SHE'S AN ACTOR LADY NOW

and Kimball Would Bather Amuse New York Than Teach Omaha.

BOARD OF EDUCATION RECEIVES A SHOCK

Teacher Absent on Leave Writes Back that She Has a Better Job with Scip Dundy's Hig Show.

miss Maude Kimbali will not teach any nere in the Omaha public schools. She has forsaken the Walnut Hill cars and the quiet ways to the Saratoga school for blackboards for the footlights, the dressing rooms and grease paint. This is the in July. way Miss Kimball communicated the news to the Board of Education:

Kindly accept my resignation as teacher in the Omaha public schools.

I have been playing leading comedienne characters in the New York hippodrome since May 1, 1995, and find it easier to amuse 16,000 people daily than to teach the young to shoot.

After the members had recovered from the shock when the note was read at the meeting of the board last night, they laughed and adopted a resolution to set for the the former school teacher free. Miss Kimball lived most of her life in Omaha, has a widowed mother here, was graduated by the high school and secured a leave of absence a few months ago after teaching several years in the grades. She is described as a woman of much beauty.

Will Certify Taxes in Advance, Upon the recommendation of Attorney Herring, the question of certifying the amount of taxes to be raised by taxation for the year 1906-7 was referred to the finance committee with instructions to report before the third Monday in July. The attorney said that delay until this time would not affect the interests of the board and action was postponed principally so the committee could have plenty of time to make the estimate so far in advance Another recommendation from the at torney was that the board start condemnation proceedings in court to acquire a strip of ground seventeen feet in width adjoining the Kellom school site on the east if a satisfactory proposition for sale is not received immediately from the own The strip lies between the school grounds and Twenty-third street. It 'to wned by the John Horbach estate and for some reason was not conveyed with the rest of the property years ago when th site was bought. About a year ago the strip was fenced off, an entrance thus barred and the school board informed it could have the strip which it had always used for $3,000. The price is considered excessive and the board now proposes to have the land and placed the matter in the hands of the judiciary committee.

Playground at Long Annex. board authorized the purchase of a ot 60x128 adjoining Long Annex school on the east, at Twenty-sixth and Franklin street, from John N. Frenzer for $1,250. The lot is wanted in order to provide playground for the school, something that does not now exist there.

The old Beals school frame building was ordered sold to J. Jorgenson on his bid

Upon the recommendation of the finance mittee the board directed that $100,000 in bonds of 1888, bought back by the district out of the bond redemption fund heretofore, be actually cancelled. Chairman McCague explained that it was considered better business policy to do this than to carry the bonds along in the nature of investments, as the cancellation will make unnecessary the levying of $5,000 annually to pay interest and $10,000 towards the bond HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI DINE tenth of the outstanding indebtedness. In this way the revenues necessary for the district will be cut about $15,000 yearly. Edith Anderson and Maud Smith were placed upon the assigned list of teachers and Margaret Scott upon the assigned list of principals. Manual Training in Grades. Manual training in the grades will be extended to Pacific school next year, according to a resolution adopted by the The work started last year at the Cass school will be duplicated. An instructor will be hired for not more than $50 i month and not to exceed $1,000 spent on equipment, which will be put in during the summer. Pacific school is chosen be cause room is available there. Members Koenig, Rice and McCague were Broadway, and the prosaic desks and appointed as a committee to check the accounts of the custodian, whose office ends Notice was received that the University > of Nebraska had placed the Omaha High school on the accredited list for the years Permission was given the Missouri Val> ley Veterinary association to use the assembly room of the board for a convention June 26 and 27. Eleven Months' Expenditures Annual Bauquet and Business Session of the Association.

LATEST CLASS ADDED TO MEMBERSHIP

Addresses by Graduates from Dmahn School Breathe Sentiments of Loyalty and Encouragement to the Youngsters.

One bundred and three members of the Omaha High School Alumni association sat lown at the annual banquet of that or ganization given at the Millard hotel last night. The spacious banquet hall never looked better, with the tables adorned with arnations and palms, and surrounded by a brilliant array of Omaha's brightest voung people. After the substantial features of the even ing had been disposed Warren S. Hillis of the class of 1901 as toastmaster introduced Allan B. Hamilton of 1901, president of the association, as the first speaker. Mr. Hamliton gave a brief review of the associa tion and spoke of the school days that had past. He welcomed the class of 1905 to membership in the association and be spoke for them the same loyalty to their alma mater that had always distinguished the association. Curtis Lindsay of 1906 responded to the address of welcome, giving assurances of satisfaction felt by the class of 1905 to be enrolled in the association.

