THREE OMAHANS ARE BURIED

Mrs. C. K. Turner, I. R. Andrews and Mrs. Churchill Parker Laid at Rest.

ALL FUNERALS HELD THE SAME DAY

Large Numbers of Friends Join with Stricken Families to Pay Their Final Tributes to the Dead.

Three of Omaha's prominent citizens, removed from life during the last few days, were placed Friday afternoon in their last earthly resting places. Mrs. Churchill Parker, Mrs. Charlotte Kennedy Turner and I. R. Andrews, names all well known in Omaha, received last honors at the hands of many friends and associates.

Mrs. Charlotte Kennedy Turner, wife of Charles Turner, who died suddenly of heart failure, was buried Friday afternoon at Forest Lawn cemetery. The service was conducted at the family residence, 341 Farnam street, at 2 p. m. by Rev. T. J. Mackay, rector of All Saints' church. Both service and funeral were well attended by many of the city's most prominent people.

Miss Grace Broadwell, Miss Lucille Porterfield, Fred L. Green and C. R. Haverstick, a quartet from the All Saints' church, sang "Peace, Perfect Peace," "Lead, Kindly Light," and "Rock of Ages." Mr. J. H. Simms directed the music.

The pallbearers were: N. A. Broadwell, Alfred Millard, Victor B. Caldwell, Dr. Paul Ludington, William E. Poppleton, Harry Curran, W. W. Hoagland and C. W. Hull.

— I. R. Andrews' Funeral.

The funeral of Attorney I. R. Andrews, who was accidentally drowned last week in the Platte river, was held Friday afternoon from the family residence, 341 Farnam street, at 2 p. m. by Rev. T. J. Mackay, rector of All Saints' church. The rites at the grave were conducted by the officers of Capt. Lodge, No. 2, Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons.

The funeral was largely attended, there being a particularly large representation of the Omaha Woman's club, of which Mrs.

Andrews is president. There was a goodly attendance of the various orders to which the deceased belonged, as well as many of the members of the local bar.

The body of the late attorney was placed in a black state casket with ebony and gold trimmings. The casket was placed in Mr. Andrews' place in the southeast portion of the home, this den being the dead man's favorite place of rest when home. The casket was closed.

Floral tributes were sent in profusion. The den was literally lined with beautiful flowers and the casket covered with them. Large designs were sent by the Woman's club, Tennis Park Tennis club, Ben Hur lodge, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, Scottish Rite Masons, Mount Calvary commandery, Knights Templar, Woman's Christian Temperance union, Shriner and many from individuals.

The pallbearers were:

Active—John A. Rine, A. W. Jeffers, B. F. Thomas, F. H. Gaines, F. W. Fitch and B. M. Robertson.

Honorary—J. C. Cowin, J. L. Webster, C. J. Greene, T. J. Mahoney, H. C. Brune and W. H. Munger.

The out-of-town relatives of the family present were: Mr. Garard of Brighton, Colo., brother of Mrs. Andrews; Mr. William Wilson of Milwaukee, nephew of Mr. Andrews; Mrs. H. G. Hartwell of Milwaukee, sister of Mr. Andrews; Mrs. W. A. Lawson of Madison, Wis., sister of the deceased.

The burial was at Prospect Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Churchill Parker.

Rev. John Williams, rector of St. Barnabas Episcopal church, conducted the funeral service Friday afternoon for the late Mrs. Churchill Parker, who died at her residence, 403 1/2 1st street, after a brief illness. Mrs. Parker is survived by her husband, an old resident of Omaha and at one time actively engaged in business here. She has a sister, Mrs. John Barker of Omaha, and two brothers, Henry and Frank C. Swart of Marinette, Wis., and Chicago, respectively.

Mrs. Parker was closely identified with church work at St. Barnabas church, enjoys a large circle of friends and is said by those who knew her best to have been of a kindly disposition.

The body has been placed in the receiving vault at Prospect Hill cemetery, as it has not yet been decided whether the final burial will be made at Omaha or elsewhere.

The active pallbearers were: E. W. Howell, G. W. Templeton, Charles Balliet, C. F. Jones, H. A. Thompson and M. F. Fankhouser. Those serving as honorary pallbearers were: A. J. Simpson, Dr. V. Coffman, G. W. Loomis, J. P. English, Dr. F. A. Nelson, Dr. A. W. Nason, Euclid Martin and C. S. Montgomery.

ONE ON THE CHIEF EXECUTIVE

Mayor Stamps His Official Sign on His Receipts for Personal Taxes.

Under the red tape system established by the charter at the city hall no order for material or supplies of any kind is good unless approved by the mayor. The chief executive signs several hundred of these orders some days, many of the requisitions calling for things like "88 rails," "15 feet of half-inch lumber," and so on. To facilitate the pen work Mayor Moores has a little rubber stamp, marking "approved, blank, mayor." He is so used to stamping this on flimsy sheets of orders that he so stamped his receipt for personal taxes Thursday and sent it to the comptroller with a lot of other papers. The receipt had just been issued to the mayor by City Treasurer Hennings. When it turned up, properly approved by the chief executive, there was a good deal of amusement in the comptroller's office. The receipt was duly returned by Deputy Comptroller Cosgrove.

SETTLE BUTLER COUNTY CASE

Litigation Over Bonds for Railroad Construction Comes to an End.

JUDGE MUNGER'S DECISION CONFIRMED

Securities Are Declared Worthless by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, Terminating a Prolonged Suit.

The long drawn out litigation over the validity of the bonds issued by Butler county for the construction of the Lincoln and Northwestern, or the Lincoln and Blue Valley railroad is ended and the bonds have been declared void and worthless by the United States circuit court of appeals. The decision was received by the clerk of the United States court Friday noon and it merely affirms the decision handed down by Judge Munger some months ago. The validity of the bonds has been in litigation since 1886, when Butler county first repudiated them. They were issued in 1873.

The case upon which the decision was based involved bonds to the amount of $40,000, which had been paid to John Fitzgerald to pay him for building a portion of the road through Butler county. Fitzgerald then sold the bonds to Augustus Frank, who later died. Agnes Frank and Mary L. Miller of New York, who administered the estate of Augustus Frank, sought to secure the money on the bonds and brought suit in the state courts. The state supreme court held that the bonds were invalid because they contained an alternative provision in that they provided for the construction of the Lincoln and Northwestern railroad or the Lincoln and Blue Valley. For the same reason the state supreme court held that the bonds were invalid because they contained an alternative provision in that they provided for the construction of the Lincoln and Northwestern railroad or the Lincoln and Blue Valley railroad. The state supreme court held that the bonds were invalid because they contained an alternative provision in that they provided for the construction of the Lincoln and Northwestern railroad or the Lincoln and Blue Valley railroad.

SCANNELL SAILS FOR HOME

Bishop Leaves Queenstown Saturday After Visit to the Vatican on Church Business.

Bishop Scannell is expected to return from his ad limini visit to Rome about August 15. According to his plans he will sail from Queenstown on the Cedric Saturday, and on arriving in this country will come direct to Omaha. For some time in his journey through Europe he has been accompanied by Bishop Garrigan of Sioux City, and the two bishops will probably remain together as far west as Iowa. After leaving the city of the nation Bishop Scannell spent some time at Carlsbad and later went to London. Recently he has been paying a visit to Ireland, where he has relatives.
