CORPORATION SERVANT NOT FREE AGENT

Dr. Newman Hall Burdick Preaches on the Helpfulness of Jesus as Exemplified in the Lives of Men.

"Was Jesus tempted when on earth as men are today?" asked Rev. George W. Isham, presiding elder of the Beatrice dis-Isham, presiding elder of the Beatrice dis-trict in his sermon at the First Methodist church Sunday morning. "Among the temptations that assail men today are those that come to a man in the service those that corporation. He is master of poration employs him and no other. "Was Christ ever so tempted on earth?"

I think He was. I think He west through exactly the same forms of temptation that exist today. I believe His greatest temptations came, not in fighting the evil within Himself, but regarding His responsibilities and obligations to other men. It was not one wife and several children He was concerned with. He had the pressure of the whole human family upon His great, divine heart. Satan pointed out how easy it would be to seem to gain His cause by turning stone into bread for the people who were rushing to Ceasar for free wheat. But His memorable answer was that men do not live by bread alone. The world cannot be saved by eating.

"Satan urged Him to destroy the eminut and the monotony of life by giving wisdom and revealing the marvels of the supernatural so as to dazgle and enrapture all. But the Master knew human mind and knew this was not the way to salvation. He might have solved all the social, political and industrial problems—labor, classes, caste—but Me knew that this would not reach the needs of the world He had come to save; that He must take up the lot of the common man and bear his burdens and share his sweat.

"Three cheap and earthly methods, these compromises with expediency, would not reach the needs of the world He had come to save; that He must take up the lot of the common man and bear his burdens and share his sweat.

"There is scare need of demonstrating what Christ has done for man. The one great comforting assurance of the universe loves man. In return for this love we can do no more than as advised by the motor of the proper is a common man. Inceturn for this love we can do no more than as advised by the can do no more than as advised by the more common and the world return for this love we can do no more than as advised by the man and the world return for this love we can do no more than as advised by the man as advised by the man and the world return for this love we can do no more than as advised by the man as advised by the man as advised by the

LORD'S HELPFULNESS IS CONSTANT Rev. Dr. Burdick Dwells on Power of Christ's Aid. Rev. Newman Hall Burdick of the ond Presbyterian church morning from the text: "Hitherto the Lord hath helped us," from I Samuel 7:xii. theme was chosen in view of this being the second anniversary of his pastorate of this church. Prior to beginning his sermon he extended, on behalf of the Young Men's Christian association, the thanks of that organization for the part the members of the Second Presbyterian church took in raising the $100,000 fund required for the construction of the new building for the association. Dr. Burdick said in part:

'Hitherto the Lord hath helped us. Samuel led his people to sanctify themselves to atone for the great evil that they had done. The Philistines came against the children of Israel and were defeated and Israel was delivered out of their hands. It was God who furnished them with the power to accomplish their atonement. When people turn to God, God helps them. When tempted, look to the stone Ebenezer, the moriai of God's help, and He will help you. If we have been the means of turning a soul to Christ it is because God hath helped us. If you have been trained to do any one thing better than another it is because God has been your helper.

"You are either for or against God. To discount God's help invites disaster. We not fathom the depth or meaning of God's grace and help and its necessity in all our undertakings. We must put our strength in Him. The Philistines come to overwhelm us at that psychological moment when we most need God's help. Had Israel always kept the stone of Ebenezer visible before them and face to face with them, the history of Israel would have been, vastly different today.

"God bids you do more and more to win souls to Christ. Pick up some poor, discouraged outcast and bring him to the cross. What joy it will be in heaven when some one comes to you and says: 'If it He was 35 years of age and is survived by had not been for you I would not be here.' There is no higher ambition in this world than that you should be the means of bringing souls to Christ,"

REJOICING OVER VICTORY WON Young Men's Christian Association of Omaha Mightily Pleased and Elated.

