Suburban Resident Tells County Commissioners How to Fix Bridge.

UN AND ROD CLUB WILL GET SOME AID

Field Club Wants County to Stand Full Cost of Gate at Poor Farm Entrance.

Tillie Griffith, residing outside the city limits beyond the St. James orphanage, made a decided hit Saturday morning by appearing personally before the county board to direct its attention to a dangerous bridge over a gully.

eral times a week," said the visitor, and my brother, who lives near by, has been patching that bridge until it will no longer stand patching. The board can remove the bridge entirely if a drain pipe is placed in the bottom of the gully and a small fill is made. There is really no necessity for a bridge there at all." Commissioner Hofeldt questioned the woman as to the location and when this was ascertained it was decided to have the county engineer attend to the repairing or removal of the bridge at once.

Will Give One Hundred.

The board passed a resolution that if the Omaha Field club will erect a substantial gate at the entrance to its grounds at the county poor farm the club will contribute $100 toward the cost. The club wants the county to stand all the cost, about $15, and it is understood will not accept the offer embodied in the resolution. A report from the finance committee was to the effect that, after an examination of the report of the cost of maintaining the office of the county engineer for the last three years, the committee found that the orders of the board for special work were responsible for the large increase in cost. Specifically, the engineer's office was ordered to make a railroad survey and a topographical survey. Outside of this the committee said Mr. Edquist is to be complimented on the economical conduct of his office, he having kept the expense below what it was for the preceding three years. The county judge was authorized to turn

Largest Boat Ever Here.

The three-deck steamer H. C. Gunter, which arrived from Kansas City, Mo., this evening, opened its excursion season this morning with an initial trip to Florence. This boat is the largest that ever plied the Missouri at this point, its length being 107 feet and beam thirty-four feet. The steamer will make up-river trips every afternoon, leaving the Douglas street dock at 2:15 in the evening. The boat will make fifteen-mile trips down the river. The Gunter can comfortably accommodate 600 people and is equipped with 70 life servers. Music and dancing will add to the pleasure of the trips, which will be made every day through the season. The Gunter is owned by E. Baughman of Kansas City and is under the direction of Captain H. N. Dodd, a river navigator of long experience.

NEBRASKA IN ITS PRIME

State's Condition and Prospects Never Were Better, Says Falls City Man.

George W. Spragins, representing the Peerless Stock Remedy company of Falls City, Neb., is stopping at the Murray. He is one of Nebraska's big, healthy, hustling men, so full of enthusiasm for its interests that, when interviewed, he simply bubbled all over the map. He declares that Nebraska's prospects were never so bright and never before attracted so many eastern capitalists. He says the era of the frontiersman is just past and that of steady growth is in full swing. He cites the time when Illinois dragged through just what Nebraska experienced in the early '80s. His most glowing tribute was given to Custer county.

Stockmen of the State.

Farmers are beginning to realize that correct sanitation is the great thing in the production of stock, especially of hogs. "No longer is a hog to be taken for the type of all that is dirty and unclean," he says. "Cholera can be prevented entirely. Eighty-seven per cent of the so-called cholera is nothing but worms and colds among the swine. A well-conditioned hog nowadays must have certain medicines administered in his food to offset the forcing process of feeding and the germs and parasites that fatten up handily upon him. He should have a movable platform to feed from, one that can be washed and dragged about to prevent the accumulation of germs-producing filth underneath. For the same reason the hog lot should have no permanent buildings at all. Moreover, the hog should be washed in a medicated dip to remove the scurf from his hide. "The output of hogs will be greater this year than last."

DISPOSAL TANKS ABOUT DONE

Saddle Creek Sewerage System is Being Rushed Along, Connections Nearly Ready.

The Saddle Creek septic disposal tanks will be completed next week and connections made with the sewers which will drain a large area in West Omaha, or that part west of the direct Missouri river watershed. City Engineer Rosewater wants to have a party of city officers, councilmen and newspaper men inspect the works at an early date. He will explain the improvement both from a technical and layman's standpoint.
