OLD-TIME RING FAVORITES

Whereabouts of Some of the Lately Famous American Pugilists.

"DEAD" MEN WHO ENJOY LIFE EASILY

Fistiann's Stars Find Snug Harbors in Many Callings and Keep Right on Without Missing Menls.

PHILADELPHIA. May 6 .- As the years roll by followers of the ring often wonder what has become of the army of pugillats who have made fighting history in days gone by. Very few of the oldtime fighters are alive. Most of those who are in the land of the living are hale and hearty, and some have been prudent and laid aside something for a rainy day. A number of the "scrappers" who were favorites ten years ago still live, and once in a while their names creep into the columns of a newspaper.

Of the former champions, pugilists whos names were familiar wherever boxing was fostered, three are still in harness. They are George Dixon, "Tommy" Ryan and "Bob" Fitssimmons. Dixon was the best of the feather weights. Ryan the master of the welter weights and Fitz at the head of the middle weight class. Dixon is in England, doing the best he can, meeting men who would have had no chance with him when he was in his prime. Fitzsimmone has entered the heavy weight class, while Ryan says he has acquired the right to be classed as the peer of the middle weights. Jack Dempsey, whom "Fitz" defeated for this title, has passed away. So have George La Blanche, the Marine, who once conquered the Nonparell with the socalled pivot blow; Peter Jackson, who was the best of the big black men in his day; George Godfrey, another wonderful colored heavy weight; "Prof." John Donaldson, who once fought John L. Sullivan; Paddy Ryan, whom Sullivan succeeded as the leader of the heavy weights; "Joe" Goss and "Tom" Allen.

Good 'Uns Who Still Live. Mike Donovan is still considerably in evidence. Despite his age Donovan has not forgetten how to put up his hands, and when he is not giving points to the president of the United States he attends to his duties as boxing instructor of the New York Athletic club. Dominick McCafferty is alive and living in Pittsburg. Jake Kilrain, who fought John L. the longest battle of his career, is in Baltimore. He has a family and only recently his son, Cecil, tried to perpetuate his illustrious father's name by trying his mettle as a glove artist. "Buffalo" (Martin) Costello, who fought Batteries: Morse and Bender; Jones and Alec Greggains more than eighty rounds at Coney Island twelve years ago, and who Jones 4. made and lost a fortune in Australia, is in New York giving boxing lessons. Greg-

Shepherd of the East Des Moines High school broke the 135-yard hurdle in 0.15% and the pole vault record made by him last year in 10 feet 6 inches. Ray Andrews, East Des Moines High school, broke the half-mile record in 1765. The features of the meet were Ray and Earl Andrews and O. C. Connell of the East Des Moines High school, taking first, second and third respectively, in the half and one mile races, and Collins and Sommerholder of Lincoln in the weights.
