

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Board of Education Due to Have Busy Session This Evening.

BIDS TO BE OPENED FOR NEW SCHOOLS

Contractors Assert that Additional Rooms Will Be Ready by Time Next Term Opens Barring Unforeseen Delays.

The expectation is that tonight the board of education will transact considerable business. It is possible that a few teachers may be elected, but members of the board are not giving out any definite information on this subject. Bids will be received for the six-room frame building adjoining the Madison school, at Seventh and Madison streets. It is the desire of the board that this new structure be sold and moved away as soon as possible, so that the contractors can get to work on the brick addition to be built this summer.

Proposals for the heating and plumbing of the new Madison, Corbin, and Lincoln schools will be received. The board is pushing these contracts as much as possible in order that the new rooms to be built this summer may be completed before the school opens in September. The contractors who are to do the building are of the opinion that unless there is a decided delay in securing building material the additional rooms will be completed by the time the schools open again.

By the building of the additions to these three school buildings sixteen additional rooms will be added. Each school building is constructed with a view to building additions and in the drawing of plans this idea is carried out by the architects. Then frame building at Twenty-sixth and M streets is to be moved to Twenty-third and M streets and this will relieve the overcrowded condition of the Brown Park school. When the schools open in the fall the members of the board seem to think there will be room for all pupils without overcrowding, even should the enrollment increase over that of last year. The school census is now being taken and when this is completed the board of education will have some idea of the probable September enrollment.

Sidewalk Notices Today.
Some time today City Clerk Gillin will send out notices to property owners directing that permanent sidewalks be laid within thirty days or else the city contractor will do the work. When the city contractor is called upon to lay walks of this kind the cost is charged up against the property and is carried on the taxbooks until settled.

Most of the notices to be served today are in blocks 1 and 2, McGavock & O'Keefe's addition. Several contractors are now at work laying permanent sidewalks and nearly every portion of the city is being covered. Inspectors at the city hall are issuing these notices and that South Omaha property owners as a rule are complying with the permanent sidewalk ordinances.

City Council Meets Tonight.
This evening the city council will hold a meeting and the expectation is that the members of the board of public works will be named. While this board is not expected to meet until Friday the council must confirm the appointments of the mayor and treasurer. There appears to be some possibility that some delay will be caused by the fact that from W. J. Hayes & Sons, the limit of twenty days expires today, but this twenty-day contract is not binding, for all of the dealings with bond buyers are made at the discretion of the bankers' attorneys. It is hardly probable that the council will make any attempt to enforce the terms of the twenty days' contract as Hayes & Sons frequently report progress.

Printer Gets General Index Today.
Today the general index of all of the ordinances will be sent to the printer. City Clerk Gillin and City Prosecutor Samuel Winters compiled the index as the direction of the council. About 1,200 city ordinances have been arranged in alphabetical order. In the printed book form in which the index will appear, the number of the ordinance will be given and the volume and page of the record. About 100 copies of this index will be issued, and the cost of printing is estimated at $40. These copies will be furnished attorneys and city officials and others who have occasion to refer to city ordinances.

This index has been prepared to compare the ordinances and others who have occasion to refer to city ordinances.

Commercial Club Tuesday Night.
Every member of the South Omaha Commercial club are interested in the welfare of South Omaha and are urged to attend the regular meeting of the club to be held at Workman temple on Tuesday evening. Two well-known Omaha speakers have been promised to attend and deliver addresses on topics of interest to South Omaha property owners. Members of the Commercial club expect that interest in this meeting of the club will be revived by the work.

Police Hunting Highwaymen.
Officers of the South Omaha police force are hunting for the highwaymen who held up and robbed W. Mosher of South Omaha on Saturday night. Mosher was driving to his home in Sarpy county and when near Sarpy Mills park was held up by three masked men and his valuables taken from him. Sunday afternoon Thomas Dalton, a Sarpy county farmer, telephoned to the police headquarters here that he had been held up by three men just about fifteen minutes previous to the Mosher holdup. From Dalton the highwaymen secured a watch and some loose change. As the police have not been given a very good description of the highwaymen, they have not succeeded in locating the men or making any arrests of suspects.

Gives Wedding Present.
Saturday night at Masonic hall the Eastern Star presented to Miss Gertrude Parkhurst, daughter of Captain and Mrs. D. S. Parkhurst, a set of silver spoons. On some day this week Miss Parkhurst will be married to John Pollard of this city. Shortly after the wedding the young couple will move to South Dakota, where they intend to make their future home.

When the gift of the Eastern Star was presented Miss Parkhurst was greatly surprised, but managed to thank the members in a few well chosen words.

BIG SUNDAY AT LAKE MANAWA

Crowds Attend and Enjoy the Various Pleasures Afforded by the Resort.

An immense crowd, estimated to be the biggest of the season, attended at Manawa yesterday, most of those who went in the afternoon departing when the shower came, only to return by another big gathering in the evening. Bathing and boating were especially popular, the limpid waters tempting hundreds to take a refreshing dip, while the various other pastimes received a good deal of patronage from the summer crowd.

The program of the day was a very good one, with the evening rings and the evening show were not only the biggest, but probably the most satisfactory yet given.

The aerial stunts, a man, woman and boy, did a very good stunt on the flying rings and the evening show was rewarded with applause. Yesterday was spent in attending services at the camp grounds and in writing letters and other relaxations from the out-of-town property owners are issuing these notices and that South Omaha property owners as a rule are complying with the permanent sidewalk ordinances.

