

Made in the Golden Sunlight

It is conceded by the highest authorities that the soda cracker contains the life-giving elements of wheat in the best proportions.

This being so, then Uneda Biscuit must at once take first place as the food of the world—a soda cracker, but such a soda cracker! Made by exact science in sunny bakeries so light, bright and clean, that they are a revelation. The flour is tested; the purity of the water is absolutely assured; the very air is filtered—why even the temperature and moisture of the atmosphere is accurately regulated. The sponge is kneaded by polished paddles, not by hand. Indeed, Uneda Biscuit are only touched once, and then by a pretty girl, from the time the flour leaves the bag until the beautiful package is placed on your table.

BENEFITS OF SMALL COLLEGE

Advantages Available There Not Possible in Large Ones, Says Dr. Wadsworth.

BELLEVUE CITED AS AN EXAMPLE

Address Delivered by New President of This Institution Before the Omaha Presbyterian Ministers' Association.

Rev. Guy W. Wadsworth, D. D., president of Bellevue college, addressed the Omaha Presbyterian Ministers' association Monday morning, at the regular meeting held in the parlors of the First Presbyterian church. Dr. Wadsworth was requested to meet with the Presbyterian ministers of Omaha and South Omaha and speak of the work with which he is now and has for years been identified. The speaker's particular line of thought was to bring out the benefits of an education received in a good small college, such as Bellevue.

The small college has its particular place to fill in the world of education, said President Wadsworth. "The well-conducted small colleges generally have better instructors than the tutors in the undergraduate departments of the large universities and the young man who takes a course in one of the small colleges should be well equipped to make a good scholar in the large university. There is personal touch between teacher and student in the small college that is not obtainable in the university undergraduate department, where the lecture method of instruction prevails. The average instruction given in the small college equals, in every respect, that offered in the lower department of the universities."

Speaking of Bellevue college, Dr. Wadsworth said the institution had one of the best libraries he has seen in a college and that the general equipment is of a high order. He spoke the earnest support of the Presbyterian people of this synod for the college.

The speaker also emphasized the importance of a Christian education, saying that while education gives power a Christian education gives power for much good in the world.

Tuesday evening at Bellevue college, Dr. Wadsworth and wife will give an informal house warming for the Presbyterian clergy and friends, the occasion also being Mr. and Mrs. Wadsworth's twentieth wedding anniversary.

Baptists Listen to Chivers.
The Baptist ministers of the city met Monday morning in the parlors of the Young Men's Christian association building and listened to Rev. E. E. Chivers, field secretary of the American Baptist Home Mission society in connection with his contemplated campaign in the west this fall. It is expected Rev. Mr. Chivers will speak in Omaha in November.

Brings Bride to Omaha.
C. E. Eisman and wife are at the Merchants. They came from Hastings and were married at Lincoln yesterday. Mr. Eisman is assistant general foreman of the Bell Telephone company. He is engaged at present laying fifteen miles of telephone cable in and about Hastings. He says, "There are now 1,000 telephones in use in the town and there has been an increase of eight per cent during this summer. In the rural districts about the majority of the farmers have telephones. It is such fact that has required the laying of so much cable."

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Verda Beck has been granted a divorce from Harry B. Beck and the custody of their infant child.

Albert Bronckhoecker pleaded guilty before Judge Day Monday afternoon to keeping a gambling device, better known as a slot machine, and was fined $50 and costs, which he paid.

The Omaha Electric Light and Power company has brought suit in the United States circuit court against the Maryland Casualty company of Baltimore for a balance of $4,410 and interest from July 2, 1904, claimed to be due from the accidental death of one James R. Dent, an employee of the plaintiff. The defendants file a counter motion asking that the petition be made more specific. The case is transferred from the district court of Douglas county.

