

CLOSING PROSPEROUS YEAR

Superintendent Davidson Gratified with Work of Public Schools.

GOOD SPIRIT PREVAILS AMONG ALL

Manual Training and Change in Plan of Determining Standing of Pupils Two Innovations Introduced.

It feels that we are closing a most prosperous and progressive year in the public schools," said Superintendent of Instruction Davidson. "Of one thing I am certain, and that is that both teachers and pupils are quitting work for the summer vacation in the best possible frame of mind. It has been my constant endeavor to promote this spirit of good feeling and fellowship in the schools, and I believe it is conducive to the ends for which the public school system is maintained. For every bit of strain and anxiety saved something in the way of real education which makes for the best citizenship is gained."

The schools will be formally dismissed at noon Friday. Thursday and Friday morning will be spent in overhauling books and supplies, making repairs, checking and storing away and the making of final reports and inventories. The real work of the year ended last week and the remaining days used to get things organized for the prompt resumption of work next fall.

Two innovations were introduced in the Omaha schools during the year, which was the first full year of Superintendent Davidson's administration. One was the beginning of manual training work in the grades and the other a change in the plan of determining the standing of pupils and their eligibility for promotion. The latter does away with tests or examinations as important factors in fixing the right of the pupil to advance from class to class and leaves the matter largely to the judgment of the teacher.

Manual Training a Success.

"I think that manual training in the grades has been shown to be a success by the experiment at the Cass school, where two rooms were fitted up with the proper furniture and tools," says the superintendent. "All of the pupils in the grammar grades or from the fifth to the eighth inclusive, took up the work, which consisted of two periods of fifty minutes each per week. A special instructor, Miss Catherine Fox, was installed, and with the valuable cooperation of Miss Simonds, the principal, and the teachers, the experiment seems to have met with the best of results. About 200 pupils were in the classes. The boys and girls were taught to use the tools, to do wood carving, the boys bench work and the girls sewing. Without exception every child displayed great eagerness to participate in the manual training and the effect upon other studies was pronounced. The new department proving a decided stimulus. For several weeks samples of the work accomplished since the department was opened in September have been on exhibition. The classes have been visited by superintendent, principals and teachers from nearly all the cities in the vicinity of Omaha and all have expressed warm approbation. I think the result of the Cass school experiment will be to extend the work to at least one other school next year, probably the Cass, owing to the fact that there are two unoccupied rooms there."

Old Promotion Idea Dead.

"The change in the plan of determining the pupil's standing consists mainly in eliminating the old idea of promotion based upon successfully undergoing certain examinations at the end of the school year or other periods. My experience in school work has taught me that these tests are vital factors in the standing of the pupil are detrimental rather than beneficial, tending to create a strain and nervous tension that is nothing short of deplorable. Under the plan introduced last year the teacher simply estimates twice a year the standard of work which the pupil has attained. For all practical purposes the matter rests with her judgment and she is the person best fitted to know. Tests are not abandoned altogether, but are retained more as a kind of directory element than anything else, as a means for the superintendent to exert his ideas and plans. The old nightmare of final examinations is avoided, the teacher relieved of much work, the necessity for traveling in narrow grooves removed, and the opportunities for purely mechanical education given a blow. The same ideas in this matter prevail more or less among progressive educators all over the country."

With the enrollment and the average attendance in the schools were pretty large than in previous years, but the exact figures have not been compiled.

PLAY AT THE GUILD HALL

St. John's Parishioners See a Pretty Drill and Hear a Pleasant Play.

At Guild hall of St. John's Episcopal church, Twenty-sixth and Franklin, a large audience had the pleasure of witnessing a very cleverly executed drill and a pretty play, given under the direction of Mrs. Louis Caldwell. The drill, which was one of the best numbers on the program, was done by the Misses Anna Hooper, Lilly Lumberg, Mary Penn, Dora Unitt, Ida Proctor, Laura Jamieson, Edna Jamieson, Eliza Carpenter, Marie Donnelly and Ethel Chase. What a beautiful drill! Mrs. Caldwell, a solo was also sung by Mary Penn, Laura Jamieson and Marie Donnelly, which was followed by the play, entitled, "Country Cousins." The cast of which was: Mabel, Miss Dora Unitt; Lillian, Miss Madge Bishop; Clara Dean, her friend, Miss Ida Pixley; Sister Cousin, Miss Ruth Woodburn; Sister Jane, Miss Lulu Watt; French Count, Mr. Cyril Chilton; Father James, Percy Quinn.

Mrs. Bishop played the piano, and the stage was well dressed. The play and drill having met with such success, arrangements will be made to have the same repeated for the benefit of those who failed to gain admission last night.

Just What Everyone Should Do.

