Talks to Students on the "Frat Fever" and Class Scrimmages,

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Oct. 2 .- (Special.) - Today when the State Board of Purchase and Supplies met for the purpose of letting quarterly contracts, it voted to order the land commissioner to open the pro-posals hereafter in advance of the meetng. This has been the practice in the past, prominently before the public. but because of criticism leveled at his office, Eaton left them unopened for the present meeting with the result that several additional days will have to be spent by the board in the work of letting these contracts, because it will be necessary to tabulate the bids. Eaton had announced that he would no longer open the bids, but he stated this after the vote was taken that he would obey the orders of the board and would use his office staff in making the tabulations. Several members of his office staff were sent to the senate chamber, where the board is in session, to perform the necessary clerical duties.

The criticism to which Eaton referred was given publicity in connection with a story that the bids for cost had been opened prematurely. The argument which has been advanced against the opening of opening in the advertisements is the possibility that the late bidders may, through some leak, obtain information as to the was away from the city at the time. offers of their rivals, which will enable them to secure the contracts.

Town Marshal J. A.
