Opinion on the Matter.

Mr. Breen Sets Forth at Length His Reasons for Latest Opinion in a Review of Law for the City Clerk.

PRIMARY LAW AND OLD STATUTE CONFLICT

City Attorney Breen has reversed his offhand opinion which he gave to the newspapers a few weeks ago as to the number of registration days for voters now required in view of the Dodge primary law.

In a long opinion written for City Clerk Elbourn Mr. Breen says that the number of registration days will remain as at present-three. But in the attorney's mind the conflict between the Dodge law and section 8 of chapter lxxvi of the general laws makes primary day the first day of registration and cuts out the old first day, or the Thursday of the third week preceding

The impressions of the city attorney are further amended in the particular that be now believes party affiliation may be registered on any of the three days and the right to perticipate in the succeeding primary be thus gained. After quoting the two laws he says;

Two Laws Cannot Prevail. "It is utterly impossible to give both the new primary law and the section of the general election laws full effect as to the number of days and times of registration. although I was first inclined to hold that they both might be given effect by holding that the registration on primary day could be a registration for the purpose only of registering for party affiliation and thus se-curing to the voter the right to vote at subsequent primaries held under the new act On further reflection I am persuaded that such was not the intent of the legislature be impractical as well. "I hold that the primary day is the first day for registration and that a registration on that day secures the right to vote at the November election, and if the voter choose to give his party affiliation with his registration on that day he secures the right thereby to vote at the next primary election held under the new act.

in the new act: moreover, that such a construction would inflict many difficulties and

Point of Differentiation. "It remains for me to answer your question as to how many other registration

"Toe new primary law is an act complete in itself; that is, it is not an amendatory act and bence it will repeal and does repeal by implication any older act or sec tion of older act or part or section of an older act inconsistent with it or repugnant to it, so far only, however, as the older act or section is repugnant to the new act. Hence as section 8, chapter lxxvi, is One repugnant to and inconsistent with the new act, said section 8 must yield to the newer act to the extent of such inconsistency and repugnancy.

"Now, the new primary act and section 8 are repugnant and inconsistent only as to what day or which day shall be deemed the first day of registration. Section 8 to the day of the November election in The new act says the primary day shall be the first day for registration, and to that extent, and that only, the new act conflicts with or is repugnant to

"Of course, you already understand, doubtless, that the first primary election held under the new act must be held on last year's registration list as to party

City Clerk Elbourn, who is in direct control of the registration machinery, was sked if he would act in accordance with this opinion. He replied he had not yet decided. Some time ago the cierk said he without the direction of a court.

Woodmen of the World Carnival. The second week of the carnival of the Woodmen of the World seems to be as popular with the masses as the first one judging from the crowd that visited Courtland beach last night.

The fire works put on by Paynes' man of Chicago seems to have proved a drawing card. The general expression of those who witnessed them last night was that they were the finest display that had been seen in this city since the days of the old Transmississippi exposition. The display will be put on each night this week and special five minute car service will be on to accommodate the increasing crowds that are expected to attend this week. The act of Phil Green with the fire works attended thereon, seems to be as popular and acceptable to the general public as the first night it was put on. Mr. Green has added to his fire works display, which makes the act even more attractive than the first week.

The dancing in the pavilion still draws a good crowd and will be continued during the entire week. No pains or expense has been spared to make this week of the carnival more pleasing and entertaining to team of the Ancient Order of United Workmen lodge No. 17 will drill at 8:30 tonight.