GREAT CROWD AT KRUG PARK

Balloon Ascension and Parachute Drop a Feature of the Afternoon's Entertainment.

The broad acres enclosed in the surrounding walls of beautiful Krug park were taxed to their limit last night and yesterday afternoon to accommodate the immense crowds which thronged thither on pleasure bent. The attractions were all liberally patronized. Wonderland was taxed to its capacity to entertain all that desired to explore the mysteries of its serpentine mazes.

The roller coasters have lost none of its popularity of former seasons as evidenced by the crowd which rode the wheels. An absolutely perfect and practically ideal balloon ascension and parachute drop were accomplished by Aeronaut Huntley. The balloon reached the highest point to which it has been sent, and something unheard of previously, both balloon and parachute dropped inside the park railing within 100 yards of the starting point.

The Royal Canadian band successfully entertained the thousands with its music, the audience calling for "The Ak-Sar-Ben March" four times.

FIERCE GAME ENDS IN TIE

Omaha and Des Moines Again Unable to Settle in Nine Innings.

SANDERS AND LIEFIELD THE PITCHERS

Work in the Box Magnificent and the Game Full of Exciting Episodes from Start to Finish.

One to one at the end of the ninth inning, when Umpire Schuster called the game because of "darkness," was the finish of a fast and exceedingly interesting game of ball at Vinton Street park Sunday afternoon between Omaha and Des Moines. Sanders and Liefield were the opposing men and both pitched in splendid form all of the way through and had the game been permitted to have gone on there is no telling what the result might have been. Sanders had a little the better of the argument and except in the eighth inning had no fear of a score.

For seven innings the game moved along without any sign of a tally, and Dolan had no resulting tally, but Des Moines broke the tie in the eighth, when Ganley, the first man up, laced out a pretty double to left field. Hogreider drove an easy one to Schipke, who held Ganley at second and caught Hogreider at first. Herman Long, of other days, was next up, and a peculiar combination of circumstances and good base running gave Des Moines the opening score. Ganley started to steal third, when Herman hit the ball to Schipke, who saw he could not catch Ganley at third, so threw it to first, and Herman was out. Ganley never stopped, but kept a-going for home and before Dolan could recover his equilibrium sufficiently from the high throw of Schipke to throw to Goding Ganley was home and he was caught, and Des Moines was one up.

Omaha's One Run.
Schipke started the eighth with a single, but was caught at second on Goding's hit. A neat double from Dolan to Schipke to Shugart to Rosman ended the inning and Omaha's chances. The Chamblers started out in the ninth, but were thrown out in the ninth, and the game continued until the sixth inning, when Dolan, who was being sacrificed to second by Carter, Welch singled to right and Thiel scored the tally that tied the game. Dolan drove a high one to Schipke, making the second out, and Thiel having gone to second on the throw in of his single, Freese was sent in to hit for Henline, but an easy grounder to Rosman was the best that he could do.

When Thiel crossed the plate with the run that tied the game the bleachers were more demonstrative than they have been before this year and cushions were hurled all over the grounds. When the ninth was finished the rain began to fall to some extent and Cantillon came running from the bench and demanded of the umpire that it be stopped because of the rain. This Mr. Schuster refused to do and ordered the players to resume and to play out the tie. When the men were in position Mr. Schuster evidently changed his mind and called the game because of darkness.

Henline's Star Catch.
Henline nailed a short Texas leaguer in the fourth inning from Caffyn's bat, but he was not playing in the right position to get a similar Texas leaguer from the bat of Ganley in the eighth and Ganley went to second on it.

Excitement was taken in no uncertain terms to a couple of Mr. Schuster's decisions. As the game progressed and the crowd became more and more excited, but did not seem to realize that a runner was supposed to get the benefit of the doubt on a close base decision. Twice Cantillon, and each time he decided against the runner, which raised quite a howl from the seats.

Shugart made a phenomenal stop of Thiel's hit in the ninth inning and tried to duplicate his feat the day before, when he caught the runner at first by throwing the ball while still on his knees, but Thiel had hit it too hard and he could not recover sufficiently to execute the maneuver. The man will be away until Saturday. Attendance, 5,000.

Denver Beats Sioux City.
DENVER, June 11.—Denver took the fourth game from Sioux City today by a score of 9 to 2. Although the score would indicate a slow game, the contest was fast and full of interest. Hartnell of the fifth and Randall and Heiden of the sixth and seventh, and the visitors went up in the air and excepting the fact that they were out in the seventh, they made it interesting for Denver's crowd. In the eighth, a Noble woke up the Sox by digging a nasty low liner out of the dirt with one hand. After Hartnell's hit in the fifth, Newlin was pounded all over the field and it is to this that Denver owes the score. Newton of the visitors scored in the seventh on a bunt along third base line, with the aid of Collins' base on balls. Starnagle's single and Baerwald's two-bagger, a single, 2:50. Score:

Columbus and Minneapolis Break Even in Double-Header.

COLUMBUS, June 11.—Columbus and Minneapolis broke even today in a double header. Dornier was a puzzle in the first game and but two Minneapolis players reached second base. Hart, until recently an American association umpire, pitched for Columbus in the second game. The crowd of 12,000 is a record breaker. Score, first game:
