AFFAIRS OF NEW YORK LIFE

New York Investigation Brings Out Some Peculiarities of Insurance Financed.

MESSAGERS SIGN NOTES FOR LARGE SUMS

Method by Which Undesirable Assets Are Removed from Company's Books—Lawson May Testify.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Today's session of the legislative life insurance investigation committee was devoted exclusively to the affairs of the New York Life Insurance company and a searching examination was made of its officers. Beginning with the salaries paid to the officers, the line of inquiry extended through all the details of company management.

Lawson May Testify

An interesting feature was the statement that Thomas W. Lawson of Boston might be called as a witness. The committee's chairman, State Senator Armstrong, said that if the information Mr. Lawson is supposed to hold could not be secured from other persons, the Boston financier would be asked to testify.

Officers of the New York Life company testified today that on one occasion it became necessary for the company to sell certain securities in order to satisfy the Prussian government. Two clerks signed notes aggregating $2,500,000, and on the books the securities appeared as sold to these parties, although they really had been turned over to the New York Trust company as security for the loan made on the notes of the two insurance company employees.

Salaries of Employees

The salaries paid to the officers of the New York Life Insurance company were the subject of the open inquiries when the insurance company was under investigation. Edmund Randolph, treasurer of the New York Life, testified that the salary of President John A. McCull of that company had been increased from $40,000 in 1902 to $50,000 in 1903, $55,000 in 1904 and $60,000 since 1904.

The reduction in salary was due to Mr. Perkins going into partnership with J. P. Morgan.

Mr. Randolph's statement of the salaries of the other officials showed a steady increase.

John Clavin, a director and member of the finance committee of the New York Life Insurance company, was the next witness. Mr. Clavin described the company's method of making investments through the finance committee. The list of investments, as a rule, was prepared, he said, not by the finance committee, but by a number of financial institutions, practically the whole financial community. The proposals were first passed on by a subcommittee, which eliminated the impossible ones. If the proposals came on the day of the finance committee sitting, the whole finance committee considered the proposals.

Big Loan to Trust Company

Mr. Randolph said that the object of the New York Life in keeping such large sums with the New York Trust company at an interest of 1 1/2 per cent less than the current rate was to provide the New York Trust company with a large fund of money which could make loans. During the first three months of 1902 the New York Life Insurance company kept $10,000,000 continually on deposit with the New York Trust company. Mr. Randolph said in explanation that this was the fact that the large blocks of preferred stock of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad and of Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul had to be removed from the assets of the New York Life Insurance company to satisfy the Prussian government. They were taken from the insurance company by the New York Trust company. Later the transaction, at the wish of the trust company, was changed into collateral loan from the trust company to the insurance company. Then collateral notes were signed by two employees of the company, one of whom, named Marshall, was a messenger of the company at $500 a year. It was customary in banks for employees to sign notes for their banks and notes involving millions were often made in this way.

telling the crowd that if the cathedral was destroyed he and the guard would commit suicide. The crowd agreed not to touch the cathedral.

The newspapers generally assailed the police authorities for withdrawing street patrols and leaving the city unprotected. Soldiers are proving to be more effective in the police work than the militia. The soldiers are popular and the crowds generally obey their orders.

The Tokyo municipality has passed a resolution denouncing the terms and favoring the abandonment of the peace treaty. The municipality had planned a mass meeting at Hibaya park today, but on account of the danger of disorders voluntarily cancelled the meeting.

Soldiers in Readiness.

Strong influences are working toward calming popular excitement and checking the rioting. The opinion is expressed tonight that the worst violence has passed and that conditions will speedily mend.

The municipality has assumed charge of the capital today under the authority of the general ordinance has, in his proclamation, created a good impression owing to the conciliatory tone in which it is expressed and its note of firmness in declaring that the city is not to be forced to do so.

The report that trouble has spread at Chiba, forty miles distant from Tokyo, has been partly confirmed. It seems certain that the police station was destroyed, but the destruction of the prefectural office and court houses is not confirmed.

Japanese reporters of the Associated Press who have been watching the rioting report that the character of the crowds has changed materially of late. They say that earlier in the trouble thousands of responsible citizens joined in the rioting, but that now the crowd is largely formed from the disreputable classes, students and young rowdies.

The day has been quiet in Kobe and no rioting has been reported. A heavy rain began to fall at dusk which drove the majority of the streets and indoors.

NEWSPAPERS DEFEND RIOTERS

One Tokyo Journal Demands Resignation of Cabinet.

TOKIO, Wednesday, Sept. 8.—A m. (Delayed in Transmission.)—With the exception of the Kikumun, the government organ, the newspapers this morning generally criticized the action of the police in closing Hibaya park and attempting to suppress meetings. They say the measures of the police were unwarranted and foolish and served to excite the crowds.

TARTARS PLUNDER CITY DESPITE TROOPS

Men Take Refuge in a Hospital and Throw Burning Oil on Soldiers Who Fire Upon Them.

BAKU, Caucasus, Sept. 8.—Street fighting continued until late last night. The soldiers, banks and government buildings are guarded by troops.

Balakhan was completely burned out after the Tartars had plundered it of everything valuable, and although shot down in masses by the artillery, the Tartars were not deterred from their work of wreckage and looting.

Fierce fighting and great slaughter occurred at the Balakhan hospital, where 1,000 Armenians and workmen gathered. General Shtrinkin sent a detachment of artillery with three guns to the scene and the commander of the detachment summoned the crowd to surrender. The latter replied with volleys of stones and some shots which killed one of the gunners.

The commander of the troops thereupon opened fire. The first discharge of the three guns miscarried, the shells falling into the sea, but the second discharge sent the shells crashing into the hospital, where they exploded, killing an immense number of men and wrecking the building.

The maddest crowd charged the guns and captured them after deluging the gunners with burning oil. The latter fled. Cossacks and infantry reinforcements attempted to recapture the abandoned guns, but were driven back by the suffocating smoke.

Case of the Trouble.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 8.—The first and principal cause of the disorders at Baku is the Moslem hatred of the Armenians. This feeling is of long standing and is never absent. The Armenians have been detested as parasites and exploiters of the Mohammedan and other populations in the Caucasus and for several years the Russian authorities have had much difficulty in restraining the Tartars from cruel and bloody reprisals.

The Armenians understood the situation, and aware of their danger, armed themselves. The Baku massacres in February showed how well they did for themselves. This was evidenced again in the last seven days by the large number of Tartars killed in the rioting. The Tartars, however, seem bent on exterminating the Armenians by killing them and destroying their villages, homes and churches.

The Armenians have the upper hand in commerce and industry in the Caucasus. This superiority galls the Tartars and increases their hatred. This outbreak was predicted almost to a day three months ago, but the government even forbade the refinery owners to organize private militia for the protection of their property.
