Solves Problem for Omaha.

As chief engineer of the Omaha water Dr. Patrick Expresses Opfnion that works he solved for the world the problem of how to make pure and clear water from the boiling mass of sand and clay that makes up the flood of the Missouri river. It is a fact that about 100 tons of sand is taken out of the water used by the city of Omaha every twenty-four hours. He invented and patented the process. He had full charge of the mechanical department and built the water works up to the present state of high efficiency.

Eight Cents Taken from Immediate VERMILION, S. D., May 25.-(Special Telegram.)-With the affirmative side of the question, "Resolved, That trades unions show a general tendency detrimental to the best interests of this country." Messrs. Edward Leary, George McCracken and William Schall, representing Creighton uniat Fresno, Cal., announcing that it had versity, won a decision over the team from the University of South Dakota by a 2 to 1 vote of the judges. Strong arguments were presented by either side and no one in the audience would have been the United Presbyterian church now in greatly surprised had the decision been reversed, so equal seemed the contentions of Creighton was especially strong on rebuttal made by Movements of Ocean Vessels May 25.

Creighton argued that constant ignoring of law and order by unions had set the public against them where once support was given and laid great stress on the dictatorial policy of the unions against nonunion men whose labor was on the market. The State university's contention was that without organized effort on the part of the laborers they were utterly at the mercy of employers. Also that the good resulting

One Hundred Thousand May Be Idle. C. S. Wicke, secretary of the Hines Lum ber company, said today that inside of week 100,000 men who work in wood will be out of employment if the tieup of the lumber districts continues. The woodworking mills are already affected.

F. D. Smith of the hardwood lumber firm of F. R. Crane company, asserted that already 6,000 lumber yard workers have been laid off on account of lack of business. Fifty mills will be forced to shut down within a week. Lumber and saw mills in the northwest are beginning to curtail operations. All orders for delivery of lumber to Chicago have been cancelled. President Shea of the teamsters' union held a different view of the prospect for a complete theup of the wood and building industries. He did not agree with the prophecy of the lumber dealers. He said:

All this talk of tying up the building industry is idiocy.
