

WADSWORTH ACCEPTS CALL

President of Occidental College Takes the Chair at Bellevue.

WILL BE HERE BY SEPTEMBER FIRST

Trustees and Students Rejoice in Success of Securing Man Who Brings a Strong Educational Executive.

Dr. Guy W. Wadsworth, president of Occidental college at Los Angeles, has accepted the presidency of Bellevue college and will be there September 1, or at the beginning of the scholastic year, to take charge of the institution.

Some two weeks ago The Bee announced that Dr. Wadsworth had been formally called to Bellevue and that the trustees hoped and believed he would accept. Friday morning Dr. Milroy, secretary of the board of trustees, advised The Bee that those expectations had been realized.

"We are gratified indeed," said Dr. Milroy, "at securing Dr. Wadsworth as the head of Bellevue college. He is a strong man and a good educator. His administrative abilities are generally recognized. We feel that under his direction the institution will prosper and develop into one of greater strength and influence.

"The outlook certainly is good. Financially we are better off today than we were a year ago and the prospects are bright in that direction.

All Want Dr. Wadsworth. Bellevue has been without a president since last spring, when the resignation of Dr. Harlowe Lampen was accepted. With united effort and determination it seemed the trustees immediately sought to secure Dr. Wadsworth. But there were some misgivings as to the success of their plans, for Dr. Wadsworth occupied a very attractive position as the president of the strongest Presbyterian college on the Pacific coast, whose progress and development have been almost unimpeded for a considerable period of years, and since his incumbency began something like a decade ago, when he went there from Walla Walla, Wash. Although Dr. Wadsworth, on his return to California from the general assembly at Omaha Lake, Ind., stopped off at Omaha as the guest of Dr. Edwin Hart Jenks, pastor of the First Presbyterian church and a Bellevue trustee, and with Dr. Jenks visited the college, spoke there and was then predicted by the Bellevue correspondent of The Bee as the next president of the institution, the trustees evidently had small hope of being able to secure him, for when asked about the matter, Dr. Jenks replied in such a way as to give the impression that it was almost unreasonable to suppose Dr. Wadsworth would leave Occidental.

It transpires that a conflict of views as to certain administration matters at Occidental in which one of the most prominent financial friends was active, has contributed toward Dr. Wadsworth's decision to make a change.

Different Air with Students. One notable feature attending Dr. Wadsworth's advent at Bellevue, which, for its absence, distinguished the coming of Dr. Lampen a year ago, was the cordial reception of President Kerr, is the cordial feeling of the students.

"The students are heartily in sympathy with the trustees in their happiness over securing Dr. Wadsworth," said Dr. Milroy. The feeling of the students against Dr. Lampen was so bitter as to prompt a formal written declaration by them and similar declarations in their college paper, and these, of course, were read by the welcomed president. Nor did Dr. Lampen succeed in living down this hostility, born partly from the warm love still animating every student for Dr. Kerr, whose leaving was keenly disappointing to them. Dr. Lampen's life work—although he was a highly educated man—had not been that of a college president, and before the close of the year the trustees, while the president was in the east, decided to request his resignation. He did not return to fill out the year, but did his work from the east.

SECOND WARD IS FOR HOYE

Republican Club Pledges Its Support to Candidate for Sheriff.

Councilman Fred H. Hoye was given the unanimous endorsement of his home ward club, the Second, for the republican nomination for sheriff last night at a well attended meeting. Not even the suspicion of opposition met Mike Lee's proposal to support Hoye in his contest. The councilman in a speech promised to conduct the office "according to law," and announced that if installed he would resign from the council at the time; also that under no conditions will he be a candidate for a councilman's seat next spring. The text of the Lee resolution is: Whereas, Our councilman, Fred H. Hoye, who has represented the Second ward in the city for the last six years, is now a candidate for the republican nomination for sheriff; and Whereas, He has been a faithful representative, an excellent councilman, one who has always stood for the interests of the people, therefore be it Resolved, That we most heartily endorse his candidacy and pledge him the united support of the republican party of the Second ward.

