Table with 2 columns: Number of copies and Total. Rows include Daily Bee, Sunday Bee, and Total.

WHEN OUT OF TOWN: Subscribers leaving the city temporarily should have The Bee mailed to them. It is better than a daily letter from home.

Cannot the Board of County Commissioners cut down the tax levy for 1905 a few notches?

South Omaha policemen have plenty of work, but the trouble is there are not enough policemen to go around.

With both strikers and employers asking for police protection in New York, it would seem as if the police force were really doing its duty.

Now that New Orleans is using the name "mosquito fever" for yellow fever, it may be necessary to find a new term for "yellow journalism."

Here is a hint to investors: Unless all signs fall, choice real estate in Omaha will never be on the market again at as low prices as are now asked.

It is to be hoped that, while viewing that historic spot, M. Witte will also imbibe some of the spirit which made Bunker Hill monument possible.

Inasmuch as Mobile has taken the fruit trade from New Orleans, the Crescent City laughs while bananas are placed on the "unfair" list all over the south.

If that investigation in the Agricultural department goes deep enough, responsibility for the false libels presented to the grand jury at Omaha may be discovered.

An account of the action of Chinese highlanders in that New York theater Sunday should be sent to Peking as a counter irritant, which may allay the fervor of the boycott.

The local democratic organ won't even give the democratic assistant city attorney credit for inaugurating the bond liquidating policy of the city. Memories of the Success league must rankle.

The fog which delayed the arrival of the plenipotentiaries at Portsmouth is nothing to the fog which envelops their conference, and it is to be hoped that the latter will pass away as quickly as the former.

The letting of the street lighting contract seems to be a question not how much money can be saved to the taxpayers, but how shall the lighting fund be divided between the gas company and the electric lighting company.

In announcing a plan of campaign to continue to December the marine hospital service shows its intention to fight the mosquito until frost arrives with overwhelming reinforcements. If the frost does not find an already routed enemy.

Not only in New Orleans, but in Council Bluffs, yellow is just now all the rage; at least that inference is to be drawn from the announcement that the sixty members of the Council Bluffs Commercial club, who are to participate in the trade excursion through western Iowa, will each carry a yellow umbrella.

Some weeks ago it was given out as a consolation sop to Omaha jobbers, grain men and manufacturers that the Great Northern would construct a cut off to its Ashland cut off that will connect Omaha directly with the Great Northern system. Now it is proposed to utilize part of the Union Pacific main track from Portal to Omaha as a cut off to the cut off. Why not improvise a cut off to that cut off and give us something strictly exclusive?

THE FINANCIAL INFLUENCE.

There is no doubt that a very powerful financial influence is being exerted in behalf of peace in the far east. It is pointed out that the great banking institutions of Europe have been hoarding gold, of which their holdings have increased during the past six months by some $132,000,000. This is regarded as one of the surest indications that a peace agreement will be reached at the Portsmouth conference.

So far as Russia is concerned, it is well known that she can raise no more money from foreign loans for continuing the war. When the French bankers positively refused to consider another loan for war expenditure that closed the money markets of the world against Russia.

That the financial influence will be more or less potent at Portsmouth, particularly with the Russian plenipotentiaries, is not to be doubted. It may, indeed, be the consideration of greatest weight with the czar's envoys, who must have learned since they left Russia—and there is reason to believe that they have sought information on this point—how difficult, if not impossible, it would be for their government to secure any money for expenditure in war.

FOR A NEW EXCLUSION TREATY.

Our government has been informed that the former Chinese minister to the United States, Wu Ting Fang, has been put by the imperial authorities of China in sole charge of the negotiations looking to the renewal of the exclusion treaty between that country and this. There have been intimations that the former minister has been largely instrumental in promoting the boycott movement against American goods, and this will not be regarded as incredible by those who are aware of the fact that while in this country he repeatedly and earnestly expressed his opposition to the policy of Chinese exclusion.

It is stated that the present situation is causing the administration some active concern. Reports have reached Washington that the movement in China against Americans is spreading and that an ugly rancor against citizens of the United States personally is being brought into existence through the distribution of inflammatory placards picturing Chinamen being pursued and maltreated by mobs of Americans.

AN ASIATIC MONROE DOCTRINE.

There is in some quarters a belief that Japan contemplates declaring an Asiatic policy similar to the American Monroe doctrine. It is pointed out that just before the war there was organized in Japan a league whose motto is "Asia for the Asiatics," and the membership of which embraces natives of every eastern Asiatic race from the Indian ocean to the Sea of Japan.

That there should exist among the eastern peoples a sentiment of this kind is by no means surprising. There has been a very great awakening in the Asiatic countries respecting their power and possibilities and it is altogether natural that some of their statesmen and people should feel that the time is at hand for an assertion of their independence of the western world.