Mr. J. T. Barber of Irwinville, Ga., always keeps a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at hand ready for instant use. Attacks of colic, cholera morbus and diarrhoea come on so suddenly that there is no time to hunt a doctor or go to the store for medicine. Mr. Barber says: "I have tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which is one of the best medicines I ever saw. I keep a bottle of it in my room, as I have had several attacks of colic, and it has proved to be the best medicine I ever used."

Omaha Society.

The women of Omaha have their own ideas as to what position they hold in the commercial world as well as in society. Notwithstanding the fact that one of the latest fashions is to just short time ago took them, through the papers, that their work in life was not intended to build up clubs and meeting places to discuss the general topics of the day, nevertheless, they go right on with their good work, educating men along their line of thinking.

Only last week an expert was called to an elegant home in Omaha to treat a hard wood floor that had once been beautiful, but had lost its luster and could no longer be made to look bright. The expert said, "All that is needed is a good coat of wax." The lady remarked, "Is that all? Well, I am going to have you clean it with Gibson's Soap Polish."

"Go right on and ruin it!" Here is where the expert was taught a lesson, for when the work was completed he frankly admitted that he had never seen a floor more beautiful; then he applied his wax and the work was completed. Today he solicits anyone who has a hard wood floor, no matter how old, to give him a chance to make it look as good as new, at an expense of 25 cents an hour for labor.

If there are other ladies in Omaha who desire to have their floors renovated, we will take it upon ourselves to have this man do the work and we will guarantee the floor to look as it did when it was new. If you will call 'phone 1820, we will see that you have the work done promptly. This, however, is not necessary, as anyone can do the work with Gibson's Soap Polish.

PLAN TO TAX REDS' LANDS

Movement to Levy on Indians' Tracts Since Drainage Districts Are Created.

In view of the fact that a drainage district has been created under the United States laws in portions of Richardson county, Nebraska, and Brown county, Kansas, and upon which there are located certain Indian reservation lands, an effort is being made to have the Indian lands taxed so that the Indians may be required to pay their just proportion of the drainage improvement. Petitions have been sent to the Interior department to this effect. The lands in question are to be reclaimed by the drainage improvement, but under the federal laws lands held in severity by the Indians are not taxable.

Senator Millard has referred the matter to the secretary of the Interior and has just received a letter from the Interior department to the effect that the matter will receive early consideration.

Omaha is to have the annual meeting of the Central Shorthorn Breeders' association, February 9 and 10. L. C. The association has a membership of 604. The association embraces the states of the middle west, from the Rocky mountains as far east as Indiana and from Canada to the extreme southern states. It is due much to the tireless work of Mr. Lawson that Omaha secured the meeting, as it was desired by several other cities. The meeting last winter was at Sioux City and 20 members were present.

CONNELL ENTERS DEMURRER

Holds Two Complaints in Howell-Rosewater Case Radically Different.

CAN FIND NOTHING THAT IS LIBELOUS

Judge Day of the District Court Takes Under Advice of Demurrer of the Defendant.

Attorney W. J. Connell, for Edward Rosewater, entered a demurrer to the complaint of the state in the case for alleged criminal libel brought by R. B. Howell. Judge Day heard the arguments of Mr. Connell and County Attorney Slabaugh and took the question under advisement.

At the outset of the hearing Mr. Connell withdrew the plea of guilty, heretofore entered and argued for the sufficiency of the demurrer. Comparing the complaints as they appear, one filed in the county court and an entirely different one in the district court, he questioned the propriety of such a changing of position by the county attorney's office. After reading the three lines alleged to contain the libel Mr. Connell asserted that the complaint based thereon is fatally insufficient. He contended that by no possible twisting of language or distortion of meaning could the printed matter be made to measure up to the innuendo given it by the complainant and by the state in its two complaints.

"There is in the printed article no mention of bribery or of receiving anything," said Mr. Connell. "The strongest word used has an entirely different meaning than the word bribery. It has a meaning that is fixed and well understood by every man. It cannot be contorted into a term of contempt, ridicule or disgrace when applied to the complainant or anybody else."

Citing the decision in the Dietrich case, Mr. Connell said he desired the court to examine it. The court would find, he said, that when Mr. Howell alleges he was libeled as a member of the legislature he was not in fact a member of that body, having not yet been sworn in or taken the oath as such. But, aside from that, he felt sure that examination of the matter complained of and of the two widely differing complaints would convince the court that there is no ground for basing a complaint for libel as set by the state.

County Attorney Slabaugh took the position that the substance of the two complaints is the same. He ignored the totally different language and charges. Anyway, he held the innuendo in the complaint will stand against the demurrer. He held the Dietrich case not in point and cited several authorities to sustain his position that the complaint is sufficient and that the part of the article complained of which is set forth is libelous. Mr. Slabaugh said he desired to submit a brief, and Mr. Connell was willing, if he can see the same in order to reply.
