QUICK PITCHES GREAT GAME OF BALL

Dolan and Martin Make Two Errors in Seventh Inning, When Three Runs Are Scored by Sizoo.

All good things have an end, and yesterday saw the end of a fine series, but just an interruption of Quick's winning streak in the home grounds, but nevertheless it was through no fault of Quick's, as he pitched almost perfect ball and had been accorded the support he deserved at the proper time the result would have been different.

There is only one Rube Waddell, and he pitched twenty-five innings in Boston the fourth, and it looked for a time as if the fans at Omaha were to be treated to one of the long ones, but bad errors by Dolan and Martin in the seventh inning permitted the Sioux to score three runs, and that was all that was needed to win the game.

This seventh was a bad one and brought back the old idea of the lucky seventh, but it was not lucky for Omaha. Mr. Hach put in a day's work for the champions at Sioux City, when he shut out the Champions. Not a Sox got a sign of a hit off Quick until this blooming seventh came along, and then but two were registered, and both of these after Quick had become disgusted with the support given him. After this seventh inning the crowd would not be cheered and would not even smile at the funny sayings of the professional peanut vendor that Zimman and Gerke have imported to advertise Dave O'Brien and incidentally to sell few pennants of the "double-jointed" knock-kneed kind.

How it Was Done.

The first man up hit a hard one to Dolan, who made a beautiful stop, and then spoiled it all by a poor throw to first, so that Pulsifer went to second on the play. Weed hit an easy grounder to Martin, and he knocked it just to keep pace with the captain. There were two chances to catch Pulsifer off second and Dolan dropped the ball on the first and Martin dropped it on the second, and he was given two lives with one of which he scored a moment later when Scobitt singled to right.

Two were on bases, one already scored, no one out and the rain gently falling. It looked bad for Brother Quick. Newton was the first out, from Martin to Brown, but Starnagle's single to left brought both Weed and Scobitt home. Starnagle tried to stretch his single into a double and the ball was relayed from Thiel to Goding, who returned it to Dolan in time to nab Starnagle. This was all the scoring that was done. All of the hits for the Sox of the game were made just to keep pace with the captain. H. O'Hara, which, however, counted for naught.

The nearest the Champs came to scoring was in the sixth inning, when Quick led off with a single, was sacrificed to second by Bucky Thiel, and went to third on Carter's out from Newton to Starnagle. Dolan was out by the same route and the hopes of the fans were blasted.

The same teams will play today. Tomorrow Des Moines will be here and the management has decided to invite the women to see Pa's boys trip the leaders in their onward fight. Attendance, 400.

Des Moines Wins at Game.

COLORADO SPRINGS, July 5.—Denver took the last game of the series today, winning out in the seventh. Final score, Denver, 8; Colorado Springs, 1. It was a pretty game for five innings, but in the sixth the Grizzlies started bunting on Heister and two successful ones, added by error and hit by Perrine and Everett, let the Grizzlies in with four runs. Two sensational plays were made during the game, one a phenomenal stop and throw by Eader, and the other Knabe's one-hand jumping catch of a line drive from Siler's bat. The Springs scored first in the second with Mott's hit to left field for a home run. Knabe had another in the fourth on hits by Knabe and Mott and Eader's fumble. In the seventh Heister's error on Knabe and Shirer scored three runs, which tied the score.

Denver pitcher Hartzell scored in the fourth. He singled, took second on an out, third on Eader's hit and scored when Knabe threw wide after making a hard catch off Perrine. The trouble started in earnest in the sixth, when Knabe doubled and scored when Heister threw Hartzell's bat into the bleachers. McGivray beat out a bunt and Heister in an effort to drop one in front of the plate struck out. Perrine hit for two bases and came in with the fourth run on Eader's single. McHale was hit in the seventh and Mott threw wide on Hartzell's grounder, the runner taking second and McHale going to third. McGivray's hot grounder went through Mott, scoring McHale and Scobitt moved each runner up and both scored on Heister's hit. Attendance, 300. Score: 8-1.