It is not at all probable, however, that Japan will interpose any obstacle to commercial relations between the Asiatic countries and the rest of the world or will encourage any hostility on the part of those countries toward western nations. She could not afford to take such a course, since it would result in alienating friendships that are of vital importance to her.

should draw upon her the hostility of western powers would place her in a most dangerous position. Whatever efforts Japan may make to protect Asiatic countries against foreign aggression and to advance their material growth will be for the good of the world. There could be no reasonable objection to an Asiatic policy modeled upon our Monroe doctrine, which does not interfere with the commercial relations of the countries to which it applies with other countries and simply safeguards their territory and their political institutions.

WORTH THINKING ABOUT.

The agitation against the Standard Oil company which swept over Kansas last winter and resulted in the passage of laws designed to protect the independent refiners and operators in the oil business has precipitated a contest that will end with the building of a pipe line from the Kansas oil fields to Port Arthur.

The new pipe line, it is anticipated, will go far toward relieving conditions in the whole of the southwestern field. It is the intention of the gulf pipe line people to begin at once the construction of storage facilities throughout the field to the capacity of more than 8,000,000 barrels, so as to enable all the plants which have been taken over by a Pittsburg syndicate to run full time.

Looking for Trouble. Baltimore American. Every country in Europe, even Great Britain, seems to brood continually upon the contingency of a great war.

SAKHALIN A TRAGIC ISLAND.

Most Violent of Russian Prisoners Sent Siberia. Pall Mall Gazette. Sakhalin, the island which Japan has taken, or rather retaken, from Russia, is the place to which Russia sent its violent convicts.

It is an open secret that the greatest advantage Kansas City enjoys over Omaha is cheaper fuel. In the matter of coal the difference between Omaha and Kansas City is $1 per ton, but Kansas City not only has cheaper coal, but it also has, or will have within a very short time, direct connection by pipe line with the Kansas oil fields and with the natural gas region.

KILLINGS ON THE RAILS.

Three Months' Record of Preventable Accidents on Railroads. Indianapolis News. The Interstate Commerce Commission has issued its regular quarterly bulletin of the railway accidents in this country.

The government of the United States now owns and operates 2,300 miles of submarine cable lines of telegraph in Alaska and a great many more miles in the Philippines, without trenching upon the legitimate functions of government to furnish the people with the best medium of communication at the least cost without the aid or consent of the telegraph companies.

A comparison of taxes in Sarpy county and Douglas county is somewhat misleading. Sarpy county never voted a dollar in bonds to railroads, but enjoys all the benefits of the large railroad debt Douglas county has assumed.

Ex-Governor Poynter advances in an open letter to populists a dozen or more reasons why the third party reformers should maintain an independent political organization, free from alliances with democrats.

The wide scope of activity of the American diplomat is shown by the fact that as soon as the preliminaries for the peace conference were arranged Secretary Root is personally taking up with the premier of Newfoundland the question of bait for Yankee fishermen on the Grand Banks.

When Colonel Bryan returned from his first European tour he announced his conversion to state ownership of railroads. When he returns from his second European tour may we expect an announcement of his conversion to nationalization of railroads under federal ownership?

NEBRASKA'S WHEAT BOOM.

An Important Factor in Prosperity of the State. New York Tribune. The winter wheat yield for Nebraska will amount, according to conservative estimates, to 50,000,000 bushels. In only one previous season was this total ever equaled, but in quality the wheat of that year would not even approach that of this.

Peril of the North.

The chief danger from yellow fever spreading northward is that it might give aid and comfort to the army of opportunity to make a few remarks which would cause the efforts of Governor Vandeman to appear amateurish.

A Melancholy Change.

What a difference the mere order of words makes! It used to read, "Depew said"—the very signal of mirth. But now the attorney general puts into summation, "the said Depew," and all is melancholy.

This Will Hold Iowa.

Iowa thinks that—sooner or later we hear it has a large supply of men, several thousand of New England's "female surplus" will rush to its nodding cornfields.

Another Line on the Horse.

Edison announces that he has at last completed the design of a storage battery which will enable grocers, butchers and laundrymen to run their delivery wagons at half the cost they are compelled to stand for horses.

Looking for Trouble.

Every country in Europe, even Great Britain, seems to brood continually upon the contingency of a great war. That British suggestion to build vast government grain elevators and keep an immense supply of wheat stored to ward off famine in case of a prolonged war blockade looks at this distance to be hunting trouble a long way off.

Most Violent of Russian Prisoners Sent Siberia.

Sakhalin, the island which Japan has taken, or rather retaken, from Russia, is the place to which Russia sent its violent convicts. The convict at Siberia has some right to complain of his detention, but the convict in Sakhalin none. When a party of convicts (having been pronounced "violent" by the governor of the Siberian station) is landed at Sakhalin the procession to the jail is as follows: First among the convicts come the women, their legs and linked together in pairs, the clanking of their chains making a lugubrious noise.

When on the march the prisoners are allowed three pounds of bread and one-half pound of meat each day, and they are not forbidden to receive alms. But when they arrive at the destination their lot is a pitiful one. Their cells are damp and fungus covered, their food is less than the allowance during the journey and their work in the salt mines is most exhausting.

