JAPANESE FORCE LEFT WING

Linevitch's Advance Posts Are Driven Back Across the River.

RUSSIAN SHIPS ORDERED FROM SAIGON

Story of Sinking of British Steamer St. Kilda by Russian Auxiliary Cruiser Reaches Singapore.

GUNSHU PASS, Manchuria, June 14—

The Japanese have forced the advance posts of the Russian left beyond the Kiaoche river and are occupying the heights north of the river. A heavy force seems to be behind this movement. Field Marshal Oyama is ready for a general offensive.

Two leaders of Chinese bandits captured at Omoro in the rear of the Russian left have arrived here.

Report from Linevitch.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 14.—In a dispatch to the emperor dated June 12 General Linevitch says the Russians after a fight June 11 occupied the villages of Syfongyong, Chippung and Chakhedai. The same day another detachment approached the mines near Chakhedai. A Japanese company evacuated the mines and retired southwest where it was reinforced by a battalion of Japanese with quick-firing guns.

The Japanese detachment on the Mandchurian road has retired south of Minningyong and the Russian advance posts have resumed their positions at Yandilline pass on the Minlungyong road.

The Liberal paper, Nanshu Shian, without mentioning Rear Admiral Nebogatoff, prints prominently a translation of Daudet's historical sketch of John Byng, the English admiral, who in 1757 was shot on the quarter deck of his own ship for cowardice.

Big Battle is Imminent.

LONDON, June 15.—The Japanese correspondent of the Daily Telegraph at Meiji, Japan, says: "The rainy season has started in Manchuria and the mud in the roads is knee deep, but this will not interfere with military operations, and timing of which may be expected within a few days."

Sinking of the St. Kilda.

SINGAPORE, Straits Settlements, June 14.—The few details obtainable regarding the sinking of the British steamer St. Kilda by the Russian auxiliary cruiser Dnieper show that the St. Kilda was captured by the Dnieper June 4 about 85 miles from Hong Kong, at which port it was last reported. It was sunk by the cruiser on the following day on the ground that it had contraband on board after its crew and mails had been removed.

The cargo of the St. Kilda consisted chiefly of jute, rice and cotton. The Dnieper transferred to the Dutch steamer of the crew of the St. Kilda and the mails belonging to that steamer, but the captain, ten Europeans and the Chinese steward, who had charge of the Chinese portion of the crew of the St. Kilda, were detained on board the Dnieper.

According to statements made by those of the crew of the St. Kilda, who were landed here by the Flores, a prize crew was sent on board the St. Kilda, June 4, and the steamer followed the Dnieper until the morning of June 5. Land was then well out of sight and the prize crew fixed a torpedo to the stern of the St. Kilda and deserted it. The torpedo failed to sink the steamer, so the Dnieper opened fire on it. A dozen shots were fired by the cruiser before the St. Kilda sank.

Hospital Ship Released.

NAGASAKI, June 14.—Nagasaki, the Russian hospital ship Kosztroma, which was captured during the battle of the Sea of Japan, was released today and sailed for Shanghai. The hospital ship Orel, which was captured at the same time, will be taken before the naval prize court at Sasebo for trial.

Russian Ships at Saigon.

SAIGON, Cochinchina, June 14.—The Russian auxiliary cruiser Kuban, anchored off Cape St. James, near here, this morning, and the governor ordered it to depart immediately and dispatched a French warship to enforce the neutrality of these waters.

Twenty-eight of the colliers which supplied the Russian fleet with coal have left Saigon and thirty more of them are preparing to sail. The British steamer Carlisle, which is understood to have on board war munitions intended for the Russians, is detained here under surveillance.

Sinking Causes Comment.

LONDON, June 14.—A considerable stir has been created in shipping circles as a result of the sinking of the British steamer St. Kilda by the Russian auxiliary cruiser Dnieper in the China sea. The Foreign office has been bombarded with telegrams from the owners of the ship and cargo urging that action in the matter be taken. The Foreign office is awaiting details, but in the meantime has drawn the attention of the Russian government to the reports so far received.

ONE LESSON FROM THE JAPS

Range Finders Will Be Placed in Fighting Tops of United States Warships.

INCREASES EFFICIENCY OF BATTERIES

Change Will Enable Officers to Better Locate the Enemy and Give Them Better Control of the Guns.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Orders were received at the New York navy yard today from the Navy department at Washington to remove the guns from the fighting tops of the battleship Alabama.

