Would Have Russian Government Sased on Western Ideas, with the Canr's Power Limited by Popular Will.

MOSCOW, July 29.—(Special Cablegram to The Bee.)-The disposition of the Russigns of the educated classes to insist upon the holding of the semstvos. And the disposition of the autocratic and despotic forces in Russia to prevent these gatherings has created a situation as interesting if not more interesting than anything that has been before developed in the history of the

The political ferment which has agitated Russia since the outbreak of the war with Japan has already resulted in the formation two clearly defined parties in favor of reform, one of which may for convenience be termed "conservative," the other "con-stitutional," The former party asserts that upon lines peculiar to the country, while the other maintains that in this stage in the world's history there is only one type of a government possible for a civilized nation. Both of these parties are bitterly opposed to the existing autocratic beaureaucratic regime and agree in believing that some form of national representation is essential to the reorganization and future welfare of Russia. Their differences became apparent during the informal meeting of members of the gemetyos which met in St. Petersburg from November 19 to November 21 of last year. They unanimously acknowledged the necessity of a permanent representative assembly, but differed with regard to the character which it should assume. The majority held that the representatives of the nation should exercise a constitutional check upon the authority of the czar; that the autocracy in short should become a limited monarchy of the western Europe type. The minority, among whom was the president, M. Shipoff, declared themselves to be in favor of maintaining the imperial #### authority in its integrity. Radical Feeling Grows.

During the interval which elapsed between the St. Petersburg meeting and the more formal congress which was held in Moscow from May 5 to May 8, 1905, the attitude of the majority became more decided and uncompromising, so that several members who had been regarded as extremists at St. Petersburg were surprised ber of their colleagues had already outstripped them. This reinforcement of radical feeling was due, no doubt, partly to the impression produced by the unhappy events of January, partly to the encouragement given to political speculation by the imperial rescript of March 3, addressed to the minister of the interior.

Meanwhile the conservative reformers in sympathy with M. Shipoff had also had se to define their attitude more precisely In March the marshals of nobility of twen ty-two provinces met to discuss the czar's rescript and published the results of their deliberations in a special memorandum They pointed out that for the last ten years the general dissatisfaction with the oureaucratic-police regime had been steadily growing, and that "the war had revealed the inadequacy of our political system, while internal disorders have disclosed our civil and spiritual demoralization." After declaring that the czar's re script summons "all friends of law and order, regardless of their political opinion," to join in constructive work for the regeneration of their country, the signatories

In entering upon a new political life we must not close our eyes to the fact that we have before us not only work but conflict. Among those engaged in the public life of the country there is a very considerable group, closely united and strong by virtue of the personality of those who compose it, which looks favorably upon the theories of constitutional government existing in western Europe. There can be no doubt that this group will endeavor to give a strictly constitutional direction to the forthcoming political reforms. This tendency must in our opinion be resisted. We do not believe that the existence of forms of government familiar to western Europe excludes the possibility of all other forms. There is no reason to suppose that the creative power of nations has said its last word in the matter of political organization.

Russia Must Solve Problems. Russia's weakness to attain his ambition, Rusaia Must Solve Problems.

We affirm that the greatest empire in the world can and must work out an independent form of government, intimately bound up with the peculiar conditions, spiritual, social, geographical and other forms of its existence. We assert that no form of government can be permanent which does not closely correspond with the life and thought of the bulk of the population. We declare emphatically that only the autocracy, supported by the active co-operation of representatives of the nation, is capable of satisfying the needs of the many races represented in the Russian empire, and of its many interests and classes, the peasantry above all. The representatives of the nation referred to in the imperial rescript must be the medium through which the car is brought into immediate contact with the thought of the nation and with public opinion. They must not limit his autocratic power after the model of the constitutional forms of government. They must put an end to the arbitrary procedure of government officials, by faithfully informing the monarch of the pressing needs of the people and the country. In addition to the right of discussing all proposed laws elaborated in the ministries the representatives Russia Must Solve Problems. ple and the country. In addition to the right of discussing all proposed laws elabo-rated in the ministries the representatives of the nation must themselves be empowof the nation must themselves be empowered to initiate proposals for the making of new laws or for the repeal of laws already in force. They must have the right to discuss the imperial budget and to control expenditures.

