MAY SERVE IT IN DOUGLAS COUNTY JAIL

Wife to Buy Medicine for Whom Hus band Took Employer's Money Hears Court Prenounce the Sentence.

Harry G. Fink Friday morning was sentenced to six months in the state penitentlary by Judge Redick for the theft of several tickets from the Union Pacific railroad at North Bend. The tickets were disposed of in Omaha, Fink realizing about $16. Fink was sentenced under a statute which is peculiar in some respects. It was passed on demand of the railroads for just such cases as this. A man convicted under it may get as high as ten years in the penitentiary, but no minimum sentence is pro-

When Fink appeared in court to plead guilty County Attorney Slabaugh explained several charges were pending, all for the san's offense. On consideration of the prisoner's willingness to plead guilty he was willing to recommend a sentence of one year, with the possibility of a parole. James P. English, speaking for Fink, called the court's attention to the peculiarity of the statute; also that in Nebraska to be guilty of grand larceny the property taken must be of the value of $35. He said it was clearly within the discretion of the court to impose the shortest sentence possible under the law, which might be one day or one month. Mr. English told the court that Fink had not stolen the tickets to get money to gamble or to drink, but for the purpose of buying medicine for his wife, who is an invalid.

Mrs. Fink was in court and very deeply affected by the position of her husband. Judge Redick questioned the prisoner closely and imposed the sentence to Lincoin. He said he would be willing to recommend to the governor that Fink be allowed to serve his sentence in the Douglas county

BUILDING ON FARNAM STREET

Big Structure to Go Up East of Patterson Block on Corner Seventeenth.

Several retail firms, some of them of Omaha and some from other cities, are negotiating for the erection of a building on the ground directly east of the Patterson building, which is at the corner of Seventeenth and Farnam streets. A building may be put up this fall, but on account of the fact that the season would be very late by the time a deal could be carried through and plans drawn this is not prob-

John L. McCague of the McCague Investment company, which has the rental of the property, said that if a building is not erected this fall one will certainly be put up in the spring. He is in touch with a number of firms which desire to obtain a lease on suitable quarters at this location, and some of them, especially one from another city, is very eager. It is expected that arrangements soon will be made for a building, even though it may not be erected until spring.

The property is sixty-six feet on Farnam street and reaches back 132 feet to the alley. At present it is occupied by several old one-story buildings. It formerly be-

ILER GOES AFTER COUNCIL BEGS FOR POOR RICH MOTHER

Promoter Wants Garbage Barn Moved to Make Room for Big Industry.

Peter E. Her is still trying to get the the mayor and council:

the mayor and council:

I have petitioned your honorable body several times in the past regarding the removal of the garbage barn on the east end of Leavenworth street, and in response to these petitions you have promised that it should be removed. At a committee meeting held last fall Mr. A. B. Hunt was present and agreed to remove this barn, but tried to have me pay $500 for doing so, which I refused to do, as the barn would not bring to exceed $50.

Now if this barn cannot be removed by your honorable body, kindly outline for me it the course which I must pursue to have it done. If Mr. Hunt holds all the improvements in the city in his hands I would like to know it, and if I must see him before Omaha.

I hope your honorable body will look at these matters in the right light and give this matter your immediate attention. It is of great interest to the city to get factories located here and you cannot do too much to aid in getting them into Omaha, which is necessary in order to build up a great city.

$400 PIANO GIVEN AWAY.

Miss Mary Mikesell of 100 Scott St., Council Bluffs, the Lucky Person. When the Schmoller & Mueller Piano Co. adopted their one-price system, they introduced a unique plan of advertising which has brought them splendid results The idea was to give away a Steger plane absolutely free. This scheme was consummated Thursday evening, when Miss Mary Mikesell was awarded the plane, the winning number being 2,999. The conditions under which the instru-nent was given away were as follows: Any one who was not already the owner of a plane was entitled to go to the store and register his, or her name and address, for which a number was received. The company retained a duplicate of each No one who was connected with the firm in any way was permitted to register. Only one registration vas allowed to a family. The method by which the drawing was conducted was one which could not be otherwise than emi-

Mr. Ernest James of The Omaha Bee had charge of the drawing and was assisted by Mr. H. B. Randall, 209 North oth St., and Mr. J. Edward Keys, 1714 Douglas St.

Miss Stella Barker, a 10-year-old girl who came to the store with her father, was chosen to select the numbers from a box, which contained all the duplicate numbers. The plan was to make the thirteenth number drawn from the box the

There were four additional numbers drawn, so that in case the person holding he thirteenth number was not eligible, acording to the rules, the first of the folowing four, if eligible, would be the win-This precaution was taken in order avoid another drawing.

