Beef steers constituted the big end of the receipts today and there was some pretty good stuff offered. On the early market there were a few sales made that looked fully steady, but in the main buyers were bearish and wanted to buy the cattle lower. Trading was very slow and dull, and it was well along in the forenoon before anything of consequence was done. Buyers were out early, but took hold with little strength and were not overly anxious for supplies. Bids were unevenly lower, some salesmen calling the market 10c off. Other sales were made at prices that looked fully steady with yesterday, while some chier sales were made at prices that looked fully steady with yesterday, while some cattle changed hands at prices 5910c lower. The general market could best be quoted steady to lower. Big heavy steers were in rather poor demand today and were slow to move.

There was a fairly good string of cows and helfers offered, but there was little life to the trading and the market was slow and dull all through. Salesmen generally were calling the market on these

101 HOGS—Weakness was one of the salient features of the hog market today, buyers being slow to take hold and the general tone of the trading druggy. There was a fairly good run for a Thursday, about 144 loads being on sale. The market was slow in opening and there was little done till well along in the forenoon. Shippers picked up some hogs early at good steady prices, but other buyers were bearish and wanted sellers to take off some on the price. It was a dull market throughout, although after actual trading was once under way the most of the hogs brought about stoady prices. Desirable light and medium weight loads were preferred and were picked up first, as was the case yesterday. The bulk of the hogs sold at $5.254.95.276, with the popular price $5.25.

The trade was prolonged until after middiny, the later market not being as good as the early. The close of the market was not day, the later market not being as good as the early. The close of the market was not only very slow, but the late sales were yesterday were not enough to make a test of the market. There is a good, strong demand here for both sheep and lambs and demand here for both sheep and lambs and cenditions are such that liberal receipts seem to make little change in prices. Buyers were out early today and trading was active. Supplies were wanted and the market ruled stronger. The receipts were of fairly good quairty, with only a few loads of lambs on sale. There are no spring lambs to amount to anything coming to this market at present, but the young stuff received is in even better demand than old received is in even better demand than old sheep.
