No Business in the Pit and Traders Watch Weather.

LOCAL EXCHANGE ENJOYS HOLIDAY

Rains Are General and Predictions are for Higher Wheat Prices Wednesday - Increase in Receipts Expected.

There was no business in the local grain pit today, the exchange having adjourned Saturday for the Fourth of July holiday, along with all other grain markets of the country. A few traders visited the commission offices to look at the weather buileting and talk with their associates on the prospects for Wednesday's market. Reports were received from various points in the northwest and southwest, announcing rain. Curb trading was common at Minneapolis and wheat went up like on weather conditions. Minneapolis was the only grain center which reported curb trading. The weather predictions and the advance at Minneapolis had the effect of inspiring the local crowd with a buillish feeling, and it is generally predicted that the market will open strong Wednesday. The opposite of this condition was looked for at the close Saturcay, as the indications then were that the weather in the rorthwest would clear. Uneasiness due to this prospect caused the market to close low. Now, if the weather should continue cloudy Theoday, its influence on trading probably will offset that of large receipts of new wheat at Kansas City and St. Louis, if receipts do prove large, and wheat will be up.

The volume of new wheat coming in is small as compared with that of other years in the last, days of June and the first days of July, responsibility being due to rains which delayed harvest. An increased movement, however, is looked for this week, as the harvest is getting pretty well along, and there is an active demand for new wheat at good prices. In Missouri especially, the farmers have not had sond crops for two or three years, and they will hasten their wheat to market to get the ready money which they need. OMAHA, July 3, 1965.

WEATHER IN THE GRAIN BELT Excessive Rains in Kausas and Mis-Souri and Low Barometer Here.

OMAHA, July 3, 1965.
Excessive rains have failen in Kansas and Missouri during the last twenty-four hours and heavy rains were general throughout the Missouri and Mississippt valleys. A very low barometric pressure overlies the central valleys this morning, with its center over eastern Nebraska. This low is accompanied by showers in the upper valley and will probably cause a continuation of showery weather in the central valleys today and tonight, followed by fair weather Tuesday.

The weather Tuesday.

The weather will be slightly cooler in the valleys tonight, followed by rising temperature in the Missouri valley Tuesday.

MONEY MARKET REMAINS STIFF IN TONE

Call for Subscriptions to Western Pacific and for Government Deposits from Banks to Be Met Soon.

NEW YORK, July 3.—There was a burst of animation in the stock market during the Brst hour of trading today which suggested that the much hoped for investment demand for stocks had arrived proroptly with the date for disbursement of July interest and dividends. It is not impossible that it was designed to injure the suggestion on the speculative sentiment. The apparently eager demand had mostly expended itself by the end of the first hour and the bulk of the business for the whole day was done in that and the final hour. This strengthened the impression that the movement was more due to a continuance of the operations designed to improve sentiment than to the actual public demand for investment. Although the new interest in the market proved to be small it did not appear that there was any widespread attempt on the part of the holders to distribute their holdings and take profits. The subsidence of the buying movement after the first hour resulted in only a slight increase in the disposition to self the later market was in accordance with the expectation that the interval between helidays would prove dull and uninteresting.

HOGS—Encouraging reports from eastern points lent a buil influence to trading here and the general market was higher. Light receipts also helped prices from a seller's standpoint and the market ruled strong throughout the forenoon. On the opening trading was a little slow, but after the first round or two buyers and sellers got together and the most of the hogs changed hands in good season. Early bids and sales were 5070-c higher than Saturday's general market. Lightweight hogs were still in the best demand. The bulk of the hogs sold at 35.71455.30, with the long string at the latter price. Tops leached $5.324. As the morning advanced the market eased of somewhat, but the trading was still at an advance of just about a nickel. Representative sales: tive anles:

SHEEP-The advance noted at the close of last week on all kinds of sheep and lambs continued today and there was a good, strong tone to the trade. Buyers were out early and thore was considerable activity displayed. About thirteen cars of good fed and grass sheep were on sale and they were picked up in good season. The trading was all in favor of selling interests and prices ruled generally 150725 higher than the close of last week. Buyers evidently want supplies and seem to be able to handle fairly liberal runs. Four double decks of idaho wethers brought 18 so, while two decks of fed western lambs and yearlings brought 18 and a deck of ninety-nine-pound wethers sold for 18.

A warrant was sworn out before United States Commissioner Anderson Monday the social settlement and neighborhood morning for Roth's arrest and arraignment before the United States civil authorities, as the offense was committed by civilian and does not come within the military Jurisdiction. Deputy Marshal Homan arrived Omaha with the accused man about 5 o'clock Monday evening. Roth was taken before Judge Anderson at once and was committed to the Douglas county jail to await hearing which is set for Wednesday ers and a clearance was made early in the forenoon.

Beef steers ruled generally 10@15c higher than the close of last week. On the good choice kinds some sales looked even higher than this and, on the other hand, some sales looked lower. Common grades did not show this much advance, but were higher and sold early. The market last week advanced on Monday and held steady all the rest of the week, and today there was a good strong feeling and a better demand for cattle than there has been for some time.
