STATE BOARD MUST GOVERN

Tax Levy and Valuation of It Holds for Locals, Says Slabaugh.

COUNTY ATTORNEY HANDS DOWN OPINION

Cites Authorities to Show that Precedent Set by State Should Be Followed by the Local Boards.

In an opinion prepared for the Board of County Commissioners concerning the tax levy and the valuation that should govern the making of the same, County Attorney Slabaugh holds that the valuation fixed by the State Board of Equalization and Assessment must govern the local board in making its levy. His opinion is as follows:

making its levy. His opinion is as follows:

To the Honorable Board of Count Commissioners, Douglas County, Nebraska:
Gentlemen—in reply to the question submitted to me as to whether or not the values fixed is building upon the county as a basis of taxation for county purposes. I have this to say: From an investigation of the law and of decisions of other states of similar laws I find that the valuation fixed by the saite board is binding upon our county board as the value for taxation for county purposes. county purposes.

In Baldwin against Ellis the supreme court of California holds on a statute quite

In Baldwin against Ellis the supreme court of California holds on a statute quite similar to ours:

"If it was not the scheme of the law that there should be but one true valuation and that the one fixed by the state board, why the enactment that the county board should fix the rate of taxation after the former board had acted? A taxpayer cannot be damaged under this construction of the law, for if the valuation were less the percentage of taxation would be of necessity larger, and if by the action of the state board the valuation be higher the percentage necessary to meet county and state expenses would be less. Under the law all taxable property must be assessed at its full cash value. If the appellant's theory of the law be the proper one then there must be two cash valuations of the same piece of property at the same assessment, one for state and another for county purposes. There can be no real need of a state board of equalization unless its main function be to ascertain and declare as near as possible the true valuation of taxable property. We cannot understand how the true value mentioned in the constitution can mean two true values. The manifest intention of the law is that when the state board raised the total value of the assessment roll of Los Angeles county it was done for all taxable purposes, as well county as state."

Nebraska Case in Point. In the case of Hacker against Howe, known as the Nemaha case, 101 N. W. 258, the same question is settled. The court there says, speaking of the county and the the same question is settled. The court there says, speaking of the county and the state boards of equalization:

"These different steps are all essential to the ascertainment of the true value of property. In 1063L Cob, it is declared that no assessment shall be deemed final until the action of the state board shall have been had, and certified to the county clerks and by them extended on the tax rolls. The assessment thus made and corrected by the county and state boards of equalization shall be the final assessment of property for that year, and taxes for all purposes shall be levied upon such final assessment."

The Nebraska case seems to clearly settle the question and should the question arise as to whether the action of the state board in raising certain properties would be an over-valuation of the said properties, the supreme court in the above case says:

"It is claimed that all property in Nemalisationers at its full and actual value and that the increase ordered by the state board will result in an over-valuation of property and operate as a discrimination against the taxpayers of the county. The weakness of the position lies in the premises advanced in the support of it. It is not conceded that the property assessed by the county authorities is at its full valuation. The values are to be determined not by the county assessor alone, but only in conjunction with equalizing boards, and the power is given the state board to increase or decrease the assessed valuation of any county, and such valuation is not finally determined until the state board to increase or decrease the assessed valuation of any county, and such valuation is not finally determined until the state board to increase or decrease the assessed valuation.

BIG TIME AT BRIDGE OPENING Crowds Attend Milwankee's Dedica tion at Chamberlain-Prosperity General In that Country.

Eugene Duval, assistant general western agent of the Milwaukee, has returned from Chamberlain, S. D., where he attended the celebration incident to the opening of the new bridge across the Missouri at that "This is the first bridge to be built across the Missouri in South Dakota," said Duval. "The first regular train was run across it August 1, and the whole neighborhood out to join in the jubilee. This bridge opens up an immense territory and is built for the new line which is being conare under construction at the present time and the road ultimately will run to the Black Hills. There was a sarge number of Omaha and South Omaha people present and Dr. McCrann of South Omaha checked the first piece of baggage that crossed the new bridge.

"This new territory is the greatest coun try on the face of the earth and history will repeat itself in the matter of rapid in crease in the price of land. Land that is now selling for $15 an acre is sure to b worth $60 in a short time, the same as it was in northern Iowa. It used to be a standard saying that it never rained in Lyman county, but immigration and cultivation has changed this so that the other day when A. J. Earling, president of the Milwaukee road, drove across the county it rained for four days straight. Such enorous crops are raised in South Dakota that it is impossible for the railroads to attempt to handle the output during the harvest period. In some of the smaller towns there are six and seven elevators. All kinds of labor is pressed into service and women are seen driving the reapers."

Twenty-Fourth Street Paving Matter Takes on Form of Lawsuit.

INJUNCTION PROCEEDINGS ARE PLANNED

Interested Parties Will Ask Court to Interfere with Council's Intention to Award Contract on Monday.

Arrangements are being completed to seture an order of the court preventing the city council from letting a contract on Monday night next for the paving of Twenty-fourth street. An attorney who is nterested in the case notified City Attorney Lambert Thursday afternoon that an inunction is to be applied for in order that stop be put to the paying at this time. The attorneys held quite a conversation and an attempt was made to arrange a suitable date for the hearing of the restraining order. No agreement was arrived at, but it is expected that before the papers are served on the mayor and council Monday the contesting attorneys will reach an agreement and suggest to the court a date for the hearing. It appears that some of the property owners want asphalt, others want brick and still others want to slide dong without any repairs until after April

The mayor and councilmen rather looked for proceedings of this sort, but were in hopes that the differences among property owners could be patched up and that the improvement might be permitted to go ahead. Since notice has been served that an injunction is in sight, it may be that paving bidders will not take such an in terest in the plans and specifications as they have heretofors. Those remonstrating against the paving of the street at this time declare that the case will be taken to the supreme court if necessary.

Removing Blum's Hall. Arrangements were completed Thursday whereby Blum's hall, at Twenty-sixth and N streets, is to be removed from its present site. An eastern trust company owns the north half of the building and the local agent, B. E. Wilcox, was notified yesterday afternoon to go ahead and have the north half torn down and the lumber sold. At the present time attorneys for the Union Pacific are looking over the deeds and ab stracts and it may be several days yet before the abstracts are completed. Then if everything is satisfactory to the purchasers the transfer will be recorded.
