Against Her.

WOOSTER, O., Aug. 30 .- Mrs. Taggart was put through a trying cross-examination by Attorney Sterling in the Taggart divorce case today. She was questioned closely in regard to her life at Fort Thomas and at other places. Her replies were invariably prompt and to the point. She strenuously denied every improper act charged against her. Attorney Sterling then took up the family history at Fort Leavenworth. Mrs. Taggart's attorneys raised objections and the examination progreaned slowly.

The general pervading sentiment among the thinking element is that Japan arrived at a recognition of the fact that it was really impossible for Russia to make any Wife of Army Officer Denies Every further concessions because it desired to avoid arousing among the people at home sentiments, which would constitute a mora serious menace in the future. It is recognized here that Japan also realized the necessity for a lasting and stable peace, and it is believed that the success of the conference was due to the fact that both nations sincerely desired to effect an understanding

The hope is expressed here that the same high spirit so necessary to the success achieved at Portsmouth will obtain until the work of the plenipotentiaries has been finally concluded. To this feeling can be ascribed the fact that the more intelligent Russiana do not regard the outcome at Portsmouth as being altogether a diplomatic victory or a success won at the ex-
