

NEW BANK WILL BE OPENED

Registration Is No Longer in Doubt Says Promoter.

JOHN DONELAN OF WEEPING WATER

Banker There Will Manage New Omaha Concern, Which Will Be Distinctly a State Affair.

"The bank will be established and it will be established before very long."

This statement was made by one of Nebraska's prominent and active financiers who is backing the project for a new state bank in Omaha...

"I am not ready yet to give out my name to the public in this connection," said he, "owing to the fact that I have another business project which I wish to pull off in Omaha this fall or winter and I might prejudice those interests if I announced my connection with the proposed bank at this time."

John Donelan of Weeping Water, banker there, is the organizer of the new Omaha bank who interested the financier quoted in the scheme. He will be the active head of the institution. Mr. Donelan is one of the strong business men of Weeping Water and his bank is doing a big business.

Date is Uncertain.

The date of the opening of the Omaha bank is a matter of uncertainty just now, but it is learned that an option has been secured on the first floor of the Barker block, Fifteenth and Farnam streets at a monthly rental of $30. This is regarded as an excellent location for a bank.

"It is the plan to make this distinctly a state bank," said the banker. "We have that is Mr. Donelan has secured the cooperation of some of the strongest bankers in Nebraska and they will become directors. In addition to this eastern capital has been secured and our arrangements generally are in good shape."

"Since the consolidation of the Union, Commercial and United States National banks there is ample room in Omaha for another bank. This will bring the number up to six, whereas it was seven before the consolidation."

FEDERAL BUILDING REPAIRS

Several Improvements Are to Be Made Under Orders from National Capital.

Custodian Barrows has received a long list of improvements and repairs for the federal building, recommended by Chief Structural Engineer Kort Berie of the supervising architect's office and which are ordered made by the supervising architect.

About a month ago Mr. Berie came to Omaha, on request of Custodian Barrows, to inspect the building. It was ascertained that there was a short settling of the structure and a few slight cracks were discovered in the floors and walls, which were easily repaired.

The supervising architect has ordered anchoring the southwest wall at the top over the roof to prevent expansion, using the same methods as were applied in the attic floor in 1899. The court wall is being pushed out of plumb by the rafters and this will be anchored by steel bars and rafters. The copper covering of the roof will be repaired, especially in the valleys and gutters and the down spouts.

The question of painting the new west half of the building is now under consideration by the supervising architect.

The wood panels over the transoms bars of the three east entrance doors are to be removed and replaced with glass transoms, thus materially adding to the light of the main corridor.

On this and other repair matters under contemplation, Custodian Barrows has been directed to prepare and forward proposals for the work to be done.

These improvements will add materially to the appearance of the building, which is one of the finest in the United States. It must not be inferred, however, that the building is on the point of falling down or going to pieces. The settling of the structure is not unexpected when its great weight is taken into consideration, and the poor soil upon which it is built.

TERMS MADE WITH JIM HILL

That is as Much as Homer Line Promoters Will Say of that Settlement.

The report from Sioux City that an agreement had been reached between the Sioux City, Homer & Southern line and the Great Northern, whereby the latter was to have the right unimpaired to cross the Omaha and Winnebago reservations, has been verified at this end of the line.

C. J. O'Connor, treasurer of the Homer company, has made a satisfactory arrangement whereby the Great Northern road is to be permitted to cross without contest on the part of the Homer line. Promoters will not discuss the settlement in detail. The promoters of the Homer line say they have about completed the negotiations for the sale of bonds and that work will be resumed immediately on the line as far as Homer, which was intended originally as the terminal of the line from Sioux City.

COURT SUBPENA A MEMORIAL

Widow of a Former Witness in Police Court Visits Clerk's Office on Queer Errand.

Friday morning an elderly lady, who gave her name as Mrs. Mary Jones, walked timidly up to the opening of the cage in which Les Grier, clerk of the police court, holds the fourth. The woman's husband recently died, leaving a lot of papers. While looking over the documents of her deceased husband the woman came across an old police court subpoena commanding Jones to appear in court as a witness of coal stealing. Jones was in police court about three years ago, the records show. Mrs. Jones wanted the witness fee she thought was forthcoming.

Clerk Grier explained that witnesses in police court are not paid fees. Then Mrs. Jones carefully folded the subpoena and said she would save it in remembrance of her dead husband.
