Born, to Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Ferguson, a daughter.

A negro named Johnson, who until recently acted as porter at the Dodge Light Guards armory, was taken into custody last night by the police and will be held pending investigation. Johnson is alleged to have followed a young white woman into a vacant house on Ninth avenue near seventh street which was for rent and which she was looking at Friday morning, and to have grossly insulted her. The young woman managed to make her escape from the house before the negro succeeded in laying his hands on her.

C. E. Gosling, a hosiery manufacturer of Leicester, England, has written Chief of Police Richmond making inquiries about his brother, Ernest Gosling, who died in Mercy hospital September 20 and three days later was buried in Walnut Hill cemetery. Mr. Gosling writes that judging from letters received by him from his brother the latter left a considerable estate. He says that his brother's letters contained mention of notes and mortgages, deposits in several banks and other property. Robert Hain was appointed administrator of the dead man's estate and the matter has been referred to him by Chief Richmond. Ernest Gosling was unmarried and had but few acquaintances here. He was a gardener on East Pierce street.

TAKING A RELIGIOUS CENSUS Sunday School Workers' Association

May Undertake It. The question of making a religious census of Council Bluffs will be discussed at the annual banquet of the Sunday School NEW HOTEL ON WEST BROADWAY Workers' union, to be held Thursday even ing next in the parlors of the First Congregational church. The proposition is to make a house to house canvass when the census takers will ask the following questhe plaintiffs in the injunction suit to restrain the supervisors of Harrison and Pottawattamie counties from entering into the contracts awarded the Western Dredging ompany and Pollard, Goff & Co. for the construction of the drainage ditches, were yesterday given further time in which to secure a supersedeas from the supremacourt. On behalf of the plaintiffs a showing was made that George S. Wright, their local attorney, had been engaged in another case all week in Sloux City and Judge Macy extended the temporary restraining order until 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. The restraining order would have expired at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning and there would have been nothing to prevent the two boards from completing the contracts. The suit of Herman Grote against the Citizens Gas and Electric company for $2,000 damages for personal injuries was taken from the fury vesterday at the close of the plaintiff's evidence and a verdict directed for the defendant company. Grote, who was an employe of the defendant company, slipped and fell from a plank while working at one of the purifiers. He alleges that the construction of the platform was defective.

J. E. Brookhouser has prought suit for divorce from Grace Brookhouser, to whom he was married February 27, 1895, in Loveland, Ia. He makes statutory charges and asks the custody of their two minor children.

Mathew Baker, Elija Baker and Eunice lmmons have begun suit against Uriah McMacken, claiming half of his property, both personal and real. The plaintiffs are the brothers and sister of Mahala Mc-Macken, who was first married to George McMacken, a brother of Uriah McMacken, the defendant. They claim that as their sister died without issue they were entitled to half of her property. The value of the real estate is placed at $8,060 and the personal property at $1,000. They also ask for accounting of the rents received by the defendant. Uriah McMacken is a well known citizen of Council Bluffs.

Many of us have been prone to look upon it as the Africa of Livingstone, of Paul Du Chaillu and of Stanley. Few of us realize the strides it has made in the past decade. In the place of unbroken jungles filled with wild beasts and wilder men great cities have arisen. Tall buildings and broad streets noisy with the hum of trade mark the spots once deemed inaccessible to the white man. Cape Town, the capital of Cape Colony ceded to the British by the Dutch in 1815 was then an unimportant village, dotting the outskirts of warlike tribes of natives Today it is bustling with all the life of civilization and commerce, and its population of 100,000 is rapidly increasing. Johannesburg, farther in toward the interior with a population of between 30,000 and 40,600, is another city of the once "Dark Continent" that is opening the way to the mexplored regions now made possible t the march of progress by the aggressive actions of Cecil Rhodes. And still further nroads will be made into this wonderful ountry by the building of railways of which the Cape to Cairo project is the pioneer. With the railroad-the greatest f all civilizers-will come the conquest of the entire continent of Africa; so the action at Victoria Falls the other day may be noted as the beginning of a new era in a 3.00 feet, running parallel to the coast line,

On the other hand, there are immense openings for trade in British East Africa, especially in iron, copper and brass ware, building material, coal, agricultural implements and numerous other articles. The country is capable of great possibilities. Large forests of timber grow for hundreds of miles along the banks of the River Juba, and in these forests may be found oak, walnut, ebony, mahogany and iron redwood. At present there are more than 30,000 camels employed in transporting immense mantitles of merchandise from the coast towns to the interior.