OMAHA MEN AND THEIR HOBBIES

While I have no doubt but that equity may be secured by the making good of a treasury fund depleted by the wrongful appropriations of city officers, I think it should not be done unless the wrong is one against the public duty as well as against the letter of duty.
Here if the list of employees had been sent to the Board of Public Works on the second day of April and approved, and the same rate of compensation had been allowed them, the same services would have been performed and the same amount would have been paid. Mandamus would have been granted and the line of duty would have been the charter provisions, if not otherwise provided.
On the whole I cannot see that absence of good faith or injury to the city that will admit the equitable order prayed for by the plaintiff. I think it should not be done unless the wrong is one against the public duty as well as against the letter of duty.

CATHERS LOSES HIS CASE

John T. Catthers, the self-appointed watchdog of the city treasury, has lost out in his efforts to compel Mayor Moores and the members of the city council to refund to the city some $15,000 which they had ordered paid to a number of employees of the city in April and May of 1903. Catthers claimed that the list of employees had not been selected by the Board of Public Works, defunct, as specified in the city ordinance, and that they were employed merely for political purposes.

JUDGE SEARS HANDS DOWN OPINION

Self-Proclaimed Reformer Will Appeal Suit Against Payment of Money for City Laborers Last Year.

In his opinion in the case, which was handed down Monday morning, Judge Sears of the district court said Catthers had failed to prove mercenary or corrupt motives for the employment of the men. He held also that the charter was violated by the manner in which the employees were selected, but, as the city had secured the services of the men and their services were necessary, he dismissed the relief prayed for by Catthers at the cost of the plaintiff. It is understood the case will be appealed.

Text of the Opinion.

The opinion of Judge Sears in full follows:
That the laborers whose employment is complained of by the plaintiff were employed or rather worked during the months of April and May, 1903, by the city engineer for the same purpose as they had been employed and worked prior to the enactment of the charter provisions on which relief is sought, and without due regard to the said charter requirements.

It is the opinion of the court that the laborers in question never were legally in the employment of the city, and that their employment in their several capacities as had, was contrary to the mandatory provisions of the charter. The plaintiff's claim that employees are contracted with according to the charter provisions, and that therefore there shall be no employment, and there shall be no compensation to unauthorized employees, even for work performed, is not supported by the facts. The plaintiff's claim that the laborers were employed as compared with the ordinary status of laborers in the usual and ordinary status of laborers in the city is not supported by the facts. That these services rendered were necessary to the city, and to the health, convenience and safety of the city, is a question that had not been presented. After the allowance of the bills, it is the opinion of the court that the plaintiff is entitled to the amount of the bills for the work done, but not for the amount of the bills for the work not done.

DIFFERENT IN PARIS.
"In Paris everything is entirely different from any other city. The traveler sees nothing of traffic and business, it is all pleasure, life seems to be given up to drinking, eating, and the streets are empty and placid, and the people are in a world where business and care have no place. It seems to give a touch of eternal youth."
"While the results seemed to be generally satisfactory the process by which they are worked out seem confused and chaotic and you are led to wonder how they accomplish anything, for there is no apparent system."
"There was considerable interest in the peace negotiations which were carried on at Portsmouth, and judging from comments and from the press President Roosevelt seemed to be considered quite an important factor in the situation and received a great deal of commendation and whatever one may think of the facts the impression generally is that President Roosevelt has grown abroad."

CITY OFFICERS ARE GRATIFIED
Express Pleasure at Outcome of the Case.
Councilmen and other city officers concerned in the Catthers suit to collect $15,000 on their bonds were feeling highly pleased Monday morning over the news that Judge Sears had decided the case in their favor. Officers who happen to be business men, needing money in their operations, were the most elated, as they have had work effecting loans since the suit was begun. They profess to regard the appeal to the supreme court with little apprehension.
Councilman Zimmerman tried to collect a $5 bet from Catthers on the strength of a wager regarding the outcome of the suit. Catthers would not pay the bet on the theory that he would not lose until the supreme court had passed on the decision. Zimmerman contends the bet had to do with Judge Sears' decision and only went that far. He did not get his bet, however.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Never Disappointed.

