NEBRASKA HAS ACTIVE PART

Delegates from This State Prominent at Chicago Reciprocity Conference.

KENNEDY OUTLINES EXACT POSITION

Believed, with Colleagues, and Still Believes, that Dual Tariff is Not the Best Method of Solution.

Nebraska played a far more prominent part in the national reciprocity conference at Chicago than the Associated Press dispatches showed. The Chicago papers of Friday morning devote considerable space to the attitude and speeches of the delegates from this state, who were led by Congressman Kennedy as chairman of the delegation and Edward Rosewater.

Nebraska contributed the chief source of opposition to the final and binding acts of the conference, but after defeat fell into line on the broad spirit of the enterprise. The Nebraska delegates and Governor Cummins' forces differed on two essential the fund, and the two last named defend- will go to trial August 31. points. The of Thurston county and the demurrer to Cummins people insisted upon the minimum and maximum expression and won. Nebraska desired the executive committee osed of one delegate from each state, but lost again and the Cummins demand for a committee of fifteen, appointed by the chairman, was approved.

Kennedy No Coward.

Congressman Kennedy, in particular, as chairman of the delegation, voiced the sentiment of his delegation and occupied considerable time on the floor. He took occasion to repute the fling that "congressmen are cowards" and defied anyone to place him in that category. Said he:

"We cannot afford to declare in favor of a dual tariff and not in favor of reciprocity. We in Nebraska are in favor of tariff re vision, dual tariff or anything that will relieve the situation, but we do not want to ignore reciprocity. I have heard a great breaking camp at the Kroeger home, 4210 told him that the edicts were being printed deal about the cowardice of congressmen, but I am here to say that I am not a coward on this proposition. What I say here I am ready to say on the floor of congress." states fell into line with Nebraska, but the

the importance of the conference: The national reciprocity conference was called in Chicago to urge the wisdom of substituting in our foreign relations the principle of reciprocity for that of exclusion and retailation. The signers of the "We care not whether the future of our foreign trade be safeguarded by means of direct reciprocity treathes or under the provisions of a fairly drawn maximum and withfeature to the fairly drawn maximum and visions of a fairly drawn maximum and minimum tariff law."

The committee on resolutions reported that the convention advocated reciprocal concessions by means of a dual or maximum and minimum tariff as the most adequate and practical method of relieving and the strained situation with which we are now confronted. That resolution was not satisfactory to Governor Cummins of lows and the committee accepted his amendment, by which in effect the convention declared in favor of a dual, or maximum and minimum, tariff as the only adequate and practical method of relieving at this time the strained situation. When the conference adjourned Thursday noon the Nebraska delegates met at the Stratford hotels and unanimously agreed to present a substitute for the resolution referred to, additute for the resolution was not said in alphabetical order, and he says there is very little to come after this will enable for a maximum and minimum tariff, self-committee acceptable or a maximum and minimum tariff, self-committees and practical method of relieving at this time the strained situation. Permanent League Demauded.

The committee on resolutions recommended that a permanent organization be formed under the style of The American Reciprocal Tariff league, and that a committee of fifteen be appointed by the chair, with full power to organize and prosecute the work. The Nebraska delegates unanimously agreed upon a substitute for the recommendation of the committee, providing for a committee of one from each state and territory, the members to be appointed by the chair on the suggestions of the delegates from the several states. After considerable discussion, the plan of the committee was adopted, creating a committee of fifteen only.

The delegates from Nebraska believed, and still believe, that the conference should have declared in favor of reciprocity treaties, as well as the maximum and minimum tariff, because while the present treaties pending in the senate may never be confirmed, the tariff will probably soon be revised and new powers given to the president to negotiate reciprocal treaties; in other words, we feel that the convention should have advocated both methods, so that whichever method might prove most available could be adopted. Nevertheless, we are in complete sympathy with the reciprocity inovement, and while differing with the majority of the convention as to means, we are with them in obtaining the desired result. We feel satisfied that the movement would receive broader and more general confidence and support if the committee had been enlarged on the lines suggested by us, yet we will co-operate with whatever committee is appointed in furthering the objects of the organization.

While the agricultural and stock interests deminated the convention were earnest and energetic, and if the permanent organization carries on the work with spirit and determination, carries on the work with spirit and determination, carries on the work with spirit and determination, the cause of revision will be materially advanced.

Speaking for myself, I favor the immediate revision of the tariff, because no tariff based upon conditions existing eight pears ago, no matter how wisely laid, can be fair and equitable as applied to present conditions. Such action should be taken now, when the country is prospereus, and will stand the necessary changes without serious disturbance to business. There should be ne change in the principle of protection, but only in its application. I believe in reciprocity and will advocate that policy.

MAN AND WIFE DISCHARGED Dismissed by Police Judge as Not Guilty of Breaking Into Building.

George and Leora M. Deal, husband and wife, charged in police court by John H. Hoover with entering building with felonious intent, were discharged by Acting Police Judge Foster Saturday morning. The attorney for the defendants moved that Commissioners Saturday morning Chairman they be tried on only one of the two charges cited in the complaint filed by Deputy County Attorney Shotwell. Judge Foster sustained the motion, which was followed by a motion that the defendants be discharged, which motion also was sustained by the pelice magistrate. The com-plaint filed against the Deals charged them with assault and battery and entering the Hoover apartments with intents of theft. Hoover alleged the Deals unjustifiably charged him with causing the detention of Mrs. Deal's sister in the Home of the Good Shepherd. The plaintiff says both Deal and his wife assaulted him in a vicious manner, breaking a lock to his room at the time of the alleged trouble. Mrs. Deal says she whipped Hoover with a large strap because he talked about her sister. The trouble between Hoover and the Deals dates back several months and had several innings in the justice courts.
