HELLO GIRLS' ALARM CLOCKS

Nebraska Telephone Company Will Not Cut Off This Accommodation.

EASTERN COMPANIES ARE DOING IT

Army of Young Women at the Switch Boards Does Many Things for Public as Favors.

Efforts of the eastern telephone companies to shut down on the use of their operators as early-morning alarm clocks and other useful functionaries beside connection makers for subscribers will not be followed in Omaha, according to General Manager Vance Lane of the Nebraska Telephone company.

In New York the alarm clock business got so big it swamped the night forces, so an order was issued forbidding it. Between the text, however, the girls were given to understand that some room was given for the exercise of their judgment. If they feel good, therefore, the Gothamite may still be jingled out of a heavy slumber in time to catch a train. But he must be very, very good to get the service.

"We are not to a point where we have to stop extending every convenience and courtesy to our patrons that is possible, even though such matters are not nominated in the bond," says Mr. Lane. "The extraneous work has been expanding along with the growth of the business, but, as most of it is at night, we can still take care of it. We probably do as much for our patrons besides making connections as anyone can ask."

Many Depend on Central.

Within the last few years more or less trustworthy alarm clocks have been sold for old junk out of many Omaha homes. It is a simple and sure matter to call up central after 10 o'clock and tell her to keep the 'phone ringing from 3:30 a. m. until you respond. She will do it, and you are certain to be drawn from between the covers no matter how chilly the morning. Then, if you have a generous heart, you will get the girl's name and address and some day send her a nice little present, or an automobile or an order for a new hat or a bale of flowers. All these things help.

Every night and morning not less than 200 Omahans are waked by the cheery telephone girls. Railroad and travelling men are the biggest workers of the system. As it is all done at night or in the early morning, when the business on the wires is light, it is easy for the operators, and their memory is kept good by written slips giving the number and time for calling.

Night Girls Do Lot of Extra Work.

But the night girls do a lot of other work for which they get little credit. If a fire breaks out the whole force is used to collect information and answer inquiries. The chief operator makes it a point to inform the persons and firms directly interested in the blaze. Once in a while a man is hurried from his sleep in time to pull out valuable papers from the flames.

In cases of accident where physicians or other assistance is needed it is the duty of the girls to help matters along all they can. Often they are able to get a doctor on the ground long before anyone else could.

A separate information bureau gives quantities of all kinds of useful knowledge to the public at night, when the ordinary information sources are not available. The time of day, the time of arrival and departure of trains, base ball scores, calamities, big news happenings and any manner of knowledge is delivered gratis without loss of time.

CUTICURA GROWS HAIR

Scalp Cleared of Dandruff and Hair Restored by One Box of Cuticura and

ONE CAKE OF CUTICURA SOAP

A. W. Taft of Independence, Va., writing under date of Sept. 15, 1904, says: "I have had falling hair and dandruff for twelve years and could get nothing to help me. Finally I bought one box of Cuticura Ointment and one cake of Cuticura Soap, and they cleared my scalp of the dandruff and stopped the hair falling. Now my hair is growing as well as ever. I am highly pleased with Cuticura Soap as a toilet soap. (signed) A. W. Taft, Independence, Va."

EX-CONVICT ON A RAMPAGE

Omaha Man Paroled from Penitentiary Goes Wild as Result of Dope.

WILL RETURN TO THE STATE PRISON

Telephone Message from Warden Beemer Comes Just at Time When Police Judge is About to Release Man.

Frank Betts, an ex-convict of the Nebraska penitentiary, broke his parole in Omaha Thursday afternoon by creating a scare at Nineteenth street and Capitol avenue while on a "cocaine jag." Betts created some excitement in that neighborhood by running up and down the street, brandishing a revolver and knife. A hurry call was sent to the police station and after an exciting chase Emergency Officer Dan Baldwin brought the frenzied man to bay.

When arraigned in police court Friday morning Betts was fined $10 and costs and was about to be released, after paying his fine, when a telephone message was received from Warden Beemer of the state penitentiary saying that Betts had broken his parole granted four months ago and asking that the prisoner be held for an officer, who would be in Friday evening.

The conduct of Betts Friday afternoon will mean that he will have to serve two and a half years in the state penitentiary, which part of his sentence was allowed when he was paroled four months ago. Betts was sentenced from Fremont, where he was convicted of forgery and horse stealing. He was caught in Iowa with the stolen rig with an Omaha girl by the name of Lipp, returned to Fremont and tried on the two charges.

Goes Back to His Dope.

In police court Friday morning he said he had used cocaine Thursday after having quit the drug for a long time.

According to the evidence of Officer Baldwin in police court Friday morning Betts created quite a scare in the neighborhood of the high school Thursday afternoon. All of a dozen persons telephoned the police station that a crazy man was running wild in that vicinity and immediate help was asked for. Officer Baldwin was detailed and he proved equal to the task. He chased Betts for half a mile, the fugitive running with a revolver in one hand and a knife in the other. At Twentieth and Douglas streets Betts stumbled and at that moment Balwin was on him and pinioned his arms. At police headquarters Betts gave four strong policemen a hard tussle before the handcuffs were removed.

Betts is but 24 years of age. He is the son of John Betts, 2315 North Seventeenth street.

Letter Carrier Rests Easily.

James J. Cook, mail carrier at the Omaha postoffice, is resting easily at his home, 143 North Thirty-first avenue. It is expected Mr. Cook will be able to resume his duties after a few days. In some manner an erroneous report gained circulation that he was unconscious and in a serious condition as the result of heat prostration. Mr. Cook is one of the oldest carriers in the local service.

