NEW BUILDING UP TO MOHLER

Harriman Says Omaha Man is Responsible for General Headquarters.

RAILROAD MAGNATE VISITS THE WEST

Enthusiastic Over McKeen's Motor Cars, Which, He Says, Will Revolutionize the Modern System of Transportation.

The new headquarters building proposition is all in the hands of Mr. Mohler, and If you don't get new headquarters in Omaha or the Union Pacific you can blame him. Thus spoke E. H. Harriman as he alighted from the special train which is bearing im and his family to San Francisco, from which port he is to sail August 16 on the Siberia for the Orient. The train went west Incidentally there might be more significance than suspected in Mr. Harriman's remark about Mr. Mohler's responsibility for a new headquarters building, for it appears Mr. Mohler seems imbued with the same idea. He admits the ultimate plan of his trackage scheme on Ninth street is to enforce the removal of the Union Pacific offices from their present ancient location and the building of a new home uptown.

Most of the head officials of the Union Pacific were at the station to meet Mr. Harriman, including A. H. Mohler, general manager and vice president; W. R. Kelly, general solicitor; B. A. McAllaster, land commissioner; D. O. Clark, superintendent of coal supply; W. R. McKeen, superintendent of motive power; T. M. Orr, assistant to Mr. Mohler; General Superintendent Parks and Superintendent Ware of the Nebraska divisions, Mr. McAllaster had a punch of deeds which he wished Mr. Harrimen to sign, but the busy president of the Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Oregon Short Line and Oregon Railway and Navigation company was too interested in getting to the Union Pacific shops to view the now motors which W. R. McKeen is having constructed at that place to attend to routine matters.

Enthusiastic Over Motors.

'My visit to the shops is simply to look ver these motors of McKeen's, which are to revolutionize the suburban traffic of railroads and which I understand Mr. McKeen has about perfected. Of course they are new and probably will be improved all the time the same as the locomotive has been for years, but they are going to do the business for branch lines and for suburban work into large cities. They will be strong competitors of the electric cars.

"I have had my last say in the Equitable matters and will leave matters just as they are," said Mr. Harriman in reply to the querry as to whether he had anything further to give to the public on these mat-

"Yes, we are going to tunnel the Sierra Nevada mountains, but I don't know when we will get to it. You know there are just two ways for a railroad to get moneyto earn it or to borrow it—and the Union Pacific is spending bushels of money every year on different improvements and there must be a limit to expenditures. If a railroad would do all these things that you newspaper men talk about it would go broke.

Lots of Double Tracks,

"Double track? Oh, yes, we are double-tracking the Union Pacific every day and it will be only a matter of time until a double track is complete from Omaha to Ogden. We are building about seventy miles of double-tracking on the Kansas division at the present time.

this incident as impressing itself: this incident as impressing itself:

This affiant was present one night in a gambling house in Okiahoma City during the month of May, 1901, when said Shercliffe grabbed a sack of money off the top of the safe and tried to get out of the door with it, but slipped and dropped the money; said Shercliffe got 'away, but without the money; that Shercliffe was well known to this affiant and others as an all-around thief and highwayman; that affiant further says that in the month of May, 1901, said Shercliffe was a resident of and present within the territory of Oklahoma. within the territory of Oklahoma.

Mrs. Pearl Maynard's affidavit recites that she was the wife of Charles Maynard, now deceased, and who formerly lived at 2408 First street, South Omaha, Douglas county, Neb.; that she now lives with her sister at 1831 Charles street, Kansas City, Mo.; that during the summer of 1901 she kept roomers at the above place in South Omaha, and continues:

That she knows one Frank Shercliffe, who was brought to her rooming house by her husband about the middle of June. 1991; that he was suffering from a gunshot wound in the back or right shoulder; that Shercliffe told her, in the presence of her husband and George R. Hayden, who was a roomer, that he had been shot while burglarizing a house in Blackwell, Okl., about the first of the month; that Dr. James Kelly was called by her husband to dress the wound and that he did so for several days; that afterward said George R. Hayden and this affiant dressed the wound themselves and took care of Shercliffe; that said Shercliffe stated to this affiant and said Hayden that the reason he did not that said Shercliffe stated to this affiant and said Hayden that the reason he did not go to a hospital to be treated was that he had broken his parole over in Iowa and that he was afraid that if it was reported that he was in a hospital suffering from a gunshot would that the Iowa officers would come after him and put him back in the penitentiary; that said Shercliffe stayed at the house of this affiant until about the middle of July. 1901, when he left for parts unknown; that during the stay of said Shercliffe at affiant's house said Shercliffe in several conversations with affiant told affiant the details of the burgiary he had committed at the time of his being wounded and of other crimes which he had from time to time committed.

Roommate Repeats Story.

George R. Hayden, also of Omaha, told the same story about Shercliffe living at the Maynard house for about half a month with the wound in his shoulder. In part his testimony follows:

Shercliffe was there ten or fifteen days, and he and I became quite friendly and he told me a great deal about his past history; he told me among other things about the Pollock diamond robbery and also about how he happened to get shot, which he said to me was about ten days before while he was burglarizing a house at Oklahoma. That while he was in the house the man awoke and jumped out of bed and grabbed his shotgun and as he (Shercliffe) stepped behind the curtain the man told him to throw up his hands; that not knowing the man had a gun he stepped out from behind the curtain and the man fired and shot him in the right shoulder, causing the wound we were caring for in the right shoulder.

POSITIVE PARAGRAPHS

Nothing just happens. An effect IS because a cause WAS.

It wasn't luck—nor a streak of good for tune—that enabled us to build up an attendance so large that we were compelled to build Boyles Building—the only building now erected or being erected in all Nebraska that is or will be devoted wholly and solely to a business college—given over entirely to the work of taking the raw material of carnest young men and women and turning out finished, capable, competent business men and business women.

It wasn't because folks felt kindly toward us or wanted to see us succeed.

It was for the great, big, round, solid reason that we were giving instruction and education in Bookkeeping and Stenography that was so practical—we were looking after every interest of our students in such a pains-taking manner—we were so giving to our pupils the wonderful aid and instruction of the highest-priced instructors we could find—we were so alding every pupil in his or her work toward obtaining an absolutely practical grasp of Bookkeeping and Stenography by placing before him every accessory and aid of modern business, that it was inevitable that we would turn out the kind of Bookkeepers and Stenographers that "make good" right from the start, and don't need any "breaking in."

Business men found this out, And we couldn't supply the demand for Boyles' graduates.

Parents found this out and young persons thinking of taking up a business college course found this out also. The inevitable result was a big increase in Boyles' Parents found this out and young persons thinking of taking up a business college course found this out also. The inevitable result was a big increase in Boyles' College attendance.

TELEGRAPHY—In line with the policy of "get the best" is the appointment to the principalship of the Telegraphy Department of one of the speedlest operators in the west. "Taken right off the road."

Our Fall Term opens September 4. You have plenty of time to decide the question of just which business college you will attend before September 4.

Give our claims and our PROOFS an honest comparison with the claims and proofs of any other business college in Omaha—and we have no fear of your decision.

If you haven't received a copy, send for a copy of our new 1908 Prospectus.
