urchaser of Tax Title on Y. M. C. A Property Sues the County.

DID NOT KNOW OF THE LEGAL EXEMPTION

ays Three Thousand Dollars for the Title Seven Years Ago, Overlooking Important Point of Law.

Judge Redick of the district court will ave up for consideration today one of he most peculiar suits of its kind ever ried in this county, or probably in any other. The plaintiff is Joseph W. Brewster, who in November, 1898 bought a lax title on the present Young Men's Christian association headquarters. The tax title was bought at public sale, without protest, everybody evidently having overlooked the fact that the property was exempt under the laws of Nebraska.

On a suit brought in the United States court Judge Munger of the federal court declared the tax levy of 1897 void so far as it applied to the Young Men's Christian association property, or that part of the same used for religious and educational purposes. Now Mr. Brewster sues the ounty of Douglas to get back $3,000, approximately, the amount paid for the title when he bought.

Many very nice points of law are raised in this case and it promises to establish precedent. County Attorney Slabaugh is resisting the plaintiff's claim on the broad ground of caveat emptor-"let the purchaser beware"-in other words, that very man has knowledge of the law. Judge Slabaugh holds that Brewster made a voluntary payment, purely, for his own purposes, and must accept the consequences thereof, which in this case means the loss of the money paid.

ARMY OF AGENTS AT OFFICE

Representatives of Typewriters Swoop Down on Assistant Postmaster After Reading The Bee.

Assistant Postmaster Woodard was rather astounded Thursday morning upon his arrival at his office to find a room full of typewriting machine agents lying in wait for him. He was unable to comprehend the situation until several of them approached him with a clipping from The Bee of Wednesday evening announcing the information that Postmaster Palmer, who was in Washington, had secured an order for the purchase of a new typewriter for the Omaha postoffice. Representatives from every typewriting agency in the city were there and each insisted upon extolling the virtues of his special make of machine.

The genial assistant postmaster was overwhelmed and finally compromised on peace basis by securing a protocol until Postmaster Paimer arrived, which, he said confidentially, will be at 6 p. m. Friday, at which time Captain Palmer will be delighted to see all the agents and test their machines. It is probable the machines will be tested in the map room at the top of the federal building. Colonel C. E. Llewellyn probably will be selected as chief testing operator and Major Barrows, Immigrant Agent Mansfield and United States Commissioner Anderson as judges and time keepers.

Forecaster L. A. Welsh has promised good weather for the test. All applications for admission should be made to Watchman Shugart.

New Ordinance for Paving Twenty-Fourth Street is Passed.

VITRIFIED BRICK BLOCK IS CALLED FOR

Bids Will Be Received Up Till August 7, and Work Will Be Dene This Year if Posalble.

A meeting of the city council was held last night and an ordinance was passed creating an improvement and grading district on Twenty-fourth street from A to Q street. At the suggestion of Adkins the city clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for the paving of Twenty-fourth street. Vitrified brick block is to be used. Bids will be received by Clerk Gillin up to p. m. August 7. A certified check for $1,000 must accompany each bid.

An ordinance providing for the issuing f bonds for the paving and grading of Missouri avenue from Thirteenth street to I wenty-fourth street was read for the first time and referred. By the time this rdinance is reported on the city engineer s expected to furnish an accurate estinate of the cost. It is estimated that this improvement will cost about $46,000.

A final agreement was reached about the new fire department headquarters building. The architect has been instructed to draw plans for a two-story brick building to be forty-four feet in width and 100 feet in length. George Dunscombe, cinder sidewalk contractor, filed a bond for $500 and the bond was accepted. Quite a batch of permanent sidewalk ordinances were introduced. There is to be a meeting of the council this afternoon to put the Missouri avenue bond ordinance on second reading. Those having bills against the city are asked to get them in at once, as the fiscal year closes on July 31 Stock Receipts Show Increase,

Three dead ducks, one battle-scarred coster, one morose buildog and the arrest of John Hear is the summary of a battle royal that occurred Thursday morning at Pifteenth and Yates streets between a kennel of dogs owned by Hear and a large assortment of poultry owned by Mrs. Wilson, a neighbor. About 8 a. m. one of the buildogs met one of the ducks on neutral ground and it was at once evident that the reserves would have to be called out. The dog chased the duck onto the Wilson territory and immediately a solid phalanx of ducks rushed for the canine, which made a flank movement for his kennel, with the duck regiment in hot pursuit.

Commanders Both Malmed. At this juncture Hear, who is without a nose, came out of his house, while Mrs. Wilron, who lost one of her legs in a railroad accident, assumed command of her forces. Dogs, ducks, chickens and geese were then ordered to charge. There was an instant rush of bull dogs and poultry A delightful outing and educational treat for common ground. For awhile it was hard with an increase in receipts as compared 28, and it is estimated that $35 will cover for noncombatants to distinguish between dogs and ducks or barks and squawks. The turbulence and din of battle became louder and louder. On a distant kopje several cows ceased their grazing and looked wonderingly at the strange sight. Then a number of humane neighbors cooled the ardor of the belligerents with a tub of ice water. The dogs were pulled away and taken prisoners of war.

"I regret to report the death of three ducks and minor injuries to two roosters," stated Mrs. Wilson to Officer Devereese, in the pacific terms of the immortal Lord Roberts.

One of the Hear dogs sustained slight abrasions in a foot-to-foot encounter with one of Mrs. Wilson's fighting roosters. In police court Friday morning Judge Berka will act as joint peace commissioner and pass on the case, so it will not have to go to The Hague.

Strike in Haney & Co. and Marks Bros.' Establishments Comes to an End.

Trouble between the harness and saddle makers employed by J. H. Haney & Co. and Marks Bros. company, the two largest establishments of the kind in the city, and the proprietors was settled at a conference held yesterday afternoon. The old agreement was signed again, with the incorporation of some minor clauses considered fa-
