CATHERS SHIRKS CITY TAX

Civil Reformer Refuses to Meet Just Obligations Without Compulsion.

HENNINGSS BRINGS HIM TO TIME AT LAST

Determined that Man Who Howls "Graft" Shall Pay Personal Taxes Due for Last Sixteen Years.

"Grafting at the city hall must stop," proclaims John T. Catthers, reformer.

"Tax shirking of property owners in Omaha must stop," declares August H. Hennings, city treasurer.

It was feared that the great wave of civic reform set in motion by John T. Catthers—who failed to get nominated for state senator a year ago and likewise failed to secure from the city payment for claims he makes to certain city streets he has fenced in—had received a fatal shock through the determination of Mr. Hennings to collect taxes due, without respect to persons, but later Catthers, under pressure of law, paid up.

Reformer Catthers, Mr. Hennings found, owed personal taxes for the period of sixteen long years and in order to make him pay them the tax authorities planned to levy on his law library. The reformer refused to pay them without being forced.

Despite all his fame as a reformer Mr. Catthers appeared to have a nervous air during his several trips to the city hall and court house Monday morning. He inquired anxiously for City Treasurer Hennings, and in response to a jocular remark from an old political friend murmured something that included the internal regions as the scenario of whatever it was that passed in Mr. Catthers' mind.

Such extraordinary action on the part of the dignified "reformer," or watchdog of the city treasury, suggested an inquiry into the cause of Mr. Catthers' perturbation.

Cather's Files into Fury. Early in the morning Collectors Anderson and Schamel of the city treasurer's office called upon Mr. Catthers in his office in the New York Life building and left with him a document known as a "distress warrant," served on persons who will not pay their share of public burdens without being made to do so.

Briefly it commanded Mr. Catthers at once to pay $132, due in personal taxes to the city treasurer, or suffer the departure of such law office books and furniture and household goods as were thought sufficient to cover the debt. With visions of the city treasurer's famous van before his eyes, Mr. Catthers grew pale. The two collectors, one of whom at various intervals had tried to induce Mr. Catthers to pay something on his bill, were frightened.

POLICE FUND STILL SHORT

Advertised Relief for Depleted Exchequer Fails to Materialize.

CUT IN FORCE WILL BE POSTPONED

Board Will Maintain Strength Until After Horse Show and Then Reduce by Nearly Half Unless Money is Found.

The touted public-spirited intervention of the Commercial club in the police fund shortage did not manifest itself at the Fire and Police board meeting last night. Nothing was heard from the club or any citizens about contributing to take up the deficit. Up-to-date the only positive offer of assistance that has been made is that of Count Creighton who called up the chief of police on the telephone and said he wanted to give $500.

"We have agreed," said Commissioner Spratten, "that it is better to keep the whole force during the Ak-Sar-Ben and horse show, when the town is likely to attract criminals. It is better to have the whole force until October 15 than to let twenty-five men go now. After October 15, we will have to let off about thirty-five men unless assistance comes to the fund."

City Attorney to Help. City Attorney Breen was present to talk finances. He said if the mayor vetoed the asphalt repair appropriation as announced there will be left about $10,000 in the general fund. To get hold of part of this for the police department, Mr. Breen promised to try to scheme a scheme so that the law will not be violated. It seems that the commissioners have been paying for the repair of the police station and for other sundry expenses out of the police fund. It may be that this is all wrong and the city should have stood the cost out of its general fund. If the latter be true perhaps the amounts can be charged back and the police fund "reimbursed," like the fire fund was.

Some Routine Matters. On the recommendation of Chief Donahue, a ten day's vacation with pay was given to Police Matron Etta Anderson, who will resign September 20, to marry Sergeant Bentrow. During two years excellent service Miss Anderson has not taken her annual day's leave.

Fire Chief Salter ruled against allowing the fire department or any part of it to form a feature of the Ak-Sar-Ben daylight parade and the commissioners backed him up.

Patrolman J. J. Nielsen was fined two day's pay for drinking when off duty slightly too much beer for an empty stomach.

Fireman Bradford was fined four day's pay and Fireman Cousenman two day's, for indulging in a little scrap in quarters. Annual leaves of absence were granted to Patrolmen P. J. Rinn and S. D. Reigelman and to Fireman Michael Dravener, Brady T. Cowger, Thomas Gray and Andrew J. Clark.

NEW HOME FOR ALL SAINTS

Another Building Thought to Be Better Than Remodeling Old Structure.

RECTOR AND OTHERS FAVOR THE PLAN

Church is Seriously Twisted by the Wind, Which Also Damages the Pipe Organ.

"In my judgment the best thing for the congregation to do is to build a new church, even if it has to go in debt for it." These were the words of Rev. T. J. Mackay upon his return from his vacation, which has been spent in New York, upon viewing the wreck of All Saints Episcopal church, which the wind and storm twisted in such bad shape Friday night.

It is impossible to make a slightly structure of the wrecked church, although the builders and architects say it can be repaired. In the meanwhile the congregation must look for suitable quarters for services next Sunday.

All Saints parish has erected a rectory during the last year at a cost of $15,000 and the church was being moved from the corner to make room for a $15,000 parish house, which is to be the personal gift of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Wattles. The church was blown around four feet and is a serious wreck. The pipe organ is torn to pieces and every wall is twisted until it looks utterly unsafe. The plan was to build a fifteen-foot addition on the front of the church, which could be used as an entrance to the parish house as well. The parish house will occupy the corner block with Twenty-sixth street and will be 6x25 feet, leaving a small lawn on the Dewey avenue side.

Captain H. E. Palmer has sent for the insurance adjuster, $5,000 insurance against the church being destroyed by the wind. It is argued that this $5,000 would make a good start on the new church, whereas it will cost nearly $15,000 to rebuild the old structure. A heating plant will have to be put in the old church and electric lights installed, all of which represents an added expense.

MORE BOYS UNDER AGE WORK

Children in Big Demand and Many Are Out of School This Year.

Activity in all lines of business is demanding the employment of children under 15 years to a greater extent than ever before in Omaha, according to Truant Officer Parker, and his work is made so much the harder for that reason. He has found many boys at work who should be in school, but about 175 children remain unaccounted for. He is rounding them up as rapidly as possible and placing them in either public or parochial schools. The Young Men's Christian association night school will open tonight with twice the enrollment ever recorded before. It is made up largely of boys who have to work during the day, owing to the financial condition of their families. In such case the truant officer is satisfied if they attend night school.
