CONSUL DENIES A REPORT Says There Has Been No Bloodshed in Costa Rica at an

Election. NEW YORK, Aug. 26 .- Dr. Juan J. Ullon. consul general of Costa Rica at New York, said today that private advices from Costa Rica to the effect that the clerical party had won a victory and that there had been bloodshed as a result of the election were incorrect. The consul general made the following statement:

The election of first degree took place in Costa Rica on the 20th, list and fid inst, but no official advices have come as yet reporting the results. During the days mentioned above the contestant parties elected the members of the electoral college, who will elect in the month of April next the president of the republic and the congressmen for the new presidential period. period.

As Dr. Panfilo J. Valverde was not the candidate of any of the contending parties. I do not see how he received the majority of votes at the polis. To say that the elections in Costa Rica have ended with serious disturbances and bloodshed is false; the Costa Ricans respect their laws and institutions they are very peaceful. and institutions, they are very peaceful and hold regularly every four years elec-tions for the renewal of the president and of the members of congress.