Twenty years ago Mr. Geo. W. Brock discovered that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was a quick and safe cure for bowel complaints. "During all of these years," he says, "I have used it and recommended it many times and the results have never yet disappointed me." Mr. Brock is publisher of the Aberdeen, Md., Enterprise. This is the universal experience of all who rely upon this remedy. It can always be depended upon, even in the most severe and dangerous cases. It is equally valuable for the children and adults. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take.

LONDON VERSUS GAY PARIS

Charles J. Greene Compares Two Great Centers of Europe.

DRINKING MOST RAMPANT IN FORMER

Epicurus Reigns Supreme in the French Capital—Chamberlain Is Not Gaining Ground in England, He Says.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Greene have returned from a summer spent in Europe, principally in England and France.

"While in Oxford I visited with Robert P. Porter, now one of the editors of the London Times, an expert on the tariff question from his training received in the United States," said Mr. Greene. "He established the census bureau of the United States under President McKinley and fixed the tariff bill for Porto Rico and other provinces after the Spanish-American war. I talked with him about the Chamberlain propaganda and he said it was doubtful if a tariff would be applicable to present English conditions. Chamberlain is not making much headway. "Rural England is the most perfect spot on earth and all of the people seemed to be doing well. King Edward is recognized as a most popular and tactful ruler."

"London is a great overwhelming, mysterious affair, where you may come in contact with almost any phase of life. What struck me the most forcibly was the drinking problem. Never have I been anywhere where it was so open and obvious in the most brutal sort of a way. Often in the working class districts there were more women in front of the bars than men. The wealthier people of course patronize the cafes, but the working people visit the saloons and I have seen whole families lined in front of the bars, even baby carriages and children in arms. There probably is no place where authority is respected more and where the laws are obeyed better and it is the only place where the government could deal with people under such social conditions."

A $10,000 brick flat at Twenty-sixth and Harney streets is being built by Hastings & Hayden for B. D. Sherbondy, a clerk in the railway mail service. The demand for flats of four and five rooms is shown by the fact that the whole building has been rented before the foundation is finished.

AT THE PLAY HOUSES.

Hands Rossa at the Auditorium.

Sorrentino and his Bandita Rossa reached here so late Monday afternoon, on account of a wreck, that they were unable to prepare the stage by evening for Perosi's "Resurrection of Christ." Those who went to hear the much-talked-of "Resurrection" had to console themselves with the thought that they had heard a program of good music, anyway. The audience in general was of the opinion that it would be worth going to see tonight or tomorrow night, for they had the opportunity of hearing Mme. Gina Chaparelli and M. Albert Quenel, who sing in the oratorio. Mme. Chaparelli has a singularly clear soprano voice, which, with her beauty of face and figure, won her many admirers last night. M. Quenel has a tenor voice of much power. They sang last night the "Miserere" from "St. Trovatore."

Beside the duet perhaps the most applauded number on the program was a trumpet solo by Signor Bottega, Gounod's "Ave Maria." He responded to an encore with the intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana." Among the other numbers were selections from "I Pagliacci," Mendelssohn's "Spring Song" and Padrevski's "Minuet." Sorrentino's "Great Western March" proved a popular piece. The second part of the program was devoted to popular music.

The band arrived here in the afternoon to give the advertised program. It was almost entirely popular music, there being but one or two selections from the old opera. "The Resurrection of Christ," however, an elaborate scenic production as well as a sublime oratorio, will be given tonight and Wednesday night. Following is the program for today:

FUR NECKWEAR AND MUFFS

DUMAS FILS has a man in one of his plays say, "All women look well in furs." He may have meant any sort of furs, but when the man says it in the play he slips on the woman's shoulders a piece of fur neckwear something of the style of the Gordon & Ferguson scarf shown in this picture.

Gordon Furs are made into neckwear and muffs in many styles and sizes. In many sorts of furs. Most women have a decided idea of their own as to the fur best suited to their style.
