TOKIO, Sunday, April 27 .- (Correspondence of the Ageociated Press.)-Coun-Okuma former premier and minister of foreign affiairs in a recent interview on the question of intervention, said that a great hange in the lines of diplomacy of different powers being a natural outcome of the present war, it was difficult to make a prophecy. Increasingly closer relations etween England and France was already one of the very significant phenomena, resulting from the war. The count declared that Germany could have no other feeling than satisfaction at finding its northern ival, becoming gradually weakened by the war and would recognize the foolish ness of antagonizing Japan if Germany could maintain and develop its interests in the for east. Even the loss of Vladivostok might not prompt Russia to seek peace. It could go on retreating indefinitely hoping thereby to exhaust us. Should Russia ask for peace, we shall insist on an unconditional armistice and when the negotiations are opened we shall require Russia to return Manchuria to China, recognize our suzersinty over Corea, cede Sakhain to us, remove permanently the fortifications of Vladivostok, and pay an indemnity of at least 2.0%.000.00 yen ($1,000.000.00). Such liberal terms will afford no occasion for intervention. The scene of hostilities in Manchuria being without any special interest to the powers, none of them will be prompted to take action to stop the war. On the contrary, the war is affording a lucrative trade to some of those supplying materials for war. Looked at from a diplomatic standpoint, Germany, seeing its eastern danger lessened by the war, and Russia gradually weakened, will naturally entertain the hope of further reduction in the strength of its formidable neighbor. keep your blood clean as you keep your body clean. You don't wait until your body is foul before you cleanse it.

It is a matter of surprise that many people who are so careful to have clean bodies make no effort to keep the blood clean. Bveryone knows that uncleanness breeds disease; that those who do not keep their bodies in a wholesome condition and who dwell in filthy surroundings are the first to fall when some epidemic of disease sweeps the country. But foul blood is more danthe country. But foul blood is more dangerous to the individual than a foul body. An unclean body is rather a passive than an active hindrance to health. EMBARGO ON NON-RESIDENTS Ordinance Introduced at Request of association Conneilman Dyball introduced an ordinance at the adjourned meeting of the council Monday, to amend the present plumbing ordinance and impose practically an embargo upon non-resident firms. The amending ordinance forbids the issuance of a master plumber's general permit to any person, firm or corporation as master or contracting plumber in Omaha unless the applicant has an established place of business here. Hereafter permits are to run from January 30 for the year instead of from January 1, this in order to clean up permits that are now held by ouresident plumbing firms. It is explained that the new arrangement is demanded by the Omaha plumbing firms as a means of protection against South Omaha, Council Bluffs and other outside competition, most of which comes from the place first named. In South Omaha the rules against nonresident plumbers are said to be practically prohibited and the Omaha plumbers want to try a little reciprocity to even things up. At present all an outside contractor whereas. The aforesaid organizations of has to do in Omaha is to file a $1,000 bond and he can get a permit to do business for M a year.

Other business transacted at the adjourned meeting included rescinding a resolution adopted several weeks ago terminating a lease with Peter Wendt for a piece of Walnut street between Second and Third, which he occupies as a dwelling and outbuildings. A neighbor named August Wenzel had the former action taken. Both have bired lawyers.

The 1905 city taxes on the building and personal property of the Omaha Casket ompany, destroyed by a windstorm May were cancelled, and an old claim of $1,500 from George Forbes for a building leased but never used for a pest house, was formally rejected.