NATIONAL SUPERVISION OF LIFE INSURANCE.

Public supervision of the insurance business is in the United States a function of the state governments. The states have officials, usually known as superintendents or commissioners of insurance, whose duty it is to inquire into the condition and methods of the insurance companies doing business in their respective states.

PERMANENT REFORM OF THE NEED.

The surplus in the principal products for the year of 1904 was as follows: Wheat, 22,966,055.90; Corn, 15,741,789.00; Cattle, 4,910,586.00; Hogs, 3,545,455.00; Packing house products, 60,485,795.94. The grand total of these surplus products for the year was $36,110,676.56.

Other tortures to which prisoners are subjected are too dreadful to write about, and during all these tortures the prisoner is prevented by sags from obtaining even the poor relief of a scream. Surely the horrors of the detention of Hietakias are nothing compared with the abominations of Sakhalin.

It has been signally demonstrated of late that this awful slaughter is in large part the result of pure recklessness and carelessness, because one of the best roads in the country suffering from an accident announced that it had made specific changes in its track equipment and further safeguards.

It remains to be seen if this record increases yearly; that is, that each year we have not only more accidents than the preceding year, but more in proportion to travel, in marked contrast with railroad traffic in Great Britain. The difference cannot be on account of stupidity; it must be on account of recklessness.

The conclusion of the whole matter is this: There will be no change in anything until the people rise in their wrath and by their courts inflict such punishment that the railroads will be taught a lesson by the history of other countries. Punish railroad accidents severely and the result will be a reduction of them to a minimum.

ARMY GOSSIP IN WASHINGTON.

Matters of Interest Gleaned from the Army and Navy Register.

In the fifty-nine certificates of merit issued by the war department this year there was only one officer represented in the list, Lieutenant G. J. Oden of the 10th cavalry, on duty at Fort Washackie, Wyo., who received this emblem in recognition of gallantry in action in Luzon in November, 1898, while he was a sergeant major in the 26th volunteer infantry.

The attention of the war department has been called to an advertisement which appears in the western newspapers and which contains most attractive pictures of military and naval life. The subjects are such as are likely to be regarded with favor by youthful readers, since they show an officer of cavalry leading a charge in one of the scenes and a naval officer on the bridge of a warship in another picture.

The question of granting discharge by purchase to enlisted men in the Philippines is destined to be decided adversely unless in the individual case there shall appear good reasons for making an exception to the rule which will authorize discharge in that way of enlisted men of the staff departments or of the line, who are serving beyond the continental limits of the United States.

An important decision has been rendered by the War Department in the question of allowances of retired army officers who are on active duty. This law which authorizes the employment of retired officers on active duty permits the payment of full retired pay and specifies that there shall be no further pay allowances from the United States.

"Do you think that a politician is worse than other men?" "No," answered Senator Sorghum. "He has more temptations."—Washington Star.

LAUGHING LINES.

Reporter—Here's a Sunday feature giving full directions on "How to Give a Sunday Dinner." Editor—You go back and write another, give the meat the proper attention, and running this paper for the masses.—Cleveland Leader.

"I have nothing but praise for our new minister." "Is it noticed when the contribution plate was passed around—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"How did this jury compare with the previous ones?" "It was much more ready to agree. There was one man on it who insisted on eating raw onions at every meal."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"The cashier has skipped out and his books are in a awful muddle." "Announced the bookkeeper. "What shall we do?" "Open a running account with him at once."—Cleveland Leader.

Caller—"How is your son getting along at college, Mrs. Sudeen?" "My son, Sudeen, is doing first rate. He is taking a special study this term. He writes me that he is the receiving end of the most powerful electric current. That's something in the electrical line, isn't it?"—Chicago Tribune.

Aunt—But I thought you understood that George was a poor young man when you became engaged to him. "Niece—Of course I did, but I didn't imagine it went so far as his not being able to get a new automobile till next season."—Judge.

"Mr. Hilgins has the artistic temperament." "Don't say that," responded Miss Cayenne. "Whenever I heard that a man has the artistic temperament I can't avoid an impression that he throws and forgets to pay."—Washington Star.

"I see that a letter supposed to have been written by Henry VIII has just brought $2,000." "That's nothing. A letter of mine just brought $10,000." "Indeed?" "I addressed it to a girl who sued me for breach of promise."—Philadelphia Press.

SONNET TO THE CUCUMBER.

Joe Cane in New York Sun. Hall Cumber! Long green, the proper stuff. We welcome you upon the festive board! When I say "we" I mean the mighty horde. For all folk at your altar right enough, Beef eater and vegetarian bluff.

Bacolic in your habits, O cucumber, you are not the demon held by some. But come to fill a long felt want, I wish you are so sweet and cool and crisp and green.

A stomach ache by any other name, O luscious cucumber, would be the same; Success, succeeds, and so do you, O cucumber. Though greedy you have not won by a fluke. But please yourself by fair means into fame.
