HOW VAN SANT BEAT LIND

Interesting Story of Minnesota Politics Related by Colonel B. J. Mosier.

NORTH STAR PEOPLE STOP IN OMAHA

In Party is C. F. Macdonald, Veteran Democratic Statesman and Editor, All Returning from Denver Encampment.

A party of Minnesotans who had been to Denver attending the Grand Army encampment stopped off at the Paxton hotel yesterday between trains.

The Times had a unique advent as a daily. For many years it had been published as a weekly and one afternoon back in the '30s a member of the state committee and one of the streets of St. Cloud and its occupant was observed distributing papers.

Colonel Mosier also is a democratic wheel horse of the North Star. He was a member of the state committee and one of the most active leaders in the campaign of 1900, when Governor John Lind was barely defeated for re-election by Samuel R. Van Sant.

"That was a hard fought battle and a hard and bitter one to lose," observed Colonel Mosier. "The republicans had about recognized the impossibility of beating Lind by ordinary means."

Noticeable Increase in the Marketing of Hogs as Compared with Previous Week.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 13.—(Special Telegram.)—The Price Current says: There has been some enlargement in the marketing of hogs compared with the recent movement and the supply indicates considerable gain over the corresponding time last year.

Candidates in Eleventh Ward. Candidates in the party nominating addressed the Eleventh Ward Republican club at its meeting last night at Fortsett and Hamilton streets.

More Students at Seminary. Attendance Will Be Larger When Divinity School Opens for Year September Twenty.

Class work will begin Wednesday morning, September 20, at the Omaha Theological seminary.

Endorsement for Ure. At the meeting of the Real Estate exchange Wednesday the following resolution was adopted by unanimous vote.

Sixth Warders Make Endorsement. The Sixth Ward Republican league held a meeting last night at which the league endorsed for clerk, Donahue for sheriff, Bodwell for superintendent, Herman Beals for surveyor, Brainerd for coroner, Bryce Crawford for police judge and Eshman and Foster for justices of the peace.

HUNT YELLOW FEVER GERM

Bacteriologists Are Holding Autopsies on Victims of Plague at New Orleans.

SLIGHT INCREASE IN NUMBER OF CASES

Average Continues a Little Higher Than Was Expected, but the Death Rate is Less Than Ten Per Cent.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 13.—Report of yellow fever situation up to 6 p. m. Wednesday:

New cases 41. New foci 1. Total cases 2,413. Under treatment 203. Deaths 103. Discharged 1,157. Total deaths 222.

Autopsies are being held here of patients who succumb to the fever in connection with investigations which are under progress under the leadership of Prof. Poehler and Dr. Archinard to discover the germ of yellow fever. Two post-mortems have been held during the week.

The average of new cases continues a little higher than was expected, but it was not causing any alarm, as there was ample warning that September could be looked for to intiate the list a little.

The deaths are still low, indicating a death rate for last month of much less than 10 per cent.

Although two new points of infection were reported today outside of the city, one at Le Compté in Rapides parish, and the other at Berwick, across the bay from Morgan City, in St. Mary parish.

Dr. Chassignaigne reports from Tallulah that out of forty-two blocks thirty-six are infected, but the people have manifested new hope and have gone to work with a will.

Other reported country cases are: Patterson 16, Kenner 1, Alexandria 1, St. Rose 1, Lafayette 1, Barre 1, Barre 1, St. Elizabeth 1.

Public is Disappointed. While the fact that there was again today a large number of new cases of yellow fever did not give the authorities serious concern, the reason for the sudden jump in the number of cases in the past few days has been the cause of much speculation and considerable disappointment by the public.

The death of Sister Mary of St. Cella at the Mount Carmel asylum today calls attention to the fact that the Catholic church has suffered quite severely during the fever period.

Sister Mary was the second religious to die and besides them the church has sustained the loss of its archbishop and Father Green, one of its ablest priests here.

The appearance of yellow fever at Hamburg, on the Mississippi Valley railroad, threatens to tie up more country along that route. Baton Rouge, Hamburg and Vicksburg are all three on the line and are all now infected.

Insurrection in Mississippi. JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 12.—Mississippi yellow fever summary for the last twenty-four hours is as follows: Native, two new cases, one new foci. Imported, one new case, one new foci. Hamburg, four cases.

CHARLES D. THOMPSON DEAD

Well Known Advertising Man Found Lifeless in Bed by House-keeper.

Charles D. Thompson, well known as a newspaper advertising agent and editor of the Western Advertiser, was found dead in bed Wednesday morning when Mrs. Poesel, housekeeper at the Thompson residence, 2533 Harney street, tried to awaken Mr. Thompson at the usual hour.

Dr. J. H. Peabody was summoned and he pronounced the cause of death heart trouble, for which affliction it is known Mr. Thompson received recent treatment.

It is stated that Mr. Thompson retired Tuesday night at the usual hour. Dr. J. H. Peabody was in the best of spirits and gave no indications of illness.

He is survived by a wife, who is now at the St. Bernard hospital in Council Bluffs. The devotion between husband and wife was of the strongest character, so much so that friends spoke of the kindly attentions shown by Mr. Thompson toward his afflicted wife, whose loss of reason recently had been the source of much grief to him.

