

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

City Treasurer Howe has Completed His Annual Report.

BEST SHOWING IN HISTORY OF CITY

J. H. Brady, Succeeds F. L. Corwin as Superintendent of the Railroad Department of Union Stock Yards.

City Treasurer E. L. Howe has completed his annual report showing in detail all receipts and disbursements in the various funds of the city for the fiscal year ending July 31, 1905. This report also shows the outstanding bonds, warrants, etc. The amount collected from the general levies, including interest for the years 1889 to 1904 inclusive is $108,625.

Expenditures for the last fiscal year were as follows: Salaries, $34,530; general fund, $13,572; fire, $18,782; police, $13,011; public light, $15,266; water, $14,064; interest, $46,814; library, $4,403; street repair, $7,134; judgment, $2,513; paving and curbing, $2,383. Other small amounts make the total $108,625.

From licenses there was received during the fiscal year $2,330; police court fines, $282; interest on daily balances, $2,141; royalty, Omaha Gas company, $1,421; rent city property, $108; transfers from other funds, $3,897; total, $10,862. These receipts were all credited to the general fund.

From the county treasurer there was received $5,830 for road purposes. The sale of property under the scavenger tax law brought in $19,312. Dog tags realized $290, building permits $82 and plumbing permits $72.

The sum of $121,959 was paid out for disbursements, grading and sewer bonds, special assessments, transfers, etc.

The general bonded debt of the city on July 31 of this year was $80,138.

The amount of outstanding warrants at this sale is $4,515. This includes general, fire, police, street repair, interest, permanent sidewalk, garbage and grading.

At the close of the fiscal year there was money remaining in almost every fund. Total balance carried over to the present fiscal year being $33,250. The overdrafts in the smaller funds amounted to $73. These overdrafts are in funds where the property owners have been slow in paying up special improvement taxes.

Treasurer Howe declares that the report just completed is the best from a financial point ever issued by any city treasurer. This report will be submitted to the council at the meeting to be held on Tuesday evening.

Stock Yards Changes.

On September 1 F. L. Corwin, superintendent of the railroad department of the Union Stock Yards company, will sever his connection with the company after a half dozen years' service. It is understood that Mr. Corwin will return to his home at St. Paul, Minn. General Manager Kenyon has appointed J. H. Brady as superintendent of the railroad department to succeed Mr. Corwin. George Hunter, at present head feed master at the yards, has been appointed car accountant. This appointment puts Mr. Hunter back into his old place, which he resigned some years ago when he left the city.

Two Checks Stolen.

Sneak thieves stole two checks from Gus Hedgren's saloon, Twenty-seventh and N streets, about noon Saturday. One check was drawn in favor of E. O. Vanbeck and called for $22.45 and the other had been issued to Frank Fitzgerald for $100.75. In reporting the matter to the police Hedgren said that he had cashed the checks and laid them on the back bar. While his attention was attracted to the rear of the place the checks were taken. Hedgren gave a description of the men he suspects to the police. All saloons in the business portion of the city were notified of the theft and requested to notify the police in case the checks were offered in payment for drinks.

Numerous Robberies Again.

Just as the police officials thought that they had driven a gang of thieves out of the city another epidemic of stealing breaks out. Most of the robberies reported are in the northern portion of the city and in the residence district where a policeman is seldom seen. At night there is only one patrolman on Twenty-fourth street and he has a beat from A to Q street. This officer seldom gets off Twenty-fourth street, and so burglars have things their own way. The city has only one detective and he is kept busy in the business portion of the city most of the time. In the opinion of a great many the thieving is being done by a local gang and not by traveling bands. These local thieves know the habits of the police and can pick out the right time to enter a house, well knowing that they will not be disturbed by officers of the law. Some citizens have already made complaint to the police commissioners and have urged that some steps be taken to stop the rapidly increasing number of house burglaries.

Methodist Rally Day.

Today is Rally day at the First Methodist Episcopal church, Twenty-third and N streets, there being only two more Sundays before conference. At the morning service Rev. Dr. Tindall will deliver a sermon entitled "My God, My Christ, My Church." Mrs. H. C. Richmond will sing at this service. In the evening Pastor Tindall preaches on the theme, "My Visit to the Sea of Galilee." The sermon will be followed by a solo by the pastor. Every member of the church and congregation is urged to attend the services today.

No Celebration Monday.

