REAL ESTATE RAISE STANDS

Assessors Must Add Amount Tacked on by State Board Last Year.

PLANS FOR LIGHTING THE STATE HOUSE

Former Supreme Justice Amasa Cobb Laid to Final Rest in the Lincoln Cemetery—Pollard Tours Lancaster.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, July 11.—(Special.)—County assessors in those counties whose valuation was increased by the State Board of Equalization last year will be compelled to return to the state board this year their real estate at the valuation fixed by the state board last year. That is they must take their own valuation of last year and add the increase made by the state board for the real estate valuation of this year. Some counties have not done this, but the secretary of the board will do it for them.

The taking of assessors' figures on real estate for last year instead of the figures of the board makes quite a difference in the total assessment. In Johnson county the difference is $113,117.70, while in Nebraska county the difference is $18,923.10, which amounts the secretary of the board to add to the valuation of the two counties.

Plan to Light State House.

The State Board of Public Lands and Buildings met this morning and discussed whether to put in a gas plant at the state house or run wires from the penitentiary and light the building with electricity. With the engines and material this could easily be done, said a member of the board, and at little cost, as the wiring has already been done as far as in the Home for the Friendless. The board reached no conclusion, however, but will investigate further before doing anything.

Endorse One Voting Machine.

The commission appointed to pass on the voting machines used in the election of two hours' arduous labor several days ago to Secretary of State Galusha. The board, following the provisions of the law, said it carefully examined the machine made by the United States Standard Voting Machine company and that it came up to the requirements of the law. Other machines, however, are not barred, as the board will pass upon any and all those owners dig up $40 to pay the expenses of the commission. Hereafter the board will do its examining in Omaha and thus save the expense of the trip to Lincoln.

Plans for University Buildings.

Director F. O. Williams and Cobb, at one time a member of the supreme court, at this state and for years prominent in the affairs of the state, were interred at Wyuka cemetery this afternoon after services at the Holy Trinity church, conducted by Rev. Francis W. Johnson.

Pollard Tours Lancaster.

Ernest M. Pollard, republican nominee for congress, is spending the week at Lancaster, county, where he will be at a rally at Havelock Monday night, at which Pollard and Senator Burkett will deliver speeches. Today Mr. Pollard has been meeting the people of Lincoln and tomorrow and the rest of the week he and Gus Hyers, county committee man, will tour the county in an automobile, visiting the towns and as many parts of the country districts as possible.

Supreme Court Possibilities.

In state politics less interest has been shown since Judge R. Duffie, now a supreme court commissioner, has expressed a desire to have the Douglas county delegation to the republican state convention and former Judge Dickinson is considering making the same request. There has been talk, too, of giving the delegation to either Judge or Judge Duffie.

Colfax County Officials Restrained from Settling with Contractor.

SCHUYLER, Neb., July 11.—(Special.)—Upon application of J. A. Grimmon and Harry E. Phelps in the interests of taxpayers in Colfax county Judge Wells issued a temporary order restraining the Board of County Commissioners from allowing the claim of Charles G. Shesley for building the Platte river bridge last year, the county clerk from drawing the warrant and the county treasurer from registering or paying the warrant.

The claim is for some $30,000. The plaintiffs allege that the contract entered into with Shesley was fraudulent, collusive and unlawful; that there was no levy made for the emergency and that the price was excessive.

The bridge was built last fall, but went out early this spring during the breaking up of the ice in the Platte river.

INQUIRY INTO PRIMARY LAW

As Political Campaign Approaches Politicians Become Anxious of New Rules.

STATUTE MAY SOON BE TESTED IN COURT

New Candidates Are Appearing on the Horizon for State and County Offices as Time Progresses.

As interest in local politics is picking up, the politicians are becoming more inquisitive as to the requirements of the new primary law under which nominations are expected to be made this fall. So far as the prospective candidates are concerned, what they most want to know is how much time they have to go through the preliminary forms.

The new primary law fixes the date of the primary on the Tuesday, seven weeks preceding election, which, this year, is Tuesday, September 12.

The law furthermore provides that the county clerk shall give public notice of the coming primary and of the offices to be filled at the election sixty days previous to the primary, which this year will be July 20.

After the county clerk's proclamation shall have been issued the candidates still have thirty days in which to file their declarations of purpose and pay the filing fees which makes the limit this year August 18.

After once the candidate has filed his application to go on the official ballot there is no way of withdrawing, as it is a criminal offense either to become a candidate at the primaries or to withdraw a candidacy for a consideration of any money or valuable thing, and the consideration would have to be pretty big to tempt anyone to risk the penalty of fine and imprisonment.

Whether the new primary law will hold good in another question, and a question which is likely soon to be precipitated, the new law purports to prescribe the only method by which a political party can put its candidates in nomination, setting them to go on the official ballot for the regular election. The socialists of this county, in disregard of the law, have issued a call for a county convention to meet August 1, next, to nominate a county ticket to represent their party.

Many new candidates are being groomed for office in different county offices in addition to those already mentioned in The Bee. It is pretty well settled that John McDonald, who was sheriff for two terms previous to the advent of Sheriff Power, again will be a candidate, with special backing of the Pontanville club. The loss of the Pontanville support, too, is said to have snuffed out the ambitions of Jim Allan to run again in vindication of his defeat last time.

Chief of Police Briggs of South Omaha also would like to be the republican nominee for sheriff, and if he comes out will have the South Omaha contingent behind him. George E. Roberts, employed in the city engineer's office, expects to contest with County Surveyor Edquist for the place now held by the latter, and for coroner there Judge R. Duffie.

Conferences held by the remnant of the Pontanville club indicate that it will undertake to put up a complete slate for all offices to be voted on at the republican primaries.

In state politics less interest has been shown since Judge R. Duffie, now a supreme court commissioner, has expressed a desire to have the Douglas county delegation to the republican state convention and former Judge Dickinson is considering making the same request.