LAWYER SORE AT WITNESS

Cunningham B. Scott is Trimmed to a Standstill in County Court.

WOMAN ON THE STAND WAS VERY CLEVER

Irascible Attorney Ran Against Feminine Finesse and Innocence to the Point of Paying Opponent a Compliment.

A case involving possession of a garden lot in Murphy's addition to Omaha has occupied the attention of Judge Vinsonhaler for two morning sessions of the county court. The title of the case is Joseph H. Hadkinson against E. L. Burris. Mr. Hadkinson was accompanied to court by his wife, who was the responsible manager of the place in question during her husband's absence. Burris was supported by Mrs. Burris and four children, ranging in age from 6 years to a baby in arms. The lawyers in the case were J. Q. Burgner for plaintiff and Cunningham B. Scott for defendant.

Mr. Hadkinson's examination passed off without much sign of war, though Attorney Scott did exhibit considerable fierceness at times. It was when Mrs. Hadkinson came to the stand that Cunningham B. Scott was brought to make the admission, "You ought not to be managing a garden patch; you ought to be a lawyer," the last part of the sentence with a floodtide inflection.

Woman Worries Him.

Mrs. Hadkinson, comely, calm and caustic, gave the irascible old lawyer as bad a half hour or so as any legal light ever got. When he tried to put affirmative questions to her, Mrs. Hadkinson rode him down the line in a way that made every individual hair on his head to stand up like the quills upon the fretful porcupine. And Mr. Scott's gorge rose and he gave evidence that the woman's way was not for him at all a primrose path.

Scott is gray and quite spunky. The witness was superior to his tactics and sidetracked him while she demolished his questions in the innocent but aggravating way that female witnesses have. Even Judge Vinsonhaler, while admonishing her to be specific in her answers, slid one hand over the lower part of his face to sustain the frontal dignity of the court. And opposite Scott sat the dark, smooth and slightly deaf Mr. Burgner. In protecting his witness he added a few lines to the gayety of the legal soiree, almost unintentionally.

At the conclusion of Mrs. Hadkinson's testimony there was not a genial spot in Lawyer Scott's makeup, while the woman was still smiling and unafraid. The court found that owing to a defect in the information the case should be dismissed; but it will have another day in court.

Member of Gravel Pit Gang.

In police court Friday morning, Acting Police Judge Foster sentenced A. E. Sutherland ten days on a charge of vagrancy. It was charged Sutherland was one of a gang of men who have made their headquarters at the "gravel pit," which is in the rear of a saloon in the proscribed district, where men congregate and drink beer, one being delegated to go out and beg on the streets for money with which to buy beer.

EIGHT-HOUR CONTEST IS WON

Boston Arbitrator Decides in Favor of Union Carpenters on New Scale.

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—Six thousand union carpenters of Boston receive an advance of wages under the decision of Judge T. Wentworth, to whom as special arbitrator the employes and unionists submitted the question of a new working agreement.

Judge Wentworth grants the five main demands of the carpenters, including an increase of from 37½ cents an hour to 41 cents, or from $3.00 to $3.28 for an eight-hour day, double time for all overtime instead of time and a half and an eight instead of nine-hour work day for all shop and mill hands.

Railroad Files Its Plats.

PIERRE, S. D., Aug. 25.—(Special Telegram.)—The Missouri River & Northwestern railway from Mystic to Rapid City, has filed its plat with the state land department and asked for an appraisement of the state lands which it crosses.

Liberati's Concert at Krug Park.

The audience which greeted Liberati and his military band at Krug park last evening was in quality one of the best which has ever been seen there. In quantity nothing was wanting and the additional chairs—the second increase by Manager Cole—was not sufficient to seat the crowd. Liberati has certainly established himself by the generosity of his encores and the superb playing of himself and his associates. This afternoon and evening will close the engagement of Liberati and his band.

LOCAL BREVITIES

When arraigned in police court Friday morning it cost Bailey Gingross $5 and costs for not knowing that there is a city ordinance prohibiting the burning of rubbish on the paved streets of the city. Gingross was arrested by Officer Crowe while burning a lot of rubbish at Sixteenth and California streets.

Agnes Urick is suing the Travelers' Accident association for $5,000, alleged to be due on a policy taken out in defendant company by her former husband, Ray F. Brock. Mr. Brock was killed in a railroad wreck at Altamont, Mo., a few months ago.

Mabel Hooker Rockford and Ida Stewart have filed petitions for divorce in the district court. Both petitions allege cruel treatment and neglect against William F. Rockford and Myron V. Stewart.

To advertise the Ak-Sar-Ben festivities and to get additional people to enjoy them the Dansk Folke Tidende, a local Danish weekly, has offered a prize of a silver table set to the Danish society within 200 miles of Omaha, that registers the largest number of visitors at headquarters in Washington hall during the ten days' frolic. The lodges of Omaha, South Omaha and Council Bluffs are barred from the contest, but there are sixty others in the territory admitted to the competition.

But the Horse Was Sober.

An unusual case of equine instinct occurred Thursday evening when John Jones and John Doe of Fourteenth and Howard streets were hauled from South Omaha to Nineteenth and Vinton streets by a faithful animal that would have taken the men all the way home had not Officer Reigleman of the Omaha police force intercepted. Patrolman Reigleman noticed the moving rig with the sleeping men and thought it his duty to have a look, and he arrested Jones and Doe on the charge of being drunk. Both were fined $1 and costs by Acting Police Judge Foster, when arraigned in police court Friday morning.
