pretty good. There was an improvement to the tone of the market for good cattle over yesterday, and although early reports from eastern points were discouraging they had little effect on trading here and sellers were able to hold prices steady and in some cases more than steady. Buyers were out cases more than steady. Buyers were out early and there was a quite little urgency to the demand, the market being fairly active. On the good kinds the market was a little stronger than yesterday and the stuff was picked up in fair season. On the commoner kinds trading was a little slow and the cattle harder to move, but they brought steady prices. There was only a small supply of cows and helfers on sale and trading was fairly active. Sales of good fat heef cows and fat helfers were fully steady with yesterday's prices, while the commoner kinds were hard to move and sellers had some difficulty in disposing of their holdings at an unchanged level of prices. There was a little better feeling on cows than on the steers and a clearance was made in fair season.

There is a fair demand for good bulls and these, with veal calves and stags, ruled about steady, with prices in the same notches as yesterday.

The supply of stockers and feeders was very light today and trading on these kinds was active. Sales looked stronger and the stuff was bought up in good time. Representations

HOGS-Receipts of hogs have been heavy so far this week and there was another big run today, about 21 cars being on sale. The quality of the receipts was fair, but the offerings consisted largely of heavy weights, which are in poorer domind than the light stuff. Buyers were out early, but discouraging reports from eastern points lent a bear influence to the trade and the market was slow and duit. There was very little done until well along in the foremoon, buyers pounding the market and sellers holding off for more money. There was a weak tone to the trading and most sales were loc lower than yesterday's general market. The bulk of the hogs sold today at $5.200.224, with some light weights bringing $5.25.