Monday is Labor day, but there will not be any celebration in South Omaha. The banks and city offices will be closed and the packing houses will close down after a couple of hours' work in the morning. Cows of beef for the east will be loaded out and when this is finished the employees of the plants will be released for the day. A great many laboring men expect to attend the celebration at Courtland Beach. Some of the stores propose closing at noon or a little before, in order that employees may be given a holiday.

May Grade K Street.

A petition has been prepared for presentation to the city council asking for the grading of K street from Twentieth to Twenty-third street. The statement was made Saturday that enough property owners had signed the petition to carry it through. East of Twenty-third street there is a quite a gully that will have to be filled if the street is graded, but interested parties assert that the gully between Twenty-third and Twenty-second street and J and K street is graded almost enough dirt

REMARKABLE SKIN GRAFTING

Over One Thousand Pieces of Outlets to Make New Scalp.

MISS LILLIAN SULLIVAN RICH IN FRIENDS

Young Woman Scalded by Accident in a Factory Finds Generous Response to an Appeal for Pieces of Skin.

One of the most successful and interesting operations in the annals of local surgery was performed on Miss Lillian Sullivan of 516 North Nineteenth street at St. Joseph's hospital during the last eight months, the operation not yet being quite complete.

While working in the packing department of the McCord-Brady company's establishment last December 20 the young woman stepped onto a bench to get some boxes, when a revolving shaft caught her hair and removed every vestige of her capillary adornment, together with the scalp from the eyebrows to the back of the neck, in less time than it takes to tell it.

Miss Sullivan was removed to the hospital, where it was at first hoped the shorn scalp and tresses might, with delicate treatment, be induced to adhere. This proving futile, the next best thing, that of grafting new skin, was employed with eminent success.

That Miss Sullivan lived through the ordeal and is now in a fair state of health is said by the medical fraternity to be remarkable. That the surgeons have succeeded in starting the growth of new scalp by means of grafting 1,000 pieces of new skin is said to be still more remarkable.

Friends Responded Generously. When it was determined that the old scalp and hair could not be restored to the head it was further learned that a new scalp would not grow. Nature, the doctors say, gives to every man and woman but one scalp. Then the work of grafting new skin was begun. Friends of Miss Sullivan were called on for contributions of cuticle and numerous were the volunteers who responded. About twelve persons were enlisted and over 1,000 small operations were made on them, each removing a small section of skin about one-fourth of an inch square. It required nine operations to place the pieces on the young woman's head, the grafting being begun at the outer edges until the top of the head was reached. The friends who gave of their cuticle to save the woman's life were subjected to a "local anesthetic" so that the pieces could be clipped out with scissors.

Miss Sullivan remained at St. Joseph's hospital for months, and an attic given to that institution for dressings. Her general state of health is improving rapidly and the belief is she will fully recover her former health. In all appearances her crowning glory is the same as it was before the accident. Her former employers have continued her full salary and have shown her many other courtesies.

CITY HAS NO MONEY HANDY

If Maple Street is to Be Opened from Twenty-Eighth to Thirty-First Citizens Must Pay.

The Omaha View Improvement club had a rousing meeting Friday night, with President Wilson in the chair.

The report of the committee on opening up Maple street, from Twenty-eighth to Thirty-first streets, was that the city had no money to pay for ground for streets, and if the club wanted the street opened it would have to form a district, raise the money and pay for it themselves.

The boulevard and park committee reported the completion of their work, which was given them by the club on September 4, 1902, and submitted the following report:

Whereas, We feel much gratified over the successful termination of the agitation carried on by the improvement clubs of North Omaha for the establishment of the central boulevard system through to Miller park, and

Whereas, We believe that this great improvement will be of much and lasting benefit to North Omaha and the city in general; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the Omaha View Improvement club, extend to the park commission our most sincere appreciation for their consideration given our petition asking for the establishment of the boulevard in our vicinity, and we respectfully offer any assistance our club may be able to give in acquiring the right-of-way, etc., and be it further

Resolved, That we extend our hearty thanks for the enthusiastic and active cooperation of our neighboring club in bringing this great undertaking to a successful conclusion. Respectfully submitted, GEORGE W. SANCHA, JOHN DAVIES, JOSEPH HOUGHTON, Omaha View Improvement Club Park Committee.

Conant's band will give an afternoon and evening concert, and several of the solo artists will render selections. G. L. Heffner, the illustrated ballad singer and a series of timely motion pictures will be on the program at the Casino. Sensationalism will be provided by "Dare Devil" Fackler's slide for life and a balloon and parachute jump by Prof. Andrew. The flowers are now rich with blossoms and the foliage is at its best. Two features that constitute a magnetic attraction for lovers of the beautiful.
