DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 6-Eighteen or twenty lives were lost and property valued $500,000 sacrificed in the furious storm that swept over Lake Superior Sunday and Sunday night. The gale was the most destructive to take shipping that has been experienced in many years. Besides the wreck of the steel steamer Sevons, which broke in two on Sand Island reef seven of the crew losing their lives, it is now believed that two more shops were lost with their entire crews. One of these is thought to be the chooner Pretoria of Bay City, Mich., the largest sailing ship on fresh water, and carrying a crew of eight men. The other is believed to be the schooner Olive Jeanette which carried a crew of seven men. The Pretoria broke loose from the steamer that was towing during the storm, and today Captain Wandig of the steamer Mary Boyle, reported that the spars of a sunken three masted schooner could be seen a short distance east of the outer island of the Apostle group, about a hundred miles from Duluth. The Olive Jeanette, it is believed, went to the bottom about ten miles from Portage entry. A mass of wreckage was sighted by the steamer Juniata near that point, and although the identity of the ship has not been completely established, there seems little doubt that it is the Olive Jean-

The storm at times reached the propor tions of a hurricane and the staunchest new steel vessels were forced to run for shelter in a more or less battered condition. The new steel steamer Stackhouse arrived at the Soo on its first trip with its hatch covers so badly sprung that water poured continually into the hold. One of the crew was washed overboard. The whaleback steamer Samuel Mather also lost one of its crew overboard. The terrific battering the steel steamers received in the storm gives rise to the gravest fears for the safety many wooden ships which have not yet eported and the record of death and dev reach much greater proportions than the present estimates. . The monetary loss of the Sevona is placed at $170,000, while that' of the Pretoria is estimated at $150,000.

Sinking of the Pretoria. ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 4-A Duluth, Minn., special to the Pioneer-Press says; It was definitely learned here tonight that the sunken schooner near Outer Island was the Pretoria. Five of its crew of ten were drowned by the capsizing of the yawl in which the crew took refuge when the boat began to flounder. The crow lost control of the yawl and all were spilled into WAR the lake. Five were drowned immediately, out the others clung to the overturned boat. They were 500 feet from shore. John Irvine, the lightkeeper, observing the plight of the sailors, launched his own boat in the boiling sea with the help of his assistant

> While the formal parade feature was lacking, and the waiting crowds were missed in the streets, everywhere about the city was evidence of a day the character of which was out of the ordinary. City hall and county court house were closed to all business but that of necessity. As advertised for days ahead, most of the business houses—all of the big, substantial ones—were closed, at least after 12 o'clock, and capitalist as well as laboring man was given pause to think of what the state enactivent - nation-wide - means which says that the first Monday in September of each year shall be labor's own holiday, dedicated to hope for the future and confidence in the present.

> Instead of delivering a set desire to submit a few suggest! desire to submit a few suggestions which seem to me appropriate to the day. In the first place, I am gind to participate in a Labor day celebration which I believe it to be the duty of all of us to emphasize in every possible way, because of the dignity of labor. No sentiment is more dangerous to the nation or more destructive to the morals of the people generally than the belief that labor is a disnonorable thing from which men should seek to than the belief that labor is a dishonorable thing from which men should seek to divorce themselves and their families.

Believes in Organized Labor.

I am glad to take part in your exercises today because I believe in organized labor. I do not mean to say that I believe that organized labor will always abstain from mistakes or will always be wise in its decisions. To expect that would be to expect perfection, and perfection is not within the reach of any of us. But I believe that organization is not only necessary for the protection of labor's rights, but useful for the advancement of the interests of those who toil.