Regardless of the fact that little Miss Barker were a blindfold, she succeeded n drawing the duplicate of her father's umber on the fifteenth trial Mr. H. B. Randall, who assisted in conducting the drawing, had a very narrow escape, as before the plan was decided upon definitely, it was talked of making the eleventh number the lucky one, and Mr. Randall's amber was the eleventh number drawn. There was positively no consideration reafred. This piano was awarded to the lucky person absolutely free.

FARMERS TO JOIN WORRALL

WANT NORRIS BROWN TO INSTITUTE SUIT

Ex-State Scuntor Brady Co-Operates with His Old-Time Ally in-Politics to Down Alleged Combine.

Parmers all over the state are beginning o get interested in Tom Worrall's suit to break up the alleged grain trust and reports have reached Omaha that they are pre paring in various sections for a united effort to take up the matter themselves. It is said that a number of petitions are in circulation among grain producers de-manding that Attorney General Norris Brown institute action under the anti-trus laws against the Nebraska Grain Dealers' association and its members. These petitions are to be presented to the attorney general within a short time. The latter already has copies of nearly all the papers and some, if not all, the testimony taken in the Worrall case. This information was not given out by Mr. Worrall or his lawyers, but was brought to Omaha by a man who has been out over the state doing business with the farmers. Brady Joins Worrall.

Mr. Worrall, however, has received a letter from ex-State Senator James T. Brudy of Albion, secretary of the Farmers' Co Operative Grain and Live Stock State association, the fusionist who introduced an elevator bill in the 1900 legislature, in which he pledges the support of the organization to Worrall in his fight on members of the association and states that the board of directors, composed of J. S. Canady of Minden, D. J. Gates of Albion, D. W. Baker of Benedict, H. H. Hanks of Nebraska City, L. S. Deets of Kearney, Jacob Ehlers of Gretna and James T. Brady, have held several meetings to discuss the subject. Information came by telephone Friday morning that the board had decided to assess a fund of $10,000 and perhaps $20,000 on its members to take up the fight against the association. Resolutions were passed taking a stand on the matter and it was stated that these resolutions and the proeedings of the meeting at Minden July 17 will be given to the principal newspapers of the state. The farmers' association was organized in 1903 and claims to have something over 4,000 members scattered all over the agricultural sections of the state. Its ostensible object is to protect the producer against monopolies in the markets for his goods and to keep alive competition, among merchants and receivers and prevent trusts and combinations. The organization at present is made up of 103 locals, thirty of these locals comprising elevator associations, each of which owns and operates an independent elevator. J. S. Candy is president of the association; L. S. Deets, vice president; James T. Brady, secretary, and O. G. Smith of Kearney treasurer.

Judge Munger's Position. Mr. Worrall's lawyers have not made uch progress in the federal courts toward getting their case remanded to the state district court. It is reported that Judge Munger of the federal bench will refuse to hear the case, because he is a brotherin-law of Mr. Fowler of the Nye-Schneider-Fowler Grain company, having married Fowler's sister, and, in addition, is a stockholder in this company, which is one of the defendants.

yet whether they want, a criminal or civil prosecution against the association. There is some talk of demanding $500,000 damages. about grain dealers. Penalties for violations of the law for officers, agents, etc. of corporations involved are fines ranging from $1,000 to $5,000 and imprisonment in the penitentiary from one to two years.

The Worrall fight has progressed far enough to cause certain of Mr. Worrall's enemies to suggest that it may some day furnish the basis for a political fight in Nebraska. Mr. Worrall himself is an orig inal Bryan democrat and his friend Brady from Albion is an original populist, who also has supported Mr. Bryan in season and out of season. While the Worrall people persistently deny the allegation that polities has anything to do with this affair and for proof of their contentions cite the fact that both their attorneys, A. W. Jefferis and F. S. Howell, are prominent republicans, they have some critics who are skeptical enough to adhere to the political.

NEELY NOT FOR THE NEW PLAN

Believes Mutualization is Superior to Stockholders' Control, as Advocated by Westinghouse.

Henry D. Neely, manager for the Equita ble Life Assurance company for Nebraska, Lake Manawa, a five-minute service has said of the Westinghouse plan for control been put in effect between Omaha and the of the company through 5,000 stockholders: "It may be feasible, but in my judgment it will not do. Stock control is not the thing. We want mutualisation, real mutualization, not by proxy. The stock should be turned into the treasury and the policy olders be allowed to run the company. "Stock control is autocratic. Presidents McCall and McCurdy are absolute autocrats of the great interests of their companies, far more so than was ever the case in the Equitable company. No, sir, stock control, even where $1,000 is paid for $100 shares, is not satisfactory to the people. It all depends on the honesty of the men in control of the stock and there can be no effective supervision if they are dishonest and want to defraud.

"But mutualization will come. There a plan under consideration which believe will work out satisfactorily. It should be in shape for presentation before long, and if it can be adopted we will have a purely mutual company, such as was contemplated when the large companies were organized." $12.50 to St. Paul and Minnenpolis