Orders have been issued also that the guns are not to be replaced on the fighting tops of the battleship Indiana, which is being repaired. It is reported that guns are to be replaced by range-finders, and that similar orders were to be issued regarding other battleships. The news of the victory of Admiral Togo in the Sea of Japan is said to have influenced the decision to put range-finders in place of the one-pounders which have occupied the tops.

The fate of the battle was decided by the superiority of the work of the Japanese gunners, while the ships were still at long range. The department was informed that the aim of the Japanese gunners was due to the efficiency of the men with the range-finders whom the Japanese had placed in the fighting tops, and were thus able to "pick up" the Russian ships at a far greater distance than the Russians could locate the Japanese ships.

Purpose of the Change.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—For some time past the Navy department has had under consideration the expediency of installing range-finders in the fighting tops of the war vessels in place of the one-pound guns which have occupied places there. There is a two-fold purpose in this change. It will give the officers in charge of the range-finders a more comprehensive view and increase the possibility of locating an enemy than is now afforded, and also will enable them to control the batteries with better results than at present. These range-finders are first to be installed in the fighting tops of the Alabama and Indiana, now at the New York yard, and some of the other vessels that are soon expected to arrive there. The change is in the nature of an experiment and its application to all the vessels equipped with fighting tops will depend upon the results achieved in those vessels in which the change is about to be made.

CANADIAN NIGHT AT KRUG PARK

Canucks Hold Lively Session Among the Attractions of the Popular Hilltop Resort.

Canadian night was well observed at Krug Park last evening by a goodly representation of Omaha's Canadian population. The weather was favorable for an outing, and several thousand took advantage of the occasion and enjoyed themselves at the popular resort. The one particular feature of the event was a special program of music by the Royal Canadian band under the leadership of Bandmaster J. M. Finn, who responded liberally with a number of encores. The event was purely an informal one, there being no set program, every one enjoying the day according to inclination. A number of family parties were noticed at luncheon at the tables under the trees. The little folks, and many of the older folks for that matter, visited "Wonderland" and the other at-

MISS LINDHOFF LOSES A HOME

Danish Servant Girl Has a Strange Experience While Walking in Omaha.

Somewhere in Omaha a woman is doing her own cooking or the family is taking its meals out, wondering in the meantime what has happened to the rosy-cheeked Danish girl who has been wont to preside over the cuisine of the establishment. Out at the home of a West Farnam street resident the rosy-cheeked Danish girl is sitting in despair, her feet blistered and her face sunburned as the result of a long walk in the sun, trying to find the home she left Tuesday evening for a stroll.

Harriet Lindhoff has been in America two years, and has made herself generally useful around several households during that time. So well has she attended to her duties that she has not absorbed any very general knowledge of the city, so when she went out to take a walk with a friend, also a servant girl, she did not take any general note of her bearings.

After night had fallen and the twilight decided to return to their respective homes, Harriet discovered that she did not know where to find her home. She told her predicament to her friend, and the two started to hunt the house. They walked until tired out, and then went to the home of the one who knew her way about. Here the night was spent, and Wednesday morning Harriet took up the search again. All day she walked the streets, but all in vain. When the sun went down on his road to Fremont and other western points, she was still homeless. And the worst of it is her wearing apparel is all at the situation whose location she has lost. The situation is also complicated by the fact that, while Harriet is a Dane, her quondam friend is a Swede, and owing to the present strained international situation between Copenhagen and Stockholm, the girl who knows where she lives would rather not have the presence of the other thrust upon her. If anyone has lost a Danish servant girl answering to the name of Harriet Lindhoff, information leading to her recovery may be had at this office.

STREET RAILWAY UNION VOTES

Question of Hours and Wages Under Consideration of a Referendum at Present.

Yesterday the Street Railway Employees' association held an election at Labor temple on questions involving the scale of wages received and the number of hours of work per day. The polls were closed at 9 o'clock and a lively interest was taken in the election by the 50 members of the association. Secretary Michaelson of the association was busy until midnight polling the vote, and was disinclined to give out any information whatever on the subject.

One of the conductors volunteered the information that the vote was to get an expression of the street railway employees as to whether a demand should be made for a uniform scale of 25 cents per hour in place of the present graduated scale of 20, 21 and 22 cents per hour; also whether a request should be made for a uniform nine-hour shift, so far as is practicable, in place of the present system of seven to nine hours. These matters, the conductor said, have been up for discussion during the last few meetings of the association and were placed in the hands of the executive committee for action, yesterday's election being the first action of the committee. It is understood the committee will report the result of yesterday's expression of the employees at the next regular meeting of the association, which will be two weeks hence.

Just what the sentiment of the street car men is on this matter appears to be a hard matter to determine until the result of the election is announced, as the yeas and nays seemed to be well balanced.