COUNCILMEN ARE IN COURT

Claim, Through Attorney, Ordinance Did Not Pass and They Are Guiltless.

DENY CHARGE OF CONTEMPT OF COURT

Judge Sutton Refuses to Grant Council's Motion for Change of Venue—State Rests Its Case.

"The Bible says there is no God," exclaimed Attorney W. J. Connell in Judge Sutton's court Wednesday morning.

Mr. Connell was quoting scripture, as Judge Slaughter said, for his own purpose, and at that particular time Mr. Connell's purpose was to show, by City Clerk Elbourn, that the gas ordinance, so-called, had not been passed.

In answer to questions, contradicting the record apparently, Mr. Elbourn said the ordinance had never been read a third time in any way. The question on its passage, he said, had been put by Mr. Huntington from the floor and the councilman from the Ninth ward had declared it carried.

Reads Mayor's Message. In this connection Mr. Connell read the message of Mayor Moore returning the ordinance "to the clerk's desk" for such action as might be necessary.

This was all following the refusal of Judge Sutton to allow a change of venue to another court. He held that the court which issued the order alleged to have been violated was the only competent authority to try the issue and overruled the motion for a change of venue without hesitation.

When court adjourned at 12:15 until 2 o'clock the decks had been cleared for action, the defendants were in court, and the meat of the whole controversy was before the court.

Beyond the fact of overruling the motion for a change of venue, little or nothing was done Wednesday morning. There was a lot of legal sparring, but as the defendant councilmen, through their counsel, admitted the allegations that cleared up the preliminaries, the case has really got well along, as law cases go.

State All In. With the admission of the record proceedings by the defense County Attorney Slaughter announced that the state rested and Mr. Connell's questions to City Clerk Elbourn all went to the legality, or rather the regularity, of the action of the council on the ordinance.

In brief, the defense is that the ordinance was never properly passed, and that therefore the votes of the five councilmen in its favor did not constitute a contempt of court. The state holds that they did everything they could do to pass the ordinance, legally or otherwise.

Beyond the denial of the passage of the ordinance Mr. Connell's special plea is that the court had no authority, no right, and no jurisdiction to issue the restraining order which is alleged to have been violated.

The five councilmen, Back, Dyball, Evans, Huntington and Schroeder, sit "within the bar," as the term goes, seemingly unworried, but alert to every move made by Judge Slaughter and Messrs. Weaver and Giller, who are assisting the state, with Assistant County Attorney Foster.

When it stopped raining Alderman Huntington was careful to turn down his pants bottoms, while Alderman Dyball brushed his glasses and gave a new kick to his luxuriant hair covering. Pete Schroeder bit a big cigar in two when he wanted to chew on something, and the noise made Evans hit around so he could see the play of sentiment and humor on the Milwaukee face of Attorney Connell, which was really a treat at times.

Argument still unfinished. All of the afternoon session was taken up with argument by the attorneys, who had gotten an audience, although the personnel of the listeners was changing continually. County Attorney Slaughter led off for the prosecution and was followed by Mr. Giller, who devoted his attention largely to authorities which he held were in point. Mr. Connell followed for the defense. He took the position that defendants had two good grounds for their action in disregarding the mandate of the court. One he held to be that the court had no authority to issue the restraining order in the first place, being without right or authority to do so under the circumstances existing. The other ground of defense was that the councilmen had not passed the ordinance and therefore could not be guilty of contempt.

He dwelt on these two propositions at great length, quoting from numerous decisions of the state supreme court and reading some of the prosecution's with an entirely different meaning from that given them by Attorneys Slaughter and Giller. He was still on the floor when court adjourned at 5 o'clock.

Judge Sutton, on request of the county attorney and Mr. Connell, adjourned the hearing until Friday morning because of the republican state convention to be held today at Lincoln, which everybody was apparently anxious to attend.

GOOD HOME FOR THE CHILDREN Superintendent Clark Succeeds in Most Happily Locating Three Little Waifs.

Some time ago The Bee published an account of how Superintendent Clark of the Child Saving Institute had come into control of a family of three children, a boy and a sister, unusually bright children, for whom he sought proper homes. It was then desired that the children be located in such a way that they would not be widely scattered, but might grow up without being entirely broken up as brothers and sister. This especially applied to the two youngest, a boy of 7 and a girl of 2 years. Much attention was attracted to the children through the publicity given in The Bee, and many persons interested themselves in the fate of the little folks.

Many offers of homes were made, but none were exactly satisfactory until this week, when Mr. Clark has succeeded in locating the two youngest in a splendid home in a Nebraska town not far from Omaha. Husband and wife are among the town's most prosperous and respected citizens, but find their home lonely after fifteen years of childless wedded life, and have taken the two children into their hearts as well as their home. The second youngest boy has also been given a home with a substantial business man, who has promised to rear him as his own son, and who had means to give him every advantage of education and training. The oldest boy is still at the institute, but good response and investigation is under way that promises to land him, too, in a good home before very long.

Speaking of the case yesterday, Mr. Clark said it was a most gratifying outcome to a situation strangely pathetic. He was particularly well pleased that the two little folks had fallen into such good hands, and said that the prospects for the second boy are also very bright. If the older goes where he expects to the four will all be most happily located.
