MANY INDICTMENTS FOUND

Grand Jury Adjourns After Finding Twenty-One True Bills.

Men Charged with Stealing Lead from Freight Cars Are Among Those Indicted-Several Cases Are Ignored.

Twenty-one indictments were reported yesterday morning by the grand jury which adjourned for the term after being in seaion since Monday of last week. But few of the indictments were made public yesterday, however, as the defendants are not osenh Badgett are indicted on charges implicating them in the recent theft of a large number of bars of lead from cars in charge of the Illinois Central railroad. In one indictment Hall and Stucker are charged with receiving a portion of the stolen lead of the aggregate value of $54, and their bonds are fixed at $500 each. Hall has been unable to furnish a bond and is in the county jail, but Stucker obtained a reduc-in cash and was released. In one indictment Grant Booton is charged with the theft of forty-five of the Leigh bars of lead, valued at $202.50, and his bond Louise Stephan for local editor, and Gus Dr. Luella Shaw-Deans, homeopathic physician, has opened an office in room 3 Brown building, on Pearl street. Commencing today the motor of the total value of $102.50, and in this case their bonds are election of officers of the Dela Tau Literary society resulted as follows: President, Margaret Flickinger; vice president, Ruth Felt; secretary, Vera Spetman; treasurate the plant of the total value of $102.50, and as in the other case, his bond is fixed at Elizabeth Crane. $500 on this charge.

The story of the theft of the lead was old to the grand jury by eGorge Lattimer. who turned state's witness. He accused Sooton and Badgett of being directly connected with him in the robbery, and his Trust company of Council Bluffs: wife testified that Hall and Stucker came Rosa Gall to William Gall, part lot 1, block 2, Stutsman's 1st add., q. c. d. $ to their place while her husband was in William G jail and took away the lead, which was buried in the back yard. Latimer also told of seiling 120 of the stolen bars to three junk dealers-one of this city and two of Omaha. Mr. Bercovici, a junk dealer, testified to buying the lead, which had been previously melted, from Booton and Badgett, and for which he paid 3 cents a pound.

Number of Minor Cases. George Broyles, a barber living at 221 Ninth avenue, was indicted on a charge of assaulting his wife, Rosa Broyles, on the night of May 14, with intent to inflict great bodily injury on her. The testimony alleged that Broyles threatened to cut his wife's throat while she was in bed His bond was fixed at $500, but the court later reduced it to $500, in which sum he succeeded in furnishing bail and was released. Clyde McClelland was indicted on a charge of assaulting Lincoln Thomas with Ninth avenue, was indicted on a charge of charge of assaulting Lincoln Thomas with a brick on April 1 and his bond was placed at $500. He has been in jail since April 1, having been unable to procure bail. J. C. McDonald, charged with stealing pocketbook containing $8, of Mrs. Robert Limerick, 1418 North Eighth, with whom he boarded, was indicted. The technical charge is larceny from a building and his bond is fixed at $500, which he is unable to give.

An indictment was returned against William Hughes, alias William Keily, charged with breaking into the residence of Fred Murphy at 308 Avenue G, on April 16 and stealing a small sum of money. His bond was placed at $500 and he is in the county iail, being unable to furnish same. Henry Bailey was indicted on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder but particulars of the alleged crime were not made public. In default of a bond fixed at $800 he was committed to the county fall. The grand jury returned "no bills" against Attorney George W. Hewitt, menace to the public health in the shape of a filthy vault at the rear of certain premises on Broadway, and S. White, charged with cheating by false pretenses the purchase and sale of old iron in February, 1903. The report of the grand jury on the jails at Minden, Neola and Underwood and the county and city jails in this city showed that it considered them all in good sanitary condition, but that the city jail

In the first place, when Mr. Hewitt declined to comply with the orders of Chief Richmond relative to the vault he was proceeded against under the city ordinance and was fined, but the district court, on Hewitt appealing, held that the ordinance was invalid as the state law provided a punishment for the offense complained of. Mr. Hewitt was then proceeded against under the state law and the case went to the grand jury, which ignored

it. This action on the part of the grand jury leaves the city apparently without any jurisdiction in such cases and powerless to protect the public health, as Mayor Macrae expressed it Before taking any further action Mayor Macrae and Chief Richmond will lay the whole case before Attorney General Mullan and request him to advise how the state law can be enforced in such instances where a grand jury decides to ignore the case The advisability of requesting Judge Wheeler to call before him the members of the grand fury with a view of ascertaining from them the grounds on which they ignored the case, was discussed last night by the mayor and chief of police, and his re-

CROWD MAY TAX CITY'S CAPACITY Who Have Rooms to Rent

Will Council Bluffs be able to acco date the large number of visitors expected here during the State Firemen's urnament next month is a question which is giving the committee in charge of arrangements more or less concern. Advices received by the committee show that advance requisitions have already exhausted the capacity of the hotels and that it now devolves on the citizens to assist in entertaining and provide account dations for the crowd. This being the case the committee is anxious to prepare a list of all those who may have rooms to rent during the tournament and request that full particulars of same be sent in as honor of Secretary Leslie M. Watch for Decision A decision in the case of Robert Fullerton against the city of Des Moines is expected omorrow and will be watched for with interest by every city in the state that does paving. It is sought to restrain the city from paying for extra work not stated in the contract and payment of which is explicitly forbidden by the contract. It is claimed by the attorneys for Fullerton that if such extras can be paid for a contract let for public work after advertising for bids is utterly useless, as the price in the contract is immaterial owing to the fact that extras will be allowed at a price to be agreed upon privately by contractor and city council. It is claimed that if extras are allowed it will make every city in the state a prey of grafting contractors.

Prouty, one of the members, tory in Yale university, and an authority on French history, was shown the dispatch regarding a manuscript alleged to give the history of the so-called lost dauphin of France. Prof. Wheeler said claims of a similar purport had been made repeatedly. In the first number of the first volume of Putnam's magazine many years ago, said Prof. Wheeler, there appeared an article entitled, "Have We a Bourbon Among Ust" in which the writer set up the claim that Rev. Eleagor Williams of Michigan was the lost daughin. Prof. found in the bottle.

"Mutual" Plan Into Effect. NEW YORK, May 26.-The motion of Franklin B. Lord, which sought to restrain the directors of the Equitable Life Assurance society from mutualizing the com pany, was granted today by Justice Maddox in the supreme court in Brooklyn. In granting the motion. Justice Maddox said after reviewing the facts in the case: "The motion, therefore, is granted, but is limited to the filing and effectuation of such that such contemplated amendment has

Hyde that the asin this city. Investigation among the sent of a majority of the stock was sufficient, even if no stockholders' meeting had been held. The justice quoted from former judicial decisions to the effect that the Equitable was a stock not a membership corporation and that policy holders are not members of the company. To deprive the owner of stock of the right to vote for the management of the company, Justice Maddox held, might be the same as depriving him of his property. The justice did not express an opinion as to the ownership of the company's surplus further than to say that whatever right, if any, the stockholders may have to the surplus must await the company's final distribution, while the policy holders' right is dependent on his policy and its continuance and must be determined by the terms of In conclusion, Justice Maddox said:
