenridge might cough up a paltry simoleon. Instead he got some strong words of warning and the lawyer reported the juror's action to Judge Kennedy. Wood owned up to the court what he had done but claimed he did not realize that his act was wrong and might subject him to punishment. He was given a lecture and excused from the case and the jury panel for the term, the case proceeding with eleven jurors.

The name of the careless juror in the Dalley case has not been made public.