A meeting of general rejoicing was held at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian association. There were no set addresses, but all hands participated in the expression that a most signal step in advance had een achieved. Those immediately conflucting the meeting were State Secretary Hailey and Mr. Willis, the former local secretary in Omaha. Charles Mayne of Linsoin and E. C. Ward, international secretary, also took active part in the service,

Fort Meade,

Great interest is now being taken in base ball. On Thursday, July 8, the Belle Fourche team arrived and in the afternoon played a practice game with the Fort Meade team, which had to be called on account of rain with the Belle Fourche team in the lead. But the two scheduled games between the two teams were played on Friday afternoon, July 7, when the first game was won by Belle Feurche with a score of 4 to 2. Fort Meade, however, did some hard playing, H. W. V. Carter plitching both games and succeeded in winning the second game with a score of 5 to 3.

Sunday morning, July 9, a postponed game was played between "F" and "C" troops, ending with a score of 21 to 7 in favor of "C" troop. The afternoon of the same day "A" troop defeated "H" troop with a score of 12 to 5, and the staff team won a hard fought game with "D" troop with a score of 8 to 4.

Friday evening, July 7, the regular officers' hop was held in the Post hall. A great many were there and a most delightful evening was spent by all. The same evening Colonel and Mrs. Stanton, Major and Mrs. Cheever, Mrs. Parham, Lieutenant W. O. Reed and Dr. Siler dined with Major and Mrs. Hunter.

Sunday over 800 Indians arrived on the reservation on their way back to Montana from Rapid City, where there was a large meeting of Indians on the Fourth of July. The Indians established quite a camp and gave several dances and remained until Thursday morning when they broke camp and started on the rest of their journey. They were chiefly Sloux and Cheyennas.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Furlong save a card party in honor of Mrs. Turner, sr., to which all of the ladies of the garrison were invited.

Wednesday evening the foldiers gave a dance in the Post gymnasium and a very pleasant time was spent by all.

FORMER OMAHA MAN Frank H. Jones, for Sixteen Years with the Burlington, Dies at Hinadale, Near Chicago.

Frank H. Jones, who lived nearly all his ife in Omaha and who was well known in local railroad circles, died last Thursday at his home in Hinsdale, near Chicago. He worked up to within one day of his death. a wife and two children.

For sixteen years Mr. Jones was connected with the office of freight and ticket accounts at Burlington headquarters, this city. He worked his way up in Omaha from a mental position to place of responsibility and trust. About four years ago he was appointed chief clerk to T. R. Board, then auditor of the Keokuk & Western, with offices at Keokuk. When the Keokuk & Western was absorbed by the Burlington he was offered the position of chief clerk to the auditur of passenger accounts of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad.

Frank H. Jones was a tireless worker. He devised a system of working up railroad statistics, which system was adopted by the Burifington lines a few years ago, and which won for him considerable favor at the hands of the officials of the road.

Judge Tucker Considers Republican Campaign Already Won.

VOTERS DISCOUNTING DEMOCRATIC DECEIT

Well Known Jurist While on a Visit in Omaha Tells of an Incident that Illustrates Feeling of Electorate.

A little incident occurred in one of the big department stores Saturday morning ple. A short, thickset, genteel, but forceful and determined looking man was pacing backward and forward along one of the aisles evidently waiting for some women nearby making the customary examination at the embroidery counter. For sometime the pace was measured and his demeanor 'ain't you most through" sort of a way,

The intervals of stopping and looking round shortened and his manner grew more restless as time passed, but the women heeded him not. When these pauses were getting painfully close together bystanders were inquiring "who is that gentleman?" They did not have to wait long, however, for a tall, dignified and businesslike man came fato the store and in an informal way grasped the hand of Judge Tucker and shook it with all the cordiality and warmth of school-boy days, and proceeded at once to inquire about his health, about Arizona and his experience upon the bench as associate supreme justice territorial and United States judge, and also about affairs down in Richardson county, his old home before going to Arigona Finally the conversation drifted into politics down in the First district, where the republicans are electing a successor to Senator Burkett.

No Real Fight in First, "Oh," said Judge Tucker, "I have only made a few speeches and each time I felt that I was doing myself and also my hearers a wrong by taking up their time and also using my own to no purpose. There is no fight there. I can best illustrate the situation by stating a little incident that occurred at the place where I made my last speech. One of the traveling men for Brown-Doolittle-Windy-Democracy & Co. was stopping at the same happened to be there and the conversation finally drifted to congressman. The democrat was telling what a good fellow this man Brown was, how able, and what Washington; and about the rottenness of the republican party. One old farmer, and said: 'Now, look here, young feller, city, you need not think that you can stuff any of that air nonsense down us because on and sent a democrat to the national which gives meaning and sense to the things of life and is the broad, cooling pillow on which we may lay our weary heads."