Endorsements for the candidacies, on the motion of Frank Bandhauser, of E. H. Davis for the Board of Education and William Altstadt for Justice of the peace were accorded in the same wholesale way. Both men are from the Second ward. Mr. Davis in a short talk said the south end of the city has been neglected in school facilities and promised to work hard to remedy this condition if made a member of the board. Frank Bandhauser, candidate for county clerk, attended the meeting, but said he came to get acquainted and not to make speeches. Mike Lee spoke of the unanimity with which the ward organization was backing its home candidate and urged the importance of electing a school board member from the Second, which he said had more children in proportion to its population than any other ward in town, with less advantages in public schools.

E. H. Davis resigned as secretary and J. W. Thompson was elected in his stead. Michael Shanahan was chosen treasurer to succeed Justice Altstadt. President Peterson appointed the following executive committee: John Kowalewski, W. W. Bingham, Edwin Ritchie, D. L. Shanahan and Frank Bandhauser. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Nineteenth and Vinton September 1, and meanwhile to have a meeting in the west end of the ward. Before primary day a big rally, with candidates and other speakers, will be held.

Ninth Ward Republicans.

The North End Ninth Ward Republican club organized last night at 2700 Cumming street and held an enthusiastic session. G. W. Shanahan was elected president, James Engler vice president and Dr. F. Renner secretary. Addresses were made by Mr. Shanahan, Prof. A. E. Clarendon, W. M. McKay, Judge W. W. Eastman, Judge S. F. Moore and G. W. Church. Mr. Clarendon asks the republican nomination for county superintendent. Mr. Eastman and Mr. Moore want to continue in office as justices of the peace and Mr. Church would like to be constable. Mr. McKay announced himself as a candidate for the nomination for coroner.

Each man present promised to bring at least two new members to the next meeting, which will be next Friday night. It is proposed to meet each Friday night until the primaries and every two weeks after the primaries until election. Secretary Renner says the club is to be made one of the liveliest in the city.

Announcements of the Theaters.

"Mrs. Black is Back" is the piece in which May Irwin celebrated her return to the stage last season in New York. The verdict of Broadway was that she had lost nothing of her ability to make fun and sing "coon" songs during her two years of rest. She is said to be the same old May Irwin who succeeded in delighting thousands of her fellow countrymen during her career as a comedienne. The play is by George V. Hobart, the well known humorist, and is intended to give the star the center of the stage, but does not exclude others entirely. It will be shown in Omaha with the same company and equipment that made it such a hit in New York last season. The engagement is for one night only, Tuesday, August 22, at the Boyd theater, and the box office is now open.

CROWD AT PURE FOOD SHOW

Heaviest Attendance of the Season Present at Last Evening's Exhibition.

Somewhere between 5,000 and 6,000 people visited the pure food show at the Auditorium last night. They began to arrive at 7:30, but the larger part of them put in their appearance between 8 and 8:30, when two men were required at the box office to handle tickets. They kept coming until almost 10 o'clock, and when the orchestra finished playing at 11 there were still large numbers of people on the floor. It was the biggest night yet, and the management of the show is well satisfied. On the same night at Louisville, Ky., 1,200 more people came than were present in Omaha last night. The managers have no doubt that Omaha will beat Louisville tonight.

Rounds Ladies' orchestra and Miss Gussie Lenahaw, the female baritone singer, continued to attract much attention. Whenever there was a solo last evening or a number by the orchestra the people crowded to the stage end of the Auditorium in order to get the best effect of the music.

Naturally a larger quantity of eatables are consumed each night than the night before and a larger number of samples carried away. The people are growing accustomed to the novel sensation of seeing things given away. At the entrance Harry Fischer and J. B. Coningham stood last night with their arms full of paper bags, distributing them among the comers with the admonition to see that they were well filled. Drinkables were in great demand last night, especially the cool ones, and cold chocolate, buttermilk and ginger ale were sold in floods. The cold chocolate was all gone before the evening was over and H. O. Rounds, who asked for a cup of his favorite drink from the pretty girl behind the counter, was forced to go home dry. Following is the program for the Rounds Ladies' orchestra for Saturday afternoon and evening:

- Song—You're the Flower of My Heart, Sweet Adelaide.
Chime Solo—In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree.
Trombone Solo—Awake, My Beloved, Awake.
Song—When the Fields Are White with Daisies.
Mandolin Solo—Monastery Bells.
March—Your Dad Gave His Life for His Country.
March—Jolly Friends.
March—My Prairie Queen.
Medley Selection—Pip-Pop-Pop, Schottische—Jolly Pickaninies, March—His Majesty and the Maid.