Gratifying Results Pollow Attempt to Reform Youthful Criminals in Great Britain.

LONDON, July 29 .- (Special Cablegram to the Bee.)-So gratifying have been the results of the experiment with young criminals at Borstal prison that it is understood he system will soon be extended all ove England. The essential feature of this method of treament is that up to a certain age every person may be regarded as not beyond cure, and that the state should try to convert him into a good citizen. The success already achieved has been due in a large measure to the work of the Borstal association. Mr. Akers Douglas, in an interview, explaining the methods of the system, said; "Of the seventy-six prisoners released from Borstal last year, thirty-six are in SPEECH A PLEA FOR UNIVERSAL employment, ten unemployed, half through slackness of trade, two in hospital and nineteen have been reconvicted. Considering the material, this record is good, for only six of the young men were first of fenders. From the experience gained both inside and outside the prison I have no hesitation in saying that the Borstal sys em is an immense improvement upon any thing that has been previously tried in this country. In many cases the discharged prisoner is hardly recognized as the same young criminal who received the sentence The habits of industry acquired in the workshops around the farm, the improvement in intelligence and physique, are of Incalculable advantage. For these reasons M. Jaures must be rather pleased than otherwise at the splendid advertisement which the German government has given him. ## NEW PRISON PLAN A SUCCESS POLICE HELP JAURES INDIA CRITICIZES BRODRICK STOPS TRACKLAYERS Thinks Secretary Has Failed to Treat Lord Curson in Proper Manner.

SIMLA, India, July 29 -(Special Cablegram to The Bee.)-The newspapers of India continue to criticise Mr. Brodrick's ATTEMPT TO LAY RALLS ON NINTH STREET dispatch to the viceroy regarding change in the position and duties of the ber of the council in tones strongly antagonistic to the secretary of state. Conerning the report of the threatened resignation of the viceroy the Times of ndia summarizes as follows:

It contained no indication of a commont of a commont of a common of the secretary opinion, and no trace of willingness to domit that there was something to be said for the view of the government of india. Mr. Brodrick seems to have gloated over the chance of thrusting contemptuously aside the reasoned and weighty opinions of the whole of the chief administration of this country apart from the commander-in-chief. Or, rather, he appears to have gloried in emphasizing the severity of the blow. If it is left that such a communication leaves the recipient only one chance of procedure it is not to be wondered at.

BERLIN. There are those who hold that any government which does that are fear of the individual.

Prince von Buelow has undoubtedly given the international Social Democracy an excellent advertisement. His adoption of the portentous machinery of a diplomatic note in order to prevent the visit of M. VIENNA, July 29 .- (Special Cablegram to The Bee.)-The aged emperor of Austria evidently does not propose to be caught napping like the aged king of Sweden. The news is correct. At the command of the heir to the throne, the Archduke Francia Ferdinand, who represents the emperor in the supreme command of the army, military preparations are already being taken with a view to adopting forcible measures should Hungary secede or declare its intention to do so in open Parliament. As it was feared that Hungary might take this step the Hungarian Parliament on the day of its opening was adjourned to September 15.

The struggle between the Hungarian authorities and the municipalities is becoming acute and threatens serious mischief, no matter what may be the ultimate settle ment of the difficulties between Hungary and Austria. Fourteen cities, some of them the most prominent, have declared that they will pay no taxes, and will raise no recruits until the government that has the confidence of the majority is elected. Emperor Francis Joseph shows no signs of giving way.

PROGRESS OF PLAGUE IS CHECKED Only Seventy-Five Cases Are Now Under Treatment-Seven Deaths

Yesterday-All From One Source.

NEW ORLEANS, July 29.- The following s the report of the health authorities on ellow fever up to 6 p. m. today:

New cases, 29. Cases to date, 256: Deaths today, 7. Deaths to date, 54. New foci, 2.