Some time ago a committee from the union met General Manager W. A. Smith and asked him what would be the probable result of this question should it be presented to the company, and it is said that Mr. Smith stated positively that the company would not consider such a question at all. This was before the question was formally put before the union, although practically all the members were in favor of the committee waiting on the company, and at the meeting held a week ago it was decided to take a formal vote on the question of putting this before the company, which was done yesterday and last night.

CUPID REUNITES TWO HEARTS

Young Husband and Wife Join Hands Over Their Five Months Old Infant.

Daniel Cupid visited Judge Berka's police court Wednesday morning, whispered softly into the ears of Wesley Williams and his wife, Myrie, 30 and 15 years of age, respectively, and then flew out of the court room window with another feather in his cap.

The little cherub told the young people they had better patch up a truce for the sake of the 5-month-old baby that was cooing in the arms of its grandmother at the side of the troubled husband and wife. When Cupid took his leave the wife walked up to the county attorney and told him she wished to disclaim the complaint of abandonment filed against her husband, as he had begged her to return and promised to be the best man in the world to his wife and baby. Then, with his infant in his arms, and his wife and mother-in-law on either side of him, Williams left the court room to begin life anew.

Mrs. Williams said her husband was away a week before she took any action in the matter. During the week she acted on Williams, who told her to go back to her mother until she was tired of it. When arraigned in police court the man was penitent and asked for a chance to talk the matter over before the trial was called.

Judge Berka issued a capias for Dan Cupid, who came instanter and took the case out of the hands of the county attorney.

Colonel Margetts of the Salvation Army Addresses the Omaha Soldiers.

Members of Omaha's Salvation army were dressed in gala attire last night when they made their usual appearance on the streets, the occasion being the presence of Lieutenant Colonel Margetts, national head of the children's league of the army, who is making a tour of inspection across the country, and who arrived in this city yesterday.

Colonel Margetts addressed a fair-sized congregation at the hall last night and was given a warm and enthusiastic welcome by the local members of the army. In the course of his talk he pointed out the many benefits derived by the children's league, told of his various experiences in conducting the work throughout the country and complimented the members of the Omaha branch highly on their work in organizing the local branch of the league so thoroughly.

Colonel Margetts has been out to the Pacific coast on a tour of inspection and is now on his way home to New York City. A short program was arranged by the children and many interesting numbers, both musical and literary, were presented.

HUMMEL AS A PEACEMAKER

Street Commissioner Settles Dispute Between Truck Gardeners Over Boundary Line.

Street Commissioner Hummel Tuesday preserved the peace of a little farming community at Thirty-seventh and Grover streets, which is on the extreme southwest corner of the city limits. The threatened trouble grew out of the death of one of the truck gardeners to annex a bit of Grover street, twenty feet wide, to his acres of potatoes, corn and vegetables. He built a fence and another farmer nearby was shot out of access to about fifty acres of ground he has under cultivation. Not outside the city limits. The neighbors were aroused and appeals were sent to the South Omaha Authorities for help. A policeman appeared and found out that Grover street was the dividing line between the two cities; further, that South Omaha had allowed its half of the thoroughfare to be converted to private purposes, whereas Omaha had not. He said he had no jurisdiction and went back to his beat. Then Street Commissioner Hummel was appealed to. He took a surveyor from the engineering department to the scene, where he was met by a deputation of interested men and women. The surveyor found out where the street was and how much the ambitious farmer had taken. Thereupon the street commissioner advised the ambitious person, saying briefly that if the fence did not come down instanter he would bring plows and men and horses and devastate the crops of the ambitious one. The latter made a long face, but produced a hammer and demolished the fence. Then the neighborhood went back to its accustomed calm and ordinary pursuits.

Stosberg Claims the Diamond.

Jacob Stosberg, proprietor of the Exposition meat market, says he is the owner of the diamond shirt stud which was found by James Cohen, a 15-year-old boy who was in the employ of Mr. Stosberg at the time he made the find. The meat market man says he did not notice the stone missing until he wanted to wear it last night, and when he looked for the stone found that it was missing. Stosberg then thought of some clothes which he had given to his delivery boy to take to the home of his father, and remembered that he had left the pin in one of the pockets of the vest. Inquiries at the home of his father failed to reveal the pin, and his appearance at the police station resulted. He says that after he missed the pin last night he remembered having seen the item in the papers concerning the boy's find and thought that it was possible his own property had been found by the delivery boy. Captain Moxon of the police department will look after the case today. The pin is still in the hands of the police.