Hoye and Back Pledge Orators. The milkmen who supply Omaha held a picnic Thursday near Fifty-first and Center streets. The ladies of the group were Cousin Hoye and Back who told the milk dealers how important they are to the community during the afternoon. Now all then Councilman Hoye admitted that he was really a truly candidate for sheriff. Mr. Back was attracted largely by the fact that most of the milkmen of the city are Danes and Norwegians, according to his claim.

Mortality Statistics. The following births have been reported to the Board of Health during the twenty-four hours ending at noon Friday: Births—Fred M. Nielsen, 4-year, girl, Marius Anderson, 388 Grover, girl, Deaths—None.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

United States District Court Clerk R. C. Hoyt has returned from a three weeks' vacation trip through the Yellowstone park and Jackson Hole country.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Proposed Viaduct Over Union Pacific Tracks on U Street Delayed.

RAILROAD ENGINEER'S REPORT ADVERSE

Bridge is Not at Present Needed and Will Not Be Constructed This Year, but May Be Next.

For some time the question of a viaduct being built across the tracks from U to Y street has been agitated. Not long ago Engineer Huntley of the Union Pacific was here looking over the ground and he stated at the time that he did not see any necessity for a bridge at this time. Mr. Huntley's report, which is presumed to be adverse, judging from the remarks he made while here, has evidently been adopted. An official of the city said last evening that the railroad company did not propose to commence the construction of a viaduct here this year. With the building of a passenger station and a freight depot this year the Union Pacific considers the time these improvements are completed.

After the coming winter is over another effort will be made by property owners to have this viaduct built across the tracks in the southern part of the city in order to provide better accommodations for those who live in the south and southwestern portions of the city.

It is the same with the bridge across F street. The railroad companies appear to be willing to put a bridge across the tracks at F street just as soon as conditions warrant. When the stock food act is carried into effect for the north part of the city are running there will be another demand for more trackage road and then a bridge across the many tracks at F street will be a necessity. This will probably be a year or two away. At any rate there will not be any bridge building in South Omaha this year by the railroads.

Bond Histories Received.

City Clerk Gillin received a message Friday from Hoehler & Cummings of Toledo acknowledging the receipt of the histories of the Missouri avenue paving bonds. The histories have been turned over to the bond buyers' attorneys and an early report is expected. W. J. Hayes & Sons of Cleveland, who also bid on the bonds, write the clerk that in case Hoehler & Cummings do not take the bonds they would like to have them at their bid. While the city officials would like to have an early report from Hoehler & Cummings, it is not to be taken into consideration until the money for the bonds has been paid.

Will Not Make Repairs.

Although the paving of Twenty-fourth street is almost impassable in places the city officials will not consent to any repairs being made at this time. It was suggested Friday to the authorities that broken stone be used to fill some of the worst holes, but the mayor refused to listen to any such talk. Washouts caused by the storm Thursday night are being taken care of as rapidly as possible by the street force, which is under the direct charge of the mayor.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The Star entertainment course will open October 12 with Alton Packard, the famous cartoonist. Tickets will go on sale about September 1. In order to accommodate the mechanical and architectural drawing class and the regular growth of the night school the large room on the third floor will be used for school work this winter. The religious work committees will meet at the rooms Tuesday evening to mature fall plans. The board of directors will meet Thursday evening, August 24. The board of directors have invited the state convention to meet in South Omaha this coming February.

Another Police Judge Candidate.

Joseph J. Maly, Twenty-fourth and Q streets, filed yesterday and is now a candidate on the republican ticket for police judge. Maly was formerly a democrat and was elected city clerk some twelve years ago by the democrats. Of late years Maly saw the mistakes he had made and joined the republican party. Mr. Maly is crippled, through no fault of his own, having been shot one night by a bullet intended for another. He has many friends in the southern part of the city who are declaring themselves as ready to do all they can to help Maly to be elected. P. J. King, the present judge, thought he would have no opposition, but at the rate the filings are
