One death and four casualties form the sum of a series of accidents in one day for Omaha, and it is feared a second death, that of Mr. Ferryman, cannot be averted. John Zimmerman, who resides at 2415 Bouth Nineteenth street was instantly killed about 1:39 Tuesday afternoon by a live wire at Eighteenth and Leavenworth streets. Zimmerman was standing at the corner talking with some friends when he unconsciously took hold of the wire used in hoisting the arc light. His foot was on the iron covering of the manhole in the street, which made a complete circuit. He recied for a moment, then fell to the pave-

Just a Mere Boy.

Young Zimmerman is but 17 years old and is employed in the bottling department of the Krug Brewing company. Tuesday morning he worked as usual, but on account of Decoration day he was given a half holiday by his employers and left home a little after noon in company with Frank Schmitz, who lives at 2455 South Nineteenth street, just next door to the Zimmerman house. The two boys started out to go to the exercises which were held at Hanscom park, and when they got to Eighteenth and Vinton streets they met another young man, Eddie Cunningham, 1921 South Eighteenth street, whom they expected to accompany for the company of the compan street, whom they expected to accompany them to the park. The three were standing on the corner waiting for a South Omaha car, when John Zimmerman took hold of car, when John Zimmerman took hold of the wire and received the fatal shock. HARLEM RIVER ANNUAL REGATTA Young Schmitz also received a severe shock, but he was not standing on the iron manhole covering, which proved fatal to the

but he was not standing on the iron manhole covering, which proved fatal to the Zimmerman boy.

The dead boy had lived with his parents in Omaha all his life. His mother has been in a feeble condition for several weeks and when notified of the death of her son by Officer Striker, who was in the vicinity when the accident occurred, she fell in a faint on the floor of the kitchen of her little home. News of the young man's sudden and violent death fell with crushing force upon the mother. Having parted with her son in the morning in the full bloom of vigorous young manhood, she was simply distracted and prostrated nervously when told that he was a corpse. The blow seemed for a while more than the devoted mother could possibly endure, but she was sustained by the comfort of the family and aided by medical attention from Dr. Wearne, who was immediately summoned.

John Zimmerman is the son of James Zimmerman, who is employed in the picking department of the Swift Packing company at South. Omaha. Coroner Brailey was notified immediately of the accident.

Death is Feared.

Frank P. Ferryman, a Union Pacific switchman fell from a large furniture car in the east end of the freight yards at about 11:30 yesterday morning, struck on a rail and crushed one side of his head The car was not in motion or attached to an engine. Ferryman was noticed by a switchman nearby standing on top of the car. When seen a few minutes afterward by the switchman he was lying on the ground alongside the car, from which he had evidently fallen. He was unconscious and when search was made for injuries it a tie of the adjoining track. Ferryman was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, where Drs. Jonas and Somers found that the wound probably caused concussion of the brain, and was so severe that there are few chances for his recovery. As no one saw him fall from the car the cause cannot be explained. The last report from the hospital was that he most probably would not recover.

Mr. Ferryman lived at 2120 North Twentyfifth street. His family consists of his wife and two sons, Joseph and John, aged 11 and 8 years respectively. Mr. Ferryman has been an employe of the Union Pacific for several years, and last March was given a position as yardmaster at Grand Island, where he moved his family. He was not long in this position when he returned to Omaha, where he was em ployed as switchman.

Falls from Street Car.

While Michael Nittler was stepping from a Twenty-fourth street car at Twentysixth and Leavenworth streets, at about 1:30 Tuesday afternoon, he fell to the pavement, striking his head just behind the right ear. He was unconscious for some time after the accident, but it is thought his injuries will not prove serious. Nittler lives at 2506 Bonlevard and is employed at the saloon of Henry Rohlff, Twenty-sixth and Leavenworth. While John Abrahamson was riding his bicycle near Twenty-fifth and Farnam streets, Tuesday afternoon, he came in collision with another bleyclist, and was so severely injured that he was taken to Wise Memorial hospital. Mr. Abrahamson had his collar bone broken and was otherwise injured about the head and face. He was attended by physicians at the hospital, and was badly shaken up by his severe experience.

the Frenchman, in a five-mile special race for a purse of $500. Jay's time in this event was 4:58. In the ten-mile event with Oldfield the use of steam as opposed to gasoline was demonstrated by Jay. The Chicago man used a steam machine and although hard pressed throughout the entire race finished several lengths in the lead. This race was the most exciting seen during the meet. The Jay car made its speed in the stretches, while Oldfield repeatedly cut down the steamer's lead at the scratch and paddock turns, only to lose ground on the back straightaway and in front of the grandstand. The two cars got away together, but on the first lap the Chicago man gained a lead of a furlong over the champion, which he held until near the end of the race. During the last lap Oldfield was steadily gaining on his opponent but failed to get up in time to capture the rich prize. Oldfield pressed his car to its utmost but lost considerable ground at the turns, making broad sweeps in an effort to get the rail. Four other events including those left over from yesterday was decided today. The weather and track was perfect but no records were broken. Attendance, 10,000 Summaries:

Obligation to Mankind.

We owe an obligation to ourselves; we owe those obligations to all mankind. More and more as we increase in strength I hope to see a corresponding increase in the sober sense of responsibility which shall prevent us either injuring or insulting any other people. You may notice that I said "insulting" as well as "injuring." If there is one quality sometimes shown among us which is not commendable, it is a habit of speaking loosely about foreign powers and foreign races.

You do not need, any of you, to be told

You do not need, any of you, to be told that in private life you will resent an insuit quite as much as an injury, and our public writers need to steadily keep before their minds the thought that no possible good can come to us by speaking offensively of any one else (applause), and trouble may come.

The surest way for a nation to invite disaster is to be opulent, aggressive and unarmed diaughter and applause.) Now we are opulent and I hope we will remain so. I trust that we shall never be agressive unless aggression is not merely justified, but demanded. (Applause.) Significance of Slocum's Career.
Surely there is need for me to say but little in emphasis of what has been said before I began to speak as to the prime significance of General Slocum's career. He was a great soldier, a most gallant and able commander. Once the war was over, he turned as whole-heartedly to the pursuits of peace as he had during the war turned to the strife of arms. He was one of those men on whose career we can dwell in its entirety. We don't have to dwell with emphasis on part of it, because we don't care to speak of another part. We are able to point to General Slocum as the type of what a decent American citizen should be, as a man who was an example in his business relations, than a fearless and able soldler.

Memorial day in this city was favored by almost ideal weather. A cooling breeze and partly overcast sky tempered the heat and relieved the strain of the long marches by the veterans and various other organzations which took part in the day's ceremonies. While the chief interest in the day centered in Brooklyn, where President Roosevelt took part in the exercises, the iay was observed in a most elaborate way in other sections. The grand army posts of the Boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx alone turned out 16,000 veterans to take part in the parade. In the parade official recognition of the fact that the veterans are rapidly growing old, was given today for the first time. Always in the past it has been the honored privilege of some veterans to bear the organization standard in the long Memorial day exercises. Today however, the task was entrusted to younger man, three members of the Sons of Veterans having been delegated to perform the task. It was expected that the heavy standards were too much for the waning strength of the aging veterans. Aside from the Memorial exercises there were activities in many quarters of the greater city today. As usual athletics of every description occupied the place of greatest prominence in these other lines.

Decoration Day in New England. BOSTON, May 30.-The graves of soldiers of the civil and Spanish wars buried I New England were decorated today. The resting places of not a few confederate soldiers were among those honored. The pleasant weather resulted in a general visit to the cemeteries, while special union services in honor of dead soldiers were held in many churches.

The holiday also marked a notable turn ing to outdoor life. In this city a feature of the day was a parade of workhorses for which preparation had been made for many months. Special union services in honor of the dead soldlers were held in many churches.

Observance of Day at Capital.

WASHINGTON, May 30.-National salutes by batteries of United States artillery, processions of veterans to different ceme teries, strewing of flowers upon the graves of men who participated in the civil war, orations, martial music and songs, marked Memorial day in the national capital. There are many points about the city where soldiers are buried and none of the graves was neglected. The Arlington national cemetery, where not only thousands of enlisted men are buried, but where rest the remains of hundreds of prominent officers, was the principal point of interest. Here Senator Joseph B. Foraker of Ohio, a soldier of the civil war, delivered a patriotic address.

An interesting feature of the ceremonies at Arlington was a tribute from Cuba to the dead of the Spanish war. Seonr Rivero, charge d'affaires, accompanied by all members of the Cuban legation, went to the cemetery and placed a wreath upon the monument which marks the graves of the saflors of the Maine an dalso decorated the graves of soldiers who fell during the Spanish war.

It is apparent that the intent of the illegal fancing has been to cut out the valley and water-hole tracts between the hills in order to proserve them for hay-growing purposes, to keep ordinary homesteaders away from the fertile draws and water holes and drive them to the high lands.

One of the witnesses said Tuesday. Practically all of the little valleys and draws have been homesteaded by employes of the cattle compraise, and here are established the ranches. The apparent rule has been to fence about a section of the little valleys and draws have been to fence about a section of the land of you if you were not doing better cause has been to fence about a section of the land for every quarter homesteaded. There was a good sprinkling of beef cattle here today and a fair demand from all sources. Buyers were out early and seemed to want the cattle. They were inclined to be a little bearish and were somewhat slow in taking hold. Sellers were not willing to meet any decline, and it was fairly well along in the forenoon before they got together. Trading was fairly active later in the morning and the cattle changed hands at right around yesterday's prices. $2 STEERS AND COWS.

Hogs-There was a good, comfortable run here today, about 191 cars being offered. Chicago's early reports showed receipts of hogs to be 15,000, with trading strong to 5c nigher. This fact lent a builtish tone to the market here and trading was generally stronger than yesterday. The market opened in good season, with bidding right around a nickel higher. The buik of the hogs sold at $5.1505.179, against a built of $5.1605.129, yesterday. Several loads brought $5.20 and tops reached $5.20, against a top of $5.15 yesterday. The general quality of the hogs was about the same as yesterday. The market closed slow at the prices. Representative sales:

LONDON, May 30.—Money was in good demand in the market today for Stock exchange and month-end requirements. Discounts were steady. On the Stock exchange there was renewed firmness, stimulated by the latest news regarding the Japanese naval victory, though attention largely centered on contangoes. Consols were strongly supported, but eased to a fraction below the best quotations of the day. Home rails wers firm, being encouraged by the weather. Americans opened steady and were fairly upheld at parity, although an easier disposition was manifested. Business was restricted, owing to the holiday in New York. Prices dropped a fraction and later business was dult Grand Trunk was buoyant on bear covering. The feature of foreigners was the strength of Japanese as and the weakness of Russians. Imperial Japanese government as of 1904 were quoted at 1634.

BERLIN, May 30.—Trading on the Bourse today was inactive, owing to the hopes entertained of peace in the far east, and Russians rose, 4-10 per cent.

PARIS, May 30.—Prices on the Bourse opened firm a strong sentiment prevailing that peace would result in the far east from the recent battle in the straits of Corea. Russian bonds were at 499, for the first time in months being below par. At the close the market was calm and prices were sustained. Russian imperial 4s were Foreign Financial. Corea. Russian bonds were at as, for the first time in months being below par. At the close the market was calm and prices were sustained.
