LOVE THE INSPIRING ELEMENT

Rev. Dr. Beaver of Glenwood, Iowa, Emphasizes Spiritual Power.

HOPE INSPIRED IN DYNAMO OF LOVE

Rev. M. L. Melick Tells of Spiritual Foresight of Christ and Its Effect on Destiny of Mortals.

"Love is the master spirit that is actoating the wave of reformation-social, commercial, municipal, state-that is sweeping over the land," said Rev. A. H. Beaver of Glenwood, Ia., who preached at Calvary Baptist church Sunday morning.

'It is the power beating in the hearts of the president and such men as Folk, Weaver and the governor of Indiana. In the dynamo of love hope is inspired, the hope that goes into the world and conquers. It was because George Washington loved his country that he was enabled to endure privations, and discouragements and to fight and suffer. It was love that induced Christ to live the life of a serf and suffer death on "Love is the chief attribute of God's character and the corneratone of God's work; the supreme motive of Christian living. Nature says we must; duty says we shall; but love says come. It is charged that the Christian religion appeals to men's selfishness and that if they join the church they are assured of a standing in good society, commercial and professional success and excellent chances for the life hereafter. The innguage of the gospel contradicts this that it might be condemned, but that it might be saved. Fear is a fundamental part of the human soul, a God-given attribute not acquired, inherited or cultivated. Under certain conditions it is just specific purpose. When rightly used it is a lng. great blessing to us. It is the only way to influence some men. How many, for instance, are living decently in the eyes of man because they are afraid of a scandal Many Bathers And Sightseers Visit like that in the family of Captain Taggart How many do not drink because they fear the drunkard's fate? Would that we had thousands more men and women in the world with the same noble and righteous fear in their hearts.

"But clear, strong and definite is the teaching of God in the gospel of love. Fear in itself is not sufficient to save any man. Many have trembled and not reformed. It terribleness and hideousness of sin, grasps Christ, who will repent and turn to good

Or. Melick said in part;

OLD-TIME EDITOR REBELS

S. D. Carpenter of Madison, Wis., is Up and Away to Avoid Hospital Confinement.

S. D. Carpenter ("Pump" to the editorial profession in Wisconsin), who has been ill at Memorial St. Joseph's hospital in Omaha. for a short time, started for his home in Madison, Wis., Saturday night. Mr. Carpenter has relatives living in this city, and while here resided at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ida Nalle, 2613 Dodge street. He came to Omaha three weeks ago last Friday to visit his relatives here. A week ago an acute attack of indigestion made it necessary to send Mr. Carpenter to Creighton Memorial St. Joseph's hospital.

His robust manner of living would not permit the aged editor to rest easy in the hospital, and at the first return of health decided to start again for the Wisconsin state capital, where almost three score years of his life have been spent.

Mr. Carpenter claims to be the original inventor of the now famous perfecting printing press, which runs off papers from roll, us in The Bee press room. He also was largely instrumental in making practicable the present self-binding harvesting machines. This fighting editor of other days is now 87 years of age, and he boasts a son who is a printer in Des Moines and ta 60 years old. His visit to Omaha was simply a summer holiday diversion with Mr. Carpenter, who expects to live a cen-

HOME FOR FOUR LITTLE WAIFS Child Saving Institute Has Peculiarly Pathetle Case on Hand Just

at Present.

At the Child Savings institute a case of rusual interest and peculiar pathos is now awaiting solution. In one of the interior Nebraska towns recently a mother died leaving four children, three boys and a girl to the care of the father, who had already proved incapable of caring for more than himself. Last week Superintendent A. W. Clark of the leatitude took over the four children and is now looking about to find suitable homes for them. The pathos of the case is this, that the children, with the exception of the little girl, are old enough to understand what is taking place in their lives and dread greatly being separated. When they arrived at the Child Savings institute last week the youngest boy, who is 6 years old, pleaded pitifully that he be not separated from his little sister, who is but I years old. The older boys, one aged 11 and the other 9, realize that it will be next to impossible that they all secure homes together, but they are very anxious that all be located in the same neighborhood, where they can be as near to each other as the circumstances will permit. Mr. Clark says it is one of the most pitiful cases he has yet encountered in his experience as superintendent of the work. When the father went before the probate judge in his home county to sign the papers relinquishing the control of his children to the institute he very nearly broke down. but realizing that it was for the good of the little ones he had broungt into the world ides. God sent his son into the world, not and could not properly provide for he made them over. Now the hope is that some persons will take enough interest in the matter to provide the little folks with homes so that they will not be widely sep arated. The boys are all bright and manly as natural for a man to be afraid as it is little chaps, and their devotion to each for him to breathe. Fear was given for a other and to their baby sister is most touch-