Deducting the number of deaths and the umber of recoveries it is believed that there are not more than seventy-five cases inder treatment, if that many,

Considerable encouragement has been drawn from the fact that only two new foci have developed. One of these is a urse who attended a patient at a hospital and the other is in the vicinity of Milneburg, where there had been a suspicious use recently, but which had been spirited away before the authorities got hold of it.

Quarantine Lines Drawn Tight. The most disquieting news in the situation today is the evidence that panic is increasing in the smaller towns of Louisiana and Mississippi, and that a disposition is growing to revive the disastrous commercial quarantines of 1897, when some of the country towns even refused to receive ice or hardware from New Orleans, Several towns in Tennessee and others along the Mississippi valley road in Mississippi refuse to allow express matter of any kind to be put off; Port Gibson will not take bread nor anything wrapped up in burlap that may be shipped from this city. Some of the Texas towns are asking that the mails be fumigated. The increase in the number of deaths and cases of yellow fever today is not causing anxiety. All but one of the dead are Italians or Austrians, who hailed from the original focus of Infection. Of the new cases there 6 p. m..... 76 is only one point of infection among the 7 p. m..... 77 best element of the population and that has been traced to the original infection. No further points of infection have been discovered outside the city except near Waggaman, in Jefferson parish, where Dr. Brady was sent by the state board. Louisiana will not quarantine against Lumberton because of the case in that town. Spread of Disease Prevented. The success of the physicians in preventing serious outbreaks in new neighborhoods course, taken to mean that practical results are being obtained from the thorough syswrecked at Ozark, forty miles north of tem of screening which is now in vogue, So thoroughly has the work been systematized that instantly a case is reported representatives of the board, armed with screens F. Gant, Memphis; two deep scalp and disinfectants, are hurried to the house of the sufferer and every precaution is Edward Griffin, base ball player, Little thereafter taken to make him or her immune to the attacks of the stegomyla. Meanwhile good results are showing from the establishment of the emergency hospital, which is serving to relieve certain

The conference of the representatives of the health boards of the various southern states which Dr. Souchon has called to neet here tomorrow is not likely to materialize. Dr. Souchon has received no acceptances of his invitation. Reports which have been sent out from here that there is any conflict between the scientific forces which are directing the fight against the fever are entirely misleading. Dr. Beverly Warner sent a message to the clergy appealing to them for assistance in the present emergency. "We ask," he said, "that you will urge your congregations, whether the believe in the mosquito theory or not, that they will give hearty assistance to the authorities who are attempting to stamp out the mosquito as at least one source of infection." In connection with the street cleaning work, the mayor has now under consideration a petition to set aside the two special days next week to be called street cleaning days, when all the forces not engaged in sanitating the city will be supplemented by additional aggregations of helpers in an effort to complete the work. Panicky Feeling Spreads. The railroads continue to be seriously campered by quarantines. The decision of the conference of health authorities at Memphis to recommend a quarantine of the entire state of Tennessee against in fected points is evidence of the spread of panicky feeling outside of New Orleans. Every day now some half dozen little towns are suddenly scratched off the list of open towns, and very often the embargo is clapped on so suddenly that passengers are left there with tickets already purchased. The Southern and Texas

Pacific on the west bank of the river are heavy sufferers. It was said at the marine hospital offices that passengers from New Orleans were no longer permitted to travel in Texas and only the most insignificant stations are open to Louisiana. Quarantine has been established so thoroughly along the line of some roads that big cards bearing bold, black letters have been posted in that all tickets bought for any point out of New Orleans are purchased at the purchasers' risk and subject to the restrictions of quarantine. Demand Fumigation of Freight. Local representatives of lines which run through Mississippi were advised in telegrams today that no person from New Oreans would be permitted to travel on a train through that state without a health certificate. This affects through passengers for the north, east and west. Before they had received these orders ticket offices here had sold large numbers of tickets to people intending to leave tomorrow and Monday and thereafter they were busy trying to locate these ticket holders in order to save them from being taken from trains At Antwerp-Salled: Vaderland, for New and throws into detention camps in the adjoining states.
