

SOCIETY GREET'S SEPTEMBER

First of Fall Months Brings Damp Days to Omaha's Social Folks.

OUTDOOR MESS DOES NOT SPOIL THE FUN

Golf Holds the Lead and the Club Houses are Bright and Pleasant, No Matter How Hard Rain Falls.

Love's Laughs. Love laughs at lockups as of yore, Love laughs at rain and caste, And at the knot the preacher ties To make so firm and fast.

Love laughs at old restrictions and Love gladly smiles because In spite of all the talk there still Are South Dakota laws.

Love laughs at locks, love laughs at bars, Love laughs at green and apple, Love laughs because the justice hears When people knock at night.

But most of all love gaily laughs Because if now and then He chance to be mistaken, He can try and try again.

Just returning, laden with suit case and golf bag. When one stops to reflect how many people have summered out of town this year he can't help wondering how things managed to jog along so comfortably as they have, for after all, things have not been half bad this summer.

The weather went just as far as weather can toward making a mess of the week. HORSE SHOW COLORS ABROAD

Decorations of California Red and Arctic White Are Generally Displayed.

PLANS PROGRESSING IN GOOD SHAPE

Box Prizes Are Announced Starting with One Hundred Dollars—Sam C. Haller Will Be on Hand.

Windows are being decorated with the Omaha Horse Show colors, in preparation of the big autumnal show which is to take place at the Auditorium for the week beginning October 8. The management has offered valuable prizes for decorations and illuminations. Prizes will be given to the best decorated windows and buildings in Omaha, using horse show colors—California red and Arctic white—with horse show posters. The time for installation will be at least five days before the opening of the show and the prizes will be decided at 5 p. m. on the opening day of the show by an unannounced committee. The prizes are: First Prize—One box holding eight people; price, $100.

Second Prize—One box holding six people; price, $75. Third Prize—One box holding four people; price, $50. Fourth Prize—Two season tickets; price, $25. Fifth Prize—One season ticket.

A season ticket to the trimmer who decorates the first prize winner. Sam C. Haller, the well known amusement and business manager, has been engaged as assistant manager to Dr. Gray, and will arrive today and enter upon his work Monday. Owing to the increase of interest and entries in the horse show the directors found themselves being swamped with many matters which needed attention and Mr. Haller, having been connected with the horse show at the Coliseum in Chicago and being a man of valuable experience, was engaged to help out as assistant manager.

Dr. Gray will go to St. Louis this afternoon to look after entries and on his return will make other trips to other cities to work up interest in entries and attendance. All avenues are now open to the consumption of a successful horse show and nothing will be left undone by the directors in the carrying out of the elaborate ideas which they have worked out for this fall.

More real interest in the horse show is being displayed this fall, and this may be accounted for from the fact that last fall was largely an experiment and the people of Omaha and Council Bluffs had to be educated. Council Bluffs is horse mad and the dressmakers and milliners of the Iowa city are busy. The headquarters of the Omaha show are constantly being besieged for ideas and data for this year's show, whereas there were no inquiries at all for the show last fall. Lincoln and Fremont are wheeling into line and faraway Denver will be having its entries and visitors. Entries already are coming in from neighboring towns, showing the intense interest of this whole section of the country.

Crow and Murray, the noted horsemen of Toronto will be on hand with their stable, Eversome remembers the business Murray, who made so much of the fun at the last horse show and who is recognized as one of the best whips in America. The M. E. Tichenor & Co. stable of Chicago also will be on hand with a full stable of fine steeds. This firm has a world-wide reputation and seems to have a special facility of catering to the kings and queens and royal families of Europe. They have supplied many of the horses which have made the old City of Mexico the envy of the world. They, with Hal McCord, will set a pace at this horse show which will hold its own to equal outside of Madison Square. The same horses will be shown at the Omaha show by these people as they show at the Madison Square show in November.

Worst Difficulty Removed. The greatest difficulty which confronted the directors has been removed. That was the limited time for the construction of the arena. According to the schedule there was to be a band concert at the Auditorium just four days before the opening day of the horse show. This made the time very limited for hauling in 800 loads of dirt besides all of the other work which must be done. According to the kindness of the directors of the Auditorium, however, this difficulty in construction has been removed and the horse show ring and track will be built at once to permit the practice by local owners.

When the concert are given a white duck canvas will be placed over the clay and chairs put on the canvas. This will be satisfactory to the Auditorium management and will make no chance of delay with the construction of the arena. With but one entrance there was danger of an accident or delay.

Stalls will be constructed this week for the foreign entries and a large number of additional lights installed. The directors are delighted with the merchants who are already decorating with the horse show colors, as it shows a kindly feeling in the show to decorate so far in advance. No prettier colors could be used for the Ak-Bar-Ben decorations than the California red and the Arctic white.

Citizens of Omaha may not realize the fact, but last year's horse show set a pace for the rest of the country which is hard to follow outside of Madison Square. In fact, the Omaha horse show set a pace which is hard for itself to follow, but from all indications the show this year will be an improvement over that of last fall. There will be more entries from abroad and more local entries. New classes have been added which will give an increased interest and everything points to a successful show.

Mr. Joseph seems to be coming up in a body and the Commercial club, of that city is interesting itself in the matter of securing rates for St. Joseph night at the horse show.

For the Little Ones

To Keep Their Digestion Perfect Nothing is so Safe and Pleasant as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets

Thousands of men and women have found Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets the safest and most reliable preparation for any form of indigestion or stomach trouble.

Thousands of people who are not sick, but are well and wish to keep well, insure perfect digestion and avoid trouble.

But it is not generally known that the Tablets are just as good and wholesome for little folks as for their elders.

Little children who are pale, thin and have no appetite, or do not grow or thrive, should use the Tablets after eating and will derive great benefit from them.

Mrs. G. A. Crotsley, 635 Washington St., Hoboken, New Jersey, writes: "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets just fill the bill for children as well as for older folks. I've had the best of luck with them. My three-year-old girl takes them as readily as candy. I have only to say 'Tablets' and she drops everything else and runs for them."

was recommended to me for my two-months-old baby, which was sick and puny and the doctor said was suffering from indigestion. I took the child to the hospital, but there found no relief. A friend mentioned the Stuart Tablets and I procured a box from my druggist and used only the large sweet lozenges in the box and was delighted to find they were just the thing for my baby. I feel justified in saying that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets saved my child's life.

Mrs. W. T. DETLOPE. Subscribed and sworn to before me this 15th day of April, 1907.

HENRY KARR, Notary Public in and for Erie Co., N. Y.

For babies, no matter how young or delicate, the tablets will accomplish wonders in increasing flesh, appetite and growth. Use only the large sweet tablets in every box. Full-sized boxes are sold by druggists for