This morning the county commissioners will field a special meeting for the purpose of giving consideration to the request heretofore made and chronicled in The Hee. that they sign the petition for repaying Farnam street with asphalt. A good deal of pressure has been brought to bear on the members of the county board, and it is expected that they will be inclined to subscribe to the movement instituted by the merchants on the street to have this principal thoroughfare repayed.

How to keep the interesting little feels simply, neatily and yet prelitily dressed is the main object—not always an easy matter to accomplish either, for somehow childers have a way of soon becoming solied and many are the "changes" necessary for the average child. In this dress front and back are pleated and may be firtished as illustrated, or left plain and worm without a belt for every day service. The pattern is perforated for pointed neck outline, although the pattern includes a high collar and long aleeves. The closing is on the left side under the first pleat. AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Property Owners on Q Street Are Clamoring for a Pavement.

Chief Briggs and His Officers Express the Opinion that Sneak Thieves Have Been Bantshed from South Omnha.

WANT THOROUGHFARE WEST TO LIMITS

In the early part of the year property owners and residents on Q street west of Thirty-third filed petitions asking that the street be paved from Thirty-third street west to the city limits. Then when the law went into effect changing the method of payment of the special taxes and putting the bulk of the burden on the property owners, the matter was dropped. Now that Missouri avenue and Twenty-fourth street are to be paved according to the old law the Q street people are again clamoring for a pavement. While those interested in this improvement do not expect to get much done this year the statement was made yesterday that another petition was to be circulated and the matter brought before the council before long. By starting now it is asserted that there will be plenty of time for the city engineer to establish the grades and for the council to pass the dinances. Then bids for bonds can be advertised for and the sale completed and the contract let so that everything will be in readiness for work to commence in the spring. As a general thing it takes the attorneys for bond buyers several weeks to pass on the legality of a bond issue, and also considerable time in getting the ordinance in shape and the histories prepared. Bonds must be advertised fourteen days before blds can be opened.

Those who have talked the matter over deem it advisable to start on the matter next month as at least thirty days, or nerhaps more, will be required to secure the necessary signatures to the petition. In cases where the property owner is a honresident considerable correspondence must necessarily ensue, and this all takes On account of the rapid increase in travel out Q street way the pavement of this thoroughfare is deemed a necessity. With the pavement of this street to the western city limits County Commissioner Trainor asserts that it will not be a difficult matter to induce the Burlington to construct a viaduct across the grade crossing just west of the city limits. This mutter of a bridge has been taken up with the railroad company and the impression Mr. Trainor has is that the railroad will build a bridge just as soon as the city makes a showing towards paying the street.

Clearing the City of Thieves. Heads of the police department in South maha are satisfied now that the city has at last been ridded of the gangs of sneak thieves and house breakers that have been operating here for about three weeks. No new cases of robberies have been re ported for forty-eight hours and Chief Briggs thinks that the gangs have been broken up. Quite a number of suspects have been arrested. Some were ordered out of the city and several given county jall sentences. Still others are working a scythe cutting weeds on the streets. Stealing brass in the railroad yards still goes on to some extent but these thefts, too, are falling off.

Two School Houses Papered. Every room in the Central school building has been papered within the last two weeks and several of the rooms at the West Side school. Painters are now at work at some of the school houses getting the buildings in shape for the opening of the schools. When the janitors report for duty the floors will be scrubbed and the windows cleaned and the buildings thoroughly aired. Every school building will be put in first class condition before September II, when the schools will open.

Will Pay Salaries Tonight. Tonight when the city council meets the pay roll for August for firemen and policenen will be passed and warrants drawn to

Sunday morning. In the moving of the buildtelephone cables will be interfered with, but electric light and telephone linemen will be kept busy getting wires out of the way. It will probably be three weeks before the two sections of the building will rest on the foundations on the property purchased some time ago by the school district.
