The final and ultimate construction of the constitution is by that instrument entrusted to the court. We have endeavored to discharge the trust thus reposed in the tribunal over which we for a time give expression to its utterances and decrees according to the meaning expressed or arising by necessary implication. In so doing we are unable to escape the conclusion that the legislative enactment in controversy conflicts with several of the provisions of the fundamental law and that the former must give way and be declared without legal force, inoperative that the former must give way and eclared without legal force, inoperative void.

Mrs. Kelley's resolutions have already been adopted by the Consumers' league and will be presented to the coming convention

While every encouragement should be given special means of relief, such as was provided in Mrs. Kelley's resolution, the clubs are requested to study the whole industrial situation of women, not from the outside, as they have been doing, but from the inside, with working women as their teachers. Every state and district federation meeting should have an industrial program, and some of the speakers on the programs should be chosen from the ranks of the workers. Research work should be undertaken in every community. The especial the workers. Research work should be dertaken in every community. The ultimate object of the clubs should be to secure in each state a model employment office law, such as the New York Association for Household Research was able to secure for this state. The clubs were also asked to co-operate in the effort to obtain an investigation by the United States Department of Labor into industrial conditions of women and children. The following circular, submitted to the council for approval, has been sent out to every federated club:

"A movement has been set on foot, mainly through the instrumentality of the Women's Trades Union league, which has for its object an investigation by the United States bureau of labor of women and children in industry, with special reference to the economic and social effect of their employment and its reactionary effect upon the home and domestic life of our country. Miss Jane Addams, Miss Mary E. McDowell of the Chicago University settlement, and Miss Lillian D. Wald of the Nurses' settlement, New York, recently visited Washington for the purpose of consulting President Roosevelt and others in the matter. It was learned that the Department of Labor was

"It was agreed that the only way to secure such an investigation was through pressure brough to bear on congress by organization of women. The industrial committee of the Gengral Federation of Women's Clubs has been asked to make an appeal to the club women throughout the United States to petition congress in behalf of this movement. Let the chairman of the industrial committee in every club where such a committee exists write a letter to the senators of her state and the representative of her district, asking that they vote for the appropriation. Have this letter signed by every member of the club. There is not the least doubt in the world that the petition would be granted.

Announcement was made today of the selection of H. D. B. Parsons of New York, an engineer, to take charge of the investigation of the physical work on the filtration system.

Mr. Parsons has been given authority o pick the men who shall assist him in that investigation, and as soon as his choice shall be made the actual inquiry will begin. It was explained today that Messra E. T. Perine and A. L. Criticism of Police. Director Potter of the Department of Public Safety today severely scored the sergeants of police for what he termed their neglect of duty. He said:

Every day complaints reach me in reference to the conduct of policemen, but there could be no shirking of duty and misconduct on the part of the men if sergeants kept a strict surveillance over the men. Continuing, Director Potter said that he had received information that policemer were seen entering a republican club frequently while on duty. The director said:

I understand that patrolmen know just when to expect the street sergeant on his rounds. They meet him and then almost before he gets out of sight they sneak into the club.

I want it distinctly understood that orders have been issued that policemen resign from all political clubs. This order is still in effect and you will be responsible for its enforcement.

The director said he was informed that a circular had been issued instructing policemen how to evade orders, and he emphatically told them they were to take no instructions from any ward leaders.

Official Report of Wreck. The following official report of the wreck was telegraphed today by Vice President W. C. Brown of the New York Central lines to Fresident W. H. Newman at New York:

Train No. 16, eastbound, passed Mentor at $35 p m., at which time the switches were all set for the main line. No. 20 followed No. 16 tifty minutes behind it and no trains passed Mentor in either direction between the time No. 10 phased there and the arrival of No. 25.

The operator was on the platform, with two men named James Collins and W. M. Leuders, both of whom live in Mentor, when No. 19 passed, after which the operator went into the office and remained until about the time No. 25 was due, when he again went out on the platform and saw No. 25 coming two or three miles away.

The operator says that he looked at the switches were properly set for the main track. He then returned to the office.

If this is correct, between that time and the switches were properly set for the main track. He then returned to the office. If this is correct, between that time and the time No. 26 headed in on the sidetrack someone threw the switch for the sidetrack and locked it in that position.

No. 25 headed in the full length of the train on the house track, the engine leaving the rails about four coach lengths from the switch, crashing into the freight house setting it on fire and turning the engine end for end and telescoping the composite car, which took fire from the burning of the house.

The conductor of No. M immediately examined the switch and called the attention of General Passenger Agent W. J. Lynch of the Big Four, who was on the train, to the fact that it was set and locked for the siderrack and the light extinguished. The switch is not damaged and worked perfectly after the accident. The composite car, which was telescoped by the engine, was burned. No other cars in No. 26's train turned over.

was burned. No other cars in No. 25 ct.

Every possible effort is being made to locate the party who misplaced the switch.

No. 26 was on time and as a matter of fact was running at a slower speed than No. 10 when it passed through Mentor, as No. 10 was late.

The result would have been the same had any other of our through trains encountered this open switch.