Washington, D. C., visited this post on July 14. A review was given in honor of imental drill, which was followed by a regimental drill.

It busted higher 'n Gilderoy's kite, and I've never seen a cent of it since; I think that bank is still demogratic. I had to indefinitely postpone the buying business and sell wheat at 25 cents a bushel to live and try and pay off the rest of that air mortgage, and it was not paid out when McKinley was elected. Gee, what four years I did put in! Regular, good old democratic times. " The very next year after McKinley was elected I lifted the mortgage and have since bought the quarter, but I had to pay like smoke for it. I'll tell ye, stranger, democratic prosperity is all right, if you have got the money and want to buy land and are dead sure that the republicans are coming right in, but that is the only thing on earth that I know that

"That, says Judge Tucker, I think fairly illustrates the condition in our congres inal district."

OUR LETTER BOX

Complaint is of Misleading Name. OMAHA, Neb., July 14.-To the Editor of The Bee: In your paper of yesterday 'American Citizen" asks if the Young den's Christian association is a proscriptive ociety, and asks this question because of my letter to you. To me, at least, your note to the above question is not very clear. My objection to your appeal to all classes and creeds to help the Young Men's Christian association is that it is nisleading and calculated to deceive many. The name of the association would make it appear as if all Christian young men, no matter what particular Christian creed they might profess-Catholic or Protestant -were equally eligible to all the rights and privileges of the association. I creditably informed that such is not the case; that Catholics, as such, are debarred full privileges, and that only Evangelical Protestants can enjoy all the privileges that of one lost in deep thought, but oc- of the association. Are not Catholics casionally he would pause and look in the Christians? We think they are. Why, direction of the women in a kind of an then, debar them? Why then not call it "The Protestant Young Men's Christian association?" Surely, then, I would not and could not complain. The association would be known by its proper name and no one could reasonably be deceived.

There is no parity between Catholic institutions and the Young Men's Christian association. My friend "American Citigen" says some of the teachings of the Roman Catholic church are very narrow. Which ones? I fear that he, like many others, got his notion of Catholic teaching not from the church, but from its ene-J. T. SMITH. St. Patrick's Church.

AT THE PLAY HOUSES

Ferris Stock Company at the Boyd. "Forgiven," a fine melodrama of the old school, with a wealth of human interest in it, was offered twice yesterday at the Boyd theater by the Ferris Stock company, and was very well received both times. The play is well put on and splendidly presented by the company. The chief interest centered in the return of Mr. Robert Blaylock to the company. is very pleasantly remembered for his former connection with the company as a capable and conscientious actor, who brings to his work a mind that is naturally adapted for his profession and which has been broadened and matured by experience. He grasps intuitively the cen trai point of the role he is to enact and builds up his character around that, producing a most convincing whole. In the part of Jack Diamond, the hero of "Forgiven," he gives a most satisfying in terpretation of a part that could easily be spoiled by indifference or overacting. Miss Pavey is very well situated as Anna Dennison, afterwards the wife of Diamond and with Mr. Blaylock gives one of the best performances the company has yet offered. The others in the cast work with unusual seal, and the result is one that merits full praise, "Forgiven" will be the bill until after Wednesday night, with a matinee on Wednesday.

Small Coin.

During a quarrel in a saloon at Twelfth and Nicholas streets about noon Sunday, Charles Moore, colored, living at Thirteenth and Chicago street, was severely stabbed on the left side near the tenth rib by Harry Spencer, also colored.

Spencer and Moore became entangled in a quarrel over the possession of a 10-cent piece and Spencer, becoming angered, drew a knife and began cutting promiscuously He cut Moore only once, the wound bleeding profusely. Police Surgeon Langdon responded to the call for the patrol wagon and stopped the bleeding, after which Dr. Hostetter was called. The injured man was taken to his home, and his wound found to be rather serious. Spencer made his escape, but Moore was able to give a good description of him and it is thought he will be apprehended.
