THE OMAHA DAILY BEE: WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1905.

philosophy of the book is powerful and the humor rich and original. It is a story with good red blood in it and will satisfy the reader. Published by the Lothrop Publishing company.

Frances Aymar Mathews, author of "My Lady Peggy Goes To Town," has written a sprightly and most entertaining story in "The Marquise's Millions." It tells of an American girl and her French filance and the curious intrigue by which they seek to gain possession of the millions belonging to her rich aunts. The money would come to the girl, as sole heir were it not for the fanatical loyalty of the two old ladies to the royal house of Louis and their determination to leave all their wealth to the "Ninetcenth Louis," whom they are confidently expecting. The plot is sparkling and decidedly original, and the situations are well developed, with many touches of humor. Published by Funk & Wagnalls.

the fashion and advertising sections, the November Delineator presents a most attractive appearance. The Autumn fashions have a large place in the number, being illustrated and described in detail and interpreted by such authorities of areas as Helen Berkeley-Loyd and Edouard La Fontaine.

many features of interest, an article, the second of two, by Dr. William H. Maxwell, superintendent of schools, New York City, on "Education for Life through Liv-Ing. schools of today are doing what they can to enable the children to become better home-makers and greater home-lovers, to be stronger in body and more ready in application of mind, to problems both of themselves new aptitudes and gain new modes of self-expression without which, for want of verbal skill, they would be forever dumb." Just what methods they use are set forth with a great deal of interest in this article.
