that one report said that it had sailed westward in the direction of Livadia, rais- New York magazine publishers, also spokeing the suspicion that it was the intention its crew to combard the emperor's summer palace. Another rumor was that when the Kniaz Potemkine was last seen it was headed southeast as if bound for the Caucasus littoral. This subsequently was supplemented by a report from Sebastopol 'hat the Kning Potemkine had put into Tuapze, half way to Poti and had been captured in some mysterious fashion by

The torpedo boat destroyer Smeltlivy, manned by a crew of officers and blue jackets, who volunteered to sink the mutineer reached Theodosia several hours after the Kniaz Potemkine had departed and after hurriedly coaling, the Smeltlivy put to sea presumably in pursuit of the rebel battleship.

Reports current today fend to confirm the advices of the Associated Press from Mos-flour sufficient for three weeks. The governor says he supplied the mutineers with because the populace pleaded that only in that way could be save the city from destruction. The governor says that when the torpedo purley the troops fired on them, thirty sailors being killed or wounded. Upon the return of the boats to the battleship the latter instead of exacting vengeance by shelling the city weighed anchor and steamed away.

The governor expressed the opinion that the career of the Kniaz Potemkine will be soon ended. He said that a sailor jumped overboard and swam ashore during the night reports that a state border ing on anarchy exists on board the battleship. There is much drunkenness, the men reeling about the decks, and there are many wounded men in the sick bay. Typhus has broken out on the Kniaz Potemking. Over half the crew, together with petty officers, are in favor of surrendering and throwing themselves on the mercy of authorities, but they are powerless before the mutineers, who had all the arms.

The ringleaders consist of sixty-five sailors and two civilians who came aboard at Odessa. The chief boatswain occupies the admiral's cabin and is virtually in command of the ship, with "Ensign and Quartermaster" Alexieff, the only man on board who is capable of navigating the vessel. Alexieff, according to the sailors' story, is under duress.

It should be noted that the governor's story conflicts with the report of the Associated Press correspondent who visited the Kniaz Potemkine and said everything on board was in ship shape.

Tries to Calm the People The government is seriously trying to calm the country by distributing everywhere copies of Prince Troubetskoy's Zemstvo address, with the emperor's sponse. A million copies have been printed and systematically spread by the provincial governors in the cities and country. Besides, the emperor has personally commisioned Count Ignatioff, who is the head of the religious teleration commission, to tour the country, address the people and pacify them in his name. The count made speech at Elizabeth today to a large assemblage consisting of provincial functionaries, zemstvoists, land owners and mer-

Outside the depot the Indian band from Carlisle school was in waiting and fell into line immediately before the president's carriage. In the carriage with the president rode Governor Edward C. Stokes of New Jer-, sey. A military escort, consisting of the Second troop of cavalry, under Captain Edward Field and the Third regiment, commanded by Captain John Matcher, accompanied the carriage. As the carriage turned into Main street it passed a wagon filled with negroes, who began to cheer out by the Chippewa Lumber and Boom In response the president waved his hand company under Kenneth McLeod to break at the delighted negroes. When the president entered the auditorium thousands mounted chairs and cheered him.

The President's Address. As soon as quiet had been restored he began to speak. He said:

The other twelve, however, were carried the National Educational association; for swiftly away into the wild rapids, where the boat capsized, throwing all into the water. BIG DEAL AT LOS ANGELES

Henry E. Huntington Buys Holdings of Redondo Improvement Company on the Beach.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 7.—A large deal in beach properly has been consummated, it is said, whereby for a consideration, which is not made public, but which is known to amount into the hundreds of thousands of dollars, Henry E. Huntington has purchased outright the holdings of the Redondo Improvement company, the corporation which established the beach than the fact of a company that the corporation which established the beach than the fact of a company that the corporation which established the beach than the fact of a company that the corporation which established the beach than the fact of a company that the corporation which established the beach than the fact of a company the corporation which established the beach than the fact of a country is under heavy obligations to such a body as this, which substitutes for the ideal of accumulating money the infinitely loftier, nonmaterial-istic ideal of devotion to work worth doing simply for that work's sake. I do not in the least underestimate the need of having material prospective as the basis of our civilization does not build a lofty superstructure on this basis we can never rank among the really great peoples. A certain amount of money is of course a necessary thing, as much for the nation as for the individual; and there are few movements in which I more thoroughly believe than in the movement to secure better remuneration for our teachers. But, after all, the service you render is incalculated to the service y Character More Than Coin.

To furnish in your lives such a realized high ideal is to do a great service to the country. The chief harm done by the men of swollen fortune to the community is not the harm that the demagogue is apt to depict as springing from their actions, but the fact that their success sets up a falso ment company consists of 1,000 acres and nearly the entire holding remains intact.

Redondo is situated eighteen miles from Los Angeles and has two electric and one steam railroad to that city.

Opportunity of the Teacher. Opportunity of the Teacher.

This failure must be remedied in large part by the actions of you and your fellow teachers, rour fellow educators throughout this land. By your lives, no less than by your teachings, you show that while you regard wealth as a good thing, you regard other things as still better. It is absolutely necessary to earn a certain amount of money; it is a man's first duty to those dependent upon him to earn enough for their support, but after a certain point