Classes of the Past. The responses to the toasts began with Judge Howard Kennedy, jr., of the class of 1885, who responded to the sentiment "The Future." He said that he was not prophet nor the son of a prophet and that he would talk of the backward rather than of the future. He spoke of the class of twenty years ago, which had but twentyone members, and was the first high school class of Omaha, that on its graduation was fitted to enter the higher schools without a preliminary examination. He was glad learn that many of the class of 1906 had decided to enter the higher schools. "As I think of the future and what it has in store for us, I can but realize that the positions we are to occupy must be by our own efforts, and that our hopes of success must all be based upon our own energies. We should never forget what we have enjoyed at the hands of the state and the duty we owe to the state to repay this benefit by becoming upright, honest and useful citizens." Miss Wallace of the class of 1886 re sponded to the sentiment, "The Staff of Life." She advised that teachers and pupils should keep in closer touch with each other, and that through maintaining a personal contact the best of results would but follow.

B. C. Lewis of the class of 1901 responded to the toast, "Education and Life." He $ 1,580.10 said in part: "Education is life. The great problem of life is not what position we shall occupy, but how shall we best do our duty. Give the world a square deal Be honest and steady and live within your means. Your name may not be written high on the scroll of fame, but it can be written in scarlet if your duty is well

> What a Year Teaches. Joseph Swenson of the class of 1904 gave brief review of "A Year's Absence." "Last year when we left the high school we thought we were IT, but we soon found out that upon our departure from school influences we were simply ex-IT." . He spoke of the advantages derived from his association with the Omaha High school, which he thought was one of the best in the country. Upon the conclusion of the addresses a short business session was held and the elected for the ensuing year:

President, Paul Robinson, 1900; vice president. Miss Hazel Crow, 1905; secretary, Joseph Swenson, 1904; treasurer, Rodney ommittee, Ernest Kelley and Miss Bernice Carson, both of the class of 1905.

Following the election the members adand spent an hour in a social dance.

HINSHAW ON NEXT CONGRESS Suggests that One Problem May Solved by Reducing Democrats on Committees.

Congressman Hinshaw was in Omaha yesterday, the first time since congress adjourned last spring. He says he expects that an extra session of congress will be called about a month before the regular time for the convening of the body. This month will be spent in reorganizing the nouse. Mr. Hinshaw recently conversed with Speaker Cannon on the topic, and the latter said it would take quite that length of time to get the new members placed. Mr. Hinshaw has asked that he se taken off the committee on Indian affairs and be given the place left by Burkett on the appropriations committee. He also suggests that, in view of the overwhelming republican majority, the democratic membership on committees be cut down and the places be given to the re-

One hundred members of the local Young Women's Christian association, all self supporting, met in the association rooms in the Paxton block last evening to devise plans for raising the $5,000 still necessar, to complete the $15,000, the purchase price of the property at Seventeenth and St. Mary's avenue, which the association secured last week as the site for its new building. Supper was served at half after o'clock, the tables forming a large triangle that, with the place cards in the same shape, suggested the newly acquired property. An informal session followed the din ner, Miss Edith Baker presiding. Mrs. George Tilden, chairman of the finance committee, explained the purchase and incidentally disclosed some of the work of the committee that has led up to it. She said that what has been mistaken for inactivity on the part of the committee during the last three years has in reality been enforced secrecy because of the enterprise of the owners of desirable lots who immediately raised their price when approached by the committee. She confessed that Mr. Carnegie, Mr. Rockefeller, Miss Gould and a great many others who are reputed to take a substantial interest in such enterprises had been appealed to, but without success, and also that when the present site at last developed as a possibility, she and another member of the com mittee had kept the proposition a secret even from their husbands for a whole week, for fear that other speculators might buy the option before the committee could do so. Then Mrs. W. P. Harford, the association's president, told of the encouragement they had received from local business men, that Guy C. Barton believed in the enterprise to the extent of making a donation of $2,000 toward the lot, this with the funds already on hand leaving but $8,000 still to be raised during the next three months.

Short addresses and suggestions were made by various members regarding what could be done by the business women of the city toward the lot and packages of ten pledge cards were distributed to be placed by the young women among other working women of the city. The card pledges the payment of any sum that its signer can afford, to be paid at any time convenient before September 15. In addition to this the members will do whatever they can to secure subscriptions to the fund. is to be the first effort of the membership, and they believe that their effort will prompt others to aid them. The effort of the Young Men's Christian association for a building was discussed, but, while there is no feeling of rivalry, the women generally feel that their need is as great as that of the young men and with this opportunity to secure so desirable a property it is their duty to make every effort to do

At a joint committee meeting of representatives of the Woman's club, Women's Christian Temperance union and several other women's organizations to be held today, arrangements will be completed for the reception of Susan B. Anthony and the delegation of suffragists who will pass through Omaha Saturday afternoon en route to the annual convention of the American Woman Suffrage association, to be held at Portland, Ore. As the train will stop only about half an hour, the reception at the station will necessarily be very informal, probably scarcely more than a greeting from the local women, although the delegation probably will be given some little souvenir of the city. The delegation will be supplemented by a number of prominent Nebraska suffragists and club women who will attend the convention, among them Mrs. Frank Young of Broken Bow, following officers of the association were president of the Nebraska Suffrage asso-

At the recent yearly meeting of Friends held at Philadelphia the men and women held their conferences apart as usual, but the women sent some good advice to the brothers, which they may in turn pass along. This important duty should not be so exclusively left to the mothers or to others than the

OPENING OF TWENTY-FIFTH

Completion of Street to South Omaha Object of Strong Appeal.

PLEA MADE TO THE CITY COUNCIL omaha Men Who Daily Drive to and from the Magic City Join in the Re-

More than a score of Omaha men who have business headquarters in South Omaha and an equal number of South Omaha citizens who are interested in the new boule vard and park system proposed there appeared before the council in general committee session vesterday afternoon and induced members to agree to the opening of Twenty-fifth street just south of the boulevard. This will give a fourth direct route through between Omaha and South Omaha, the others being Thirteenth, Twenty-fourth and Thirty-second streets. The opening of the street was opposed by the Krug Brewing company, which represented that It wanted to retain the ground necessary for the opening of the street for possible needs

Among the local citizens who drive to South Omaha and back every day and who urged the opening of the street were T. B. McPherson, J. B. Blanchard, Billy Woods, Ed Cahow, Harry Tagg, J. A. Hake and Charles Cowin, all residents of the south part of town.

The South Omaha group was headed by J. H. VanDusen and Maynard Maberry, nembers of the park board there; Andy Gallagher, William Buckley, Jack Walters, J. C. Troutan, John Kiewit and Ike Copennarve. Mr. Van Dusen explained that if Twenty-fifth street were cut through it was the intention of the South Omaha Park board to make a boulevard out of "wenty-nfth street and forbid heavy trafac on it, thus connecting the boulevard systems of the two cities. The condemnation of a piece of ground about 60x60 feet in size, owned by the Krug Brewery company and abutting on the boulevard, is all that is necessary to consummate the plan.

Contentions of Krugs. The Krug people, who are represented by Charles E. Tuttle and Will Krug, contended that when the company donated a great deal of property for the boulevard it was the understanding that no more streets be opened or cut through the large tract used for the brawery. Further, that condemnation of the property and the opening of Twenty-fifth street would make worthless a strip or two of other brewery property, for the occupation of which at some future time plans had been made. In addition, it was pointed out that as the firm owned the property on both sides, it would not be reimbursed for the square that would have to be given up.

On the other hand, the citizens showed they have at present no safe way to drive back and forth from the stock yards and packing houses, owing to ratiroad crossings and the narrowness of Twenty-fourth street and resulting in frightening of horses by street cars. They asserted that the opening of the street was next to imperative to suit their safety and conrenience and presented a petition signed oy ninety-five Omahans who have businesses or jobs in South Omaha who requested the opening of the street.

Carter's Demand Goes Over. The demand of R. B. Carter for $4,310, which he claims due him for extras put in the fire engine house at Eleventh and Jackson streets, for which he was the general contractor, was scheduled for a hearing, but the architects, Fisher & Lawrie, failed to appear, so it was postponed until Tuesday night. Building Inspector Withnell declared not to exceed $420 was due Carter, but the latter made assertions in support of the full amount of his claim. He admitted that he did not have written orders from the architects for the extras and stated he had been abused by "the press and some city officials." Also, that he had lost about everything he had on the job and that the bill, if allowed, would be immediately gobbled up by creditors, and there would be still some accounts against him left unbalanced.

Women and Children Destitute.

Found in a dazed and destitute condition, Mrs. C. W. Jenree, 2506 Sherman avenue, was taken under the protection of the police yesterday evening. Neighbors reported that she, with her two young children, aged 3 years and 18 months, respectively, were alone in their home without food and without the means to secure it. Officer Sullivan called at the house and found this to be the case, the woman and her children being on the verge of starvation. The woman's husband was arrested last Saturday evening on the charge of being drunk and disturbing the peace and he is at present in the city jail. Mrs. Jenree and the baby were given quarters in the matron's department for the night. The woman is believed to be insane. The other child was left under the care of the mother of Mrs. Jenree. For some time the woman has been living apart from her husband, but Saturday evening a temporary reconciliation was effected, only to be broken up by new disagreements. Women and Children Destitute.
